RESTORATION OF PEACE OR ARMED INTERVENTION

United States Issues Ultimatum to Haiti and San Domingo—Warring Factions Continue Fighting—Many Killed

WASHINGTON, July 23.—Possibility of American intervention in Haiti and San Domingo to restore peace continued today to be the topic of discussion in administration circles. Late official dispatches regarding the situation in the revolutionary torn republics gave but little hope that the contending elements in the two countries would be able to restore order.

Under European pressure the American government's patience practically has been exhausted with the various elements in Haiti and San Domingo, and it will demand a restoration of peace or threaten armed intervention. The gravity of the situation was increased by the refusal of the warring factions to cease fighting, despite the American government's warnings and failure to settle the Dominican revolution by diplomacy.

The question of a possible movement of marines into Haiti was up for discussion at today's conference between Secretaries Bryan and Daniels. With the 400 marines who are to sail from Norfolk, Va., for Guantanamo on Saturday the number of marines now there or on American warships in Haiti and Dominican waters would be increased to more than 200. If necessary, reinforcements would be drawn from the nearly 400 marines now in Vera Cruz and Mexican waters.

Captain Eberle of the cruiser Washington to Puerto Plata, San Domingo, in a despatch to the navy department early today reported that the lighthouse there has been damaged by rifle firing between the revolutionary factions.

MANY REBELS KILLED IN FIERCE BATTLE IN STREETS AT CAPE HAITIEN

WASHINGTON, July 23.—Many Haitian rebels were summarily executed at Cape Haitien yesterday after the government forces had won a fierce two-hour battle in the streets with 500 revolutionists, who had gained entrance into the town early in the morning before the garrison was aware.

Captain Russell of the battleship South Carolina reported the affair to the navy department. His despatch said "the government troops, numbering 400, repulsed the attack with a loss of eight men killed. The rebels, after losing 31 killed, fled in disorder. Many sought refuge in houses from which they were dragged later for execution."

Sec. Bryan will confer today with Sec. Daniels about a possible movement of marines into Haiti. Already large detachments of others have been given Capt. Russell, but final decision as to whether force is to be used by the American government has been deferred.

Solon Menes, the Haitian minister, conferred yesterday with Sec. Bryan and urged that intervention would result in a number of counter-revolutions, necessitating the dissolution of the present government and even the abdication of the president.

FIVE STRIKERS KILLED

Fighting Continues Between the Strikers, Police and Cossacks in Russia

ST. PETERSBURG, July 23.—At least five striking workmen were killed and eight seriously wounded during the fighting in the streets of St. Petersburg between the strikers and police and Cossacks, which continued throughout the night until dawn this morning. Three police officials also are known to have been severely injured.

These figures are official, but it is generally understood that the casualties among the strikers were much heavier.

Official returns show a total of 130,000 strikers in the city itself.

Men carrying red flags spent the night marching and singing revolutionary songs. In the Viborg district they cut down the telegraph poles and upset a number of vans with which they constructed barricades across the streets and from the shelter of which they stoned the police and Cossacks. The mob is also accused of having fired some revolver shots. The strikers, however, eventually dispersed and the barricades were destroyed, but only after the police and soldiers had been subjected to hot attacks with volleys from their rifles in return.

Early today the strikers attempted to set fire to the Sampson bridge leading across the river to the Viborg district and they also tried to burn another bridge, but both were unsuccessful.

DEATH BY POISONING

LEONISTEN CASE BEING INVESTIGATED—DRUGGIST SAYS LANE GOT WRONG MIXTURE

LEONISTEN, July 23.—Medical Examiner Thompson of Fitchburg was in conference with the police this afternoon regarding the death of Ralph W. Lane by poisoning and the serious illness of Miss Isabel Woodward and Miss Emma Cloutier from the same cause. When the medical examiner examined the body of Lane Tuesday night he declared that the young man evidently died from something more fatal than pneumonia poisoning and has since been working on that theory.

in conjunction with an investigation by the police.

It was learned that the young people drank a wine concoction in mistake for sherry. It is declared that after they had gathered at the Woodward home, where the luncheon took place last Saturday night, Lane went downtown and at a certain drug store obtained the drink.

The claim of the druggist is that Lane, who is accustomed to visit the store, helped himself to the concoction while the proprietor was in the basement repairing a soda fountain tank and that the druggist did not discover the mistake Lane had made until he learned from one of the party at the Woodward house that Lane had visited the pharmacy.

BARNEY OBLIVIOUS LOST

His Claims for New One Mile Circular Track Record Rejected by the A. A. A.

NEW YORK, July 23.—Barney Oldfield's claims for new automobile one-mile circular track record at five minutes and thirty seconds, 56 seconds at Bakersfield, Cal., on April 23, was rejected yesterday at a meeting of the contest board of the American Automobile association for the reason that the trial was not timed with stop watches as required by the rules.

SUIT FOR $250,000

Decision in Favor of Estate of J. P. Morgan Handed Down by Judge Williams at New Haven

NEW HAVEN, July 23.—A decision was given in the superior court today by Judge Williams in favor of the estate of the late J. P. Morgan in a suit brought against it by Clarence Barber of New York to recover $250,000 in judgments on claims based on certain transactions involving properties in Mexico. The action had been before the courts of Connecticut for years.

KING'S CONFERENCE FAILS TO REACH COMPROMISE

On Home Rule Question—Redmond and Dillon Refuse to Yield to the Demands Made and Question Will Probably Go Back to Parliament—Militant Attacks Palace

LONDON, July 23.—The absence of the Marquis of Lansdowne of the regular conservative opposition, John E. Redmond and John Dillon of the Irish nationalists and Sir Edward Carson and Captain Craig of the Ulster unionists. Redmond and Dillon it is well known would not yield one iota more than was in the amending bill.

The crucial question of the area to be excluded from the control of the parliament in Dublin under the Irish home rule measure was the chief subject of discussion. It was supposed that it was found impossible by the conference to attain an acceptable compromise on this matter without further consideration. After the adjournment, Premier Asquith was in audience for ten minutes with King George, whom he informed of the situation.

John Redmond and John Dillon drove direct from the palace to Downing street, where they lunched with Mr. Lloyd George.

Militant Disturbance

A militant suffragette caused a little diversion by rushing out of the crowd and through the gates of Buckingham palace toward the visitors' entrance. There she threw a stone at a window but the missile fell short. She then stumbled and before she had got much farther on her journey she was captured by the police and taken off to the station.

TO OPPOSE LEGISLATION HOPE FOR SETTLEMENT

PAPER MANUFACTURERS PAID $415.50 TO OPPOSE THE EIGHT-HOUR BILL

BOSTON, July 23.—More returns of expenditures by corporations and individuals in the interest of or in opposition to legislation this year were made yesterday at the state house. Among those filed were the following: James D. Munroe, Amos Hollingsworth and G. F. Russell, a committee of paper manufacturers, paid to Burdett Wardwell and Ives $1000 as counsel opposed to the bill for the eight-hour shifts in paper mills by four workers and $115.50 additional for stenographer.

The International Text Book company of Scranton, Pa., paid P. H. Kelly, attorney, $850 to oppose the bill to prohibit correspondence schools from speculative dealing in stocks and bonds.

The Cambridge Electric Light company paid Arthur H. Brooks $500 for appearing for them on all matters affecting their interests. The Cohasset water company also paid Arthur H. Brooks $35 for services at hearings.

The town of Longmeadow paid Frank J. Demond $13.32, and Leon J. Hardy $56.60 for appearing on the bill to annex a part of Longmeadow to Springfield, a total of $102.52.

The New England Watch and Spring society paid to John J. Higgins $127.50 on the bill to amend the law to prohibit gambling in connection with sports and contests.

The Russell Fire club, by Theodore Gallipau, treasurer, paid to Isaac Gordon $2463.50 for his services on the "Two Platoon" general pension and other bills affecting firemen.

The Jewelers' association of Boston paid to George M. Poland $200 on all matters relating to conditional contract and assignment of wages.

HOPE FOR SETTLEMENT

DISSOLUTION OF NEW HAVEN MAY BE AFFECTED BY AGREEMENT

NEW YORK, July 23.—Despite the decision of the federal government to proceed with suits against the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Co., the directors yet hope that a way will be found to accomplish the dissolution of the system by agreement with the government, President James H. Hustis declared in a statement last night.

Mr. Hustis asserted that the New Haven had not refused to carry out the agreement reached with the federal authorities some time ago, and pointed to a compromise offer made by the committee of the system's directors in Washington on Monday, under which trustees appointed by the attorney general and the governor of Massachusetts would have been given "power to absolutely control" the Boston & Maine while the rights of the interested parties were being decided by the action of the courts or by the Massachusetts legislature.

The demand of the government in connection with the Boston & Maine stock, he declared, was a change in the original agreement, which would have entailed on the company "a very large pecuniary loss and at the same time increased enormously the difficulty of reorganizing the Boston & Maine railroad."

The statement of Mr. Hustis was issued after a series of conferences among the directors yesterday, at which it also was decided to issue a statement to the stockholders of the New Haven. This latter statement goes over the same ground as that covered by Mr. Hustis, rehearsing the controversy with the government leading up to the president's order to file suits against the company, and also expressing the "hope that a way will be found after the suit is brought, through negotiation and action of the court, to carry out the compromise agreement, and thus achieve a result which all parties earnestly desire."

DURAZZO, Albania, July 23.—A note threatening to destroy the capital of Albania unless Prince William of Wied was handed today by the Mussulman insurgents to the representatives of the European powers here.

The insurgents added that in case the warships fired at them they would spare neither the European nor the other inhabitants of the city.

The note asserted that the abdication of Prince William was the only way to avert civil war as they were determined to have a different form of government.

OTHER LIVESTOCK ALSO LOST IN FIRE WHICH DESTROYS BARN OF GEO. S. ROWE IN NEWTON, N. H.

NEWTON, N. H., July 23.—Fire yesterday afternoon completely destroyed the large farm barn of State Representative George S. Rowe at Rowe's Corner and endangered several other buildings. At one time four buildings were afire, but the flames were brought under control by the local fire department, aided by volunteers. One cow valued at $500 and three horses, a bull and other livestock were suffocated.

The fire spread to a hayfield nearby and consumed several tons of hay before it was extinguished by water from a nearby pond.

The loss is placed at $1000, partly covered by insurance.

SENSATION IS SPRUNG IN PUTNAM HEARING

Com. Brown Moved That Charges Against Putnam be Dismissed—Motion Defeated 3 to 2—Brown and Donnelly Voting in Favor

The hearing on the charges brought by Charles J. Morse, commissioner of streets and highways, against Newell P. Putnam, superintendent of streets, was resumed in the aldermanic chamber at city hall this forenoon.

The hearing was interrupted by a motion from Commissioner Brown to dismiss the charges against Mr. Putnam. The motion was defeated, however.

Mayor Murphy declared the hearing open at 10:15 and the first witness called was Purchasing Agent Foye.

Mr. Tierney questioned the witness relative to certain lots of second-hand paving blocks, including 59,669 blocks to the Bay State Street railway at $2 a thousand, delivered in 1911 and billed in 1912. Mr. Tierney asked Mr. Foye what he knew about the transaction and the latter replied that Mr. Lees and Mr. Putnam came to his office one morning and Mr. Putnam said he had a lot of old paving blocks for sale and that he had talked it over with the mayor.

"How long was this after you took office?"

"About four months."

"And this is the only transaction that happened under your administration?"

"Yes."

"And you have no written requisition for those blocks?"

"No."

"And all the other transactions relative to blocks were prior to your time in office?"

"Yes sir."

"I understand you to say that under the old government, heads of departments in cases of emergency, verbally ordered material and supplies, without the formality of a requisition?"

"That's true," replied Mr. Foye.

"And as far as you know, that was then the practice of the office?"

"Yes, that was the practice of the office."

This concluded the evidence.

At this point something in the nature of a bombshell was thrown into the meeting by Commissioner Brown, who moved that charges against Mr. Putnam be dismissed without prejudice to either party.

Col. Carmichael stated that he wanted to hear all the evidence in order that he might vote intelligently in the matter.

Mayor Murphy put the motion to the meeting and it was defeated, three to two, Messrs. Brown and Donnelly voting in favor and the mayor, Carmichael and Morse against.

ARCHITECT C.H. BLACKALL

CLARENCE H. BLACKALL

To Supervise Rebuilding of Salem — Says Fireproof Houses Can be Built Cheaper Than Wooden

The commission chosen to direct the rebuilding of Salem has made a wise choice in selecting Clarence H. Blackall of Boston as architect to plan and superintend the work. Mr. Blackall is the architect who had charge of the construction of the new Sun building and in that single job he demonstrated his superior ability in a manner that marked him as one of the greatest architects in the country. The news despatch relative to his appointment is as follows:

SAL. July 23.—Clarence H. Blackall of Boston has been appointed advisory architect to the commission which has to do with rebuilding the burnt district. The position was first offered to Ralph Adams Cross, chairman of the Boston city planning board, but he declined and suggested Mr. Blackall.

The latter was not looking for such a position, even though it carries a $5000 salary, as he is a very busy man. But the experience of some such man, who has had to do with large architectural problems and absolutely necessary and he was prevailed on to accept the position.

Mr. Blackall is one of the experts who addressed the committee of 100 soon after the fire and told them that the great conflagration was "not the work of God, but was due to the stupidity of man." He assured them that every wooden building that had been destroyed could be built more cheaply today with fireproof materials owing to the improvements and the increased output of such materials and the standardization of such that enters into all kinds of fireproof buildings.

Mr. Blackall is the architect of many prominent buildings in Boston, including Tremont Temple and the Colonial theatre. He has also built many fireproof factories and residences of all kinds along the North Shore and in various parts of the country. His experience covers practically the whole field of building. He was the first Rottschaefer traveling scholarship student and is one of the directors of that

4 KILLED AND 21 INJURED

Train Carrying Sunday School Picnickers Crashed Into Trolley Freight at Westford, Conn.

WESTFORD, Conn., July 23.—Three persons were killed outright, another died later and 21 were injured, some seriously, as the result of a head-on collision last night between a train of three trolley cars, carrying many Sunday school picnickers, and a trolley freight.

The accident occurred at the corner of State and King streets at a sharp curve on a down grade and it is said both cars were traveling at a high rate of speed.

The three trolley cars, coupled together, carrying 273 persons were returning from the annual picnic of the First Union Mission Sunday school of East Bridgeport at Bolton Point, Norwalk.

The dead are:
ANDREW FISHER, aged 16.
RAYMOND FULLER, aged 12.
FRANK NAGLEY, aged 11.
MABEL CLEVELAND, aged 21.

All the victims were from Bridgeport. According to Dr. Frank Powers, the town medical examiner, the accident was caused when the trolleyman of the picnic train, Harold Nathan of the Norwalk, put on all speed, while going down hill in an endeavor to reach a siding before the arrival of the trolley freight, which he knew was coming. Mr. Powers says that Nathan's car was traveling so fast that even if there had been no collision they would have been derailed. The brakes were not set.

There was a terrible crash as the cars met and the air was filled with splinters, flying glass and dust. The trolley freight ploughed through the first picnic car, which was virtually smashed to pieces. Only the two rear seats and the truck now remain. Even the roof was wrenched off and tossed to one side of the tracks. The four persons killed were sitting on the front seat. Mr. Powers says it is a miracle that all in the first picnic car were not killed.

A panic ensued after the crash. The shrieks and groans of the injured could be heard for blocks. Some of the picnickers in the rear cars began at once the work of rescuing the others, although many of the rescuers were injured themselves. All phys-cians in the vicinity were summoned. Twelve persons were hurried in ambulances and private automobiles to the Norwalk hospital where Frank Nagley died a few hours later. Among the injured at Norwalk are William Abbott of Providence, R. I., and Helen Dwyer of Long Island City, both of whom have broken bones and are suffering from the shock.

Seven persons were taken to St. Vincent's hospital in Bridgeport and three more to the Bridgeport General hospital.

NO ADDITIONAL DEATHS TODAY
WESTFORD, Conn., July 23.—No additional deaths were added over night to the list of victims of the collision of trolley cars here yesterday. Most of the persons injured were reported from the hospitals as comfortable this morning and the hope was expressed by surgeons that the death list will not exceed four. The number of injured has been increased over the 21 reported last night for many other passengers are now suffering from minor injuries. Coroner John F. Phelan is expected here during the day to open his inquiry.

It is alleged that the trolleyman on the passenger was running at high speed. Coroner Phelan is a preliminary inquiry last night said that the signal was not set against the trolleyman as he entered the block in order to make the switch. The trolleyman is in the Norwalk hospital with a broken leg and under guard of an officer.

HUMAN SOCIETY

Will Reenter He Equipped With an Automobile in Doing His Work—Disposal of Dead Animals Solved
At a meeting of the executive committee of the Lowell Humane society held yesterday afternoon it was voted to institute automobile service for its agents instead of the horse and buggy which have been familiar on the streets for many years. It is believed that the society will purchase a Ford model of small dimensions, which will be equipped practically the same as those that are used by the American Rescue League of Boston. In past years many householders have complained of inability to dispose of dead animals, and hereafter the humane society agents will be able to relieve this difficulty by taking the animals away and killing them near their burying places.

CHARLES H. EBBETS, HERO OF HOUR AFTER AVOIDING THREATENED BASEBALL STRIKE

CHARLES H. EBBETS

Charles H. Ebbets, owner of the Brooklyn National League and Newark International league clubs, is the hero of organized baseball. When the Players' Fraternity ordered a walkout over the case of First Baseman Kraut the various club owners affected by the decision declared that they would fight to the finish. Ebbets saw the folly of an interval war at this time and paid the Nashville club $1000 for Kraut, whom he immediately turned over to Newark. It is said that the Yankees may purchase him.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

LAKEVIEW PARK
There is a lively interest in the long distance swimming race that is scheduled for this afternoon at Lakeview park as the entries include some of Lowell's best swimmers as well as the two diving girls that are appearing at Lakeview this week. Both of these young women are long distance swimmers of ability and they have announced their intention of carrying home one of the prizes that is offered by the management, whatever the result of the race may be. It is an assured fact that it will be a sharp contest. As an extra feature of this afternoon's event the management of the park have arranged to give away a large duck to the person who catches a duck in the water. At the theatre there is a fine program of "movies" that are shown every afternoon and evening without price. The program at the theatres changes every Thursday, Sunday and Monday.

CANOBIE LAKE

man's Musical Revue, first company, presenting the fourth edition of this splendid musical program. The perfect blending of the two voices is above description and the enthusiasm of the patrons at its conclusion knows no bounds.

The Fountain Dance by Ray Pendleton and Bob Jewett with chorus is one of the most beautiful dancing numbers that have been enjoyed in a long time, the spot light giving the different costumes varied hues as the girls execute the many fascinating steps. Betty Farrington, the pretty leading lady, would score on her fascinating appearance alone, but with a splendid contralto voice and a few well chosen numbers, she at times steals the show. Ben Loring, the comedian who is taking the place of Eddie Dowling, is more than filling his predecessor's shoes and is sending the patrons into convulsions of laughter at every performance, scoring exceptionally heavy with his topical songs, "I'm Saving Up Coupons," being a satire on the tobacco coupon saving habit in the sketch, "The Book Agent," Harry Crawford is seen at his best. The farce is one long continued roar of mirth and "merriment" from start to finish. Walter Morrison and Ray Pendleton offer a pleasing little singing novelty in "You're a Wonderful Boy" interspersed with a little comedy between verses and the number is going exceedingly well with the patrons.

"At the Parisian Ball," the final number of the big bill, presents every opportunity to do something and they all take advantage, leaving a pleasant remembrance with the patrons.

THE KASINO

There may be smoother surfaces in Massachusetts than that at the Kasino, but all dancers hereabouts agree that the Kasino is the smoothest ever arranged for the pleasures of the terrace. There is so little resistance presented that dancers glide through space. Minor orchestra is always in attendance, and that means

THE OWL THEATRE

Two extra good features shown at the Owl today, "Times of Hale" in three parts, and "The City," in two parts are both of genuine merit. "The Newer Woman," a comedy, is a fine satire on modern manners. Others were well received, and Jack Dalton's singing was vigorously applauded. The same show today.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. William Kelley and Miss Sadie A. Smith, two popular young people of Forge Village, were married yesterday, the ceremony being performed at a nuptial mass celebrated at St. Catherine's church by Rev. Edmund T. Schofield. The bride was Miss Anna O. Neil of this city, while the best man was Mr. Herbert Smith, a brother of the bride. The latter wore a white silk dress, while the bridegroom was gowned in blue silk. After the ceremony a breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, and at noon the couple left on a short wedding tour through New Hampshire.

CORNELL-KNOWLTON

Clarence J. Cornell of Nashua, N. H., and Miss Edith Ellora Knowlton of this city were married at the parsonage of the Pearl St. Free Baptist church in Portsmouth, N. H., the officiating clergyman being Rev. Edwin P. Moulton.

MATTHEWS-DOUGHTY

Late yesterday afternoon the marriage of Alexander Matthews and Miss Mary Doughty took place at St. Patrick's rectory, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Joseph A. Curtin. The couple were attended by Miss Kathleen Doughty, a sister of the bride, and Daniel Owens. The bride wore a gown of white silk with shadow lace, while the bridegroom wore a dress of white embroidered voile. The happy couple left in the evening on a wedding trip to Albany and New York.

FITCHBURG TAX LARGEST IN ITS HISTORY—INCREASE OF $3,058, 883 IN THE CITY'S VALUATION

FITCHBURG, July 23.—According to the statement yesterday by Charles H. tax rate for the year will be $21 per tax rate for the year with the $21 per $1000, a gain of $1 over that of last year and the largest tax rate in the history of the city. The assessors announced that there is an increase of $3,058,883 in valuation over a year ago. A large part of the increase comes from the higher valuation placed on old real estate in Cleghorn. The amount of new property assessed is estimated at about $700,000. There is an increase of 1007 poll tax payers.

PULLED AROUND SHAFT

THEODORE HOLMES KILLED IN FITCHBURG PAPER MILL—
SKULL FRACTURED

FITCHBURG, July 23.—Theodore Holmes, aged 32 years, was killed yesterday at the Crocker Burbank paper mill by being pulled around a revolving shaft.

He was at work on a winding machine when part of his clothing caught on a thimble and he was pulled over the shaft. His body fell to the floor after being pulled around once.

A physician was called, but before his arrival he died. He had a fracture of the skull and a fracture of the spinal column, near the neck. He also had several bruises on the body. The body was turned over to an undertaker and will be removed to his home at Westminister. Holmes is survived by a widow and three children.

WHY FAT RETURNS IF TAKEN OFF BY EXERCISE

Since fat is the result of particularly easy assimilation of food, which too readily turns into fatty substances, the exercise for reduction must be very vigorous to tear down the tissues and as rapidly as exercise builds a larger muscular foundation, more fat is developed. For the early part of the time which you are exercising flesh is turned into muscle, but the action of the stomach being unchanged and the flesh being more easily developed than muscle it is not long until the exercise has increased the weight. Of late years, the slender form is possible without making oneself insensible by dieting or indulging in violent exercises to reduce fat. Make up and take this simple reducer and your weight will soon be just where you want it. Dissolve 4 ounces paraffin (which every good druggist has in his store) in 1 1/2 pints hot water; when it cools strain and take a tablespoonful before meals. This harmless reducer acts gently, is quite harmless and entirely satisfactory results are quickly attained. It leaves the flesh firm and well moulded.

HOME RULE CONFERENCE

JAMES LOWTHER, SPEAKER OF
THE HOUSE OF COMMONS PRE-
SIDES AT SESSIONS IN LONDON

JAMES LOWTHER

LONDON, July 23.—James Lowther, speaker of the house of commons, presides at the Irish home rule bill conference called by King George. The king's address at the start of the sessions at once aroused a bitter discussion as to the royal attitude on the Ulster question. King George took the initiative in calling two representatives from each party in parliament together for the purpose of compromising on the home rule bill, which was recently passed and which is now facing an amendment.

POLITELY ASKED TO QUIT

AFFAIRS

LONDON, July 24.—An Athens despatch to the Daily Telegraph says that the former minister to Greece, George Fred Williams, has published a third manifesto on Albanian affairs, in which he attacks Zogras, president of the government of Northern Epirus, and urges his removal.

It is reported that Mr. Williams went to Santa Quaranta with the intention of assuming the direction of affairs according to this despatch, but he was politely requested to quit.

REASONS FOR ANNEXATION

It Would Offer Opportunities for Establishing Homes and Bring
Wider Field for Industries

Secretary Murphy of the Lowell board of trade when asked his opinion relative to the Sun's movement for annexation said he believed that Lowell needs more territory and that this can be had only by annexation.

Referring to statistics which he had on hand, Mr. Murphy showed the congested districts of our city.

What he said in the course of a talk with a Sun reporter is summarized in the following article:

"The question of extending the corporate limits of the city is one which offers considerable argument pro and con, and which should obtain the careful study and serious consideration of the citizens of the city.

"A larger city with greater population requires extensive land area suitable for the development of homes with sufficient land for small garden purposes for the masses. This extension is equivalent to increased prosperity in all lines.

"The population of Lowell is extremely large compared with its area and contrasted with other cities of Massachusetts. Lowell's area of 141 square miles is exceedingly small and congestion of population in many districts and sections is obvious.

The following figures concerning the distribution of congested population of the city may be of interest:

"Population of city 111,000, the population of the congested area is 50,000. The population residing with half-mile radius of Merrimack square is about 32,000, while the population living within a mile radius of Merrimack square is 89,000.

"That section of Lowell which could be reached by drawing a line up Cabot street from the Lawrence street to the North common, then to Pawtucket street and Perkins street has a population of over 11,000 people or about 175 people per acre.

"The section bounded by the mills along the Merrimack river and Merrimack street has a population of 3400 people or about 160 people per acre.

"A section of Centralville extending from West street to Bridge street to Hildreth has a population of 6200 people or about 150 people per acre.

"The section bounded by Market street, Dutton street, Fletcher street to North common has a population of 6300, or a population of 90 to 125 per acre.

"A section bounded by Central street, Wampanoag street, Lawrence street, Watson street, Whipple street, Navy Yard, Collinsville, Wamesit, No. Chelmsford.

"Annexation should mean increased pride in community spirit tending to combine the many interests for the general good and proving to the world that 'Lowell is a city of opportunity.'

SAVED WOMAN'S LIFE

MARTIN DACEY OF LOWELL MADE
HEROIC RESCUE AT WALTHAM—
CHIEF McNAMEE ALSO HELPED

The Waltham Tribune of Monday has the following interesting story of the rescue of a woman from drowning by Martin Dacey, formerly of this city:

Clad in a white coat and apron, Martin Dacey of Auburndale dived from a float at the Norumbega bathhouse to the rescue of Mrs. William Hoelscher of this city when she was about to go down for the third time. With the assistance of Charles McNamee, chief of the Norumbega cafe on the river, and Fred Grant, who was struggling in the water, Dacey brought the drowning woman to the float.

In a short time she had recovered sufficiently to be taken to the metropolitan park police station nearby where she was worked over for fully an hour and a half.

Although the accident occurred within a hundred yards of the police station no patrolman responded to cries for help and undoubtedly if it were not for the work of Dacey and those who assisted him the accident would have had a fatal termination.

In the canoe at the time with Mrs. Hoelscher was Miss Maud Erickson of Riverside, and neither of the women could swim.

Fred Grant, a full-blooded Indian, was the first to go to the assistance of the struggling woman when their craft overturned and when Dacey arrived on the scene had gone down twice and was nearly throttled by Mrs. Hoelscher in her frantic attempts to reach the shore.

McNamee rushed onto the float and threw a life preserver to the three in the water and assisted them to the float.

Dacey is manager of the River Casino at the Norumbega bathhouse and has held that position for the past five summers. Both Chief McNamee and Dacey are popular among the throngs of canoeists that visit the restaurant during the summer and deserve considerable credit for their rescue work.

They are both residents of Lowell during the winter months.

Mrs. Hoelscher is well known in this city and at present is in charge of the ice cream tables at "Nutting's-ottie-Charles."

SUDDEN DEATH

Little Man Dropped Dead in Potato
Field at Westford Yesterday—Death
Certificate Signed Apostrophically

John Fries, aged about 50 years and residing at Littleton, died suddenly at Westford yesterday, while working in the field. Mr. Fries was hoeing potatoes with several other men, when he was suddenly seized with an apoplectic stroke. He fell to the ground face downward, and when discovered by his fellow workers, life was extinct. The coroner of Ayer viewed the body and signed the death certificate apostrophically.

REFUSED TO TAKE CASH

GRESSMAN RETURNS PAY TO

CONGRESSMAN S. A. WITHERSPOON

This photograph shows now famous Congressman Samuel Andrew Witherspoon of Meriden, Miss., who refused to accept cash from Uncle Sam which he did not earn by his honest toil. Mr. Witherspoon was absent from the house of representatives for four days in April, 1911, on private business, and upon receiving his check his conscience would not permit him to accept the salary for the four days which he was absent, and he returned $32.50 to the United States treasury. It seems that somewhere in the statute book there is a law that a member of congress shall not draw pay for the days that he is absent from public duty. Mr. Witherspoon told no one of his action, but it recently leaked out, and now the Mississippiian is more or less of a hero.

THREE FIREMEN BURNED

HEAT EXPLOSION AT SMALL WORK-
CESTER FIRE SENDS MEN HURT-
LING BACKWARD DOWNSTAIRS

WORCESTER, July 23.—As the result of a back draft during a fire in a small two-story house at 34 Bangor street yesterday, three members of the fire department were burned.

The most seriously burned are Geo.

W. King and John Conlin, chauffeurs for Chief Wesley N. Avery. They are in City hospital. King is suffering from third degree burns all over the face, neck, hands and lower part of the arms. Much of his hair was singed off. Conlin has similar burns of the second degree.

Dist. Chief Charles L. McCarthy suffered burns about the face and head but remained on duty. The trio were burned when they dashed up the front stairs of the burned building and forced a door to the room where the flames were the fiercest. King and Conlin were in the lead with Chief McCarthy following closely. A terrific explosion occurred, throwing the men, enveloped in a sheet of fire, backward down the stairs.

Do—Tells How She Found Relief.

Sterling, Conn.—"I am a girl of 22 years and I used to faint away every month and was very weak. I was also bothered a lot with female weakness. I read your little book 'Wisdom for Women,' and I saw how others had been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and decided to try it, and it has made me feel like a new girl and I am now relieved of all these troubles. I hope all young girls will get relief as I have. I never felt better in my life."—Miss BERTHA A. PELOQUIN, Box 116, Sterling, Conn.

Massena, N. Y.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I highly recommend it. If anyone wants to write to me I will gladly tell her about my case. I was certainly in a bad condition as my blood was all turning to water. I had pimples on my face and a bad color, and for five years I had been troubled with suppression. The doctors called it 'Anemia and Exhaustion,' and said I was all run down, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound brought me out all right."—Miss LAVISA MYRES, Box 74, Massena, N. Y.

DESIRABLE FIRE PREVENTION

Now that New England is thoroughly aroused to the necessity for reforms in municipal regulations regarding fire building and prevention, and that the Lowell Board of Trade and our municipal authorities have shown renewed interest in the same subject, a brief review of the fire hazard bill passed by the legislature in its closing hours is timely and instructive. The bill incorporated the ideas of the committee on fire prevention of the Boston Chamber of Commerce and represented what many New England experts declare the most advanced and practical suggestions in modern fire prevention. It was backed up by the United Improvement Association, the Boston Board of Fire Underwriters, the Real Estate Exchange and the United Cities of New England. Probably the most important provision of the fire hazard bill is that which provides for the appointment of a fire prevention commissioner in whom shall be centralized all the authority that was distributed among several lesser officials in the old system. With overlapping offices and minor department heads acting independently it was impossible that effective administration be given in fire prevention, but with the nomination of a capable man whose duties will be along fire prevention lines only, there can be no doubt that the district in which the new law is imperative shall receive better service, and that the fire risk will be lessened materially. The human equation is all important in anything relating to fire prevention.

Among the practical requirements of the new law is that which stipulates that hazardous types of buildings be equipped with automatic sprinklers. This is most desirable in factory and "sweat-shop" buildings in congested areas, and the enforcement of it would have prevented many a serious fire in the past. It is generally held that had a sprinkler system been in vogue in the Salem leather factory where the fire started, the disaster would have been averted. Another requirement of the new law is that all rubbish that in the opinion of the commissioner is dangerous shall be removed and destroyed. Seventy-five per cent of fires are attributed to carelessness, and of this percentage it is probable that the accumulation of rubbish is the greatest factor. No fire prevention law is adequate which does not provide for inspection of tenements and factories and mandatory power in the hands of officials to order the removal of anything that constitutes a menace. Some day municipal authorities will make periodic visits to all buildings to see that fires are prevented and that health and sanitation are safeguarded. The fire hazard law will become obligatory in the twenty-two cities and towns making up the Metropolitan district, on August 1st, and any other city or town may come within its provisions on its own initiative. Naturally, all New England will watch the operation of the law closely, in Boston, before it is agitated as a state-wide proposition, but many of its clauses must be included in any municipal fire prevention regulation that claims to be in keeping with the times. Coupling the terms of the bill with the recent regulations made in Salem, all municipalities have a lesson in fire prevention that is full of inspiration. Lowell has its own peculiar problems, but in the main it could do far worse than to adopt the ideas of Salem and Boston requirements. We must still carry the burden of the past, but we can do much to provide more desirable conditions for the future.

LOWELL SWIMMERS

Despite the fact that we have no municipal bath and that swimming as an organized or supervised sport is very much neglected locally, many Lowell young men are fast gaining an enviable reputation for proficiency in the splendid sport and are incidentally advertising the city throughout the world. When Henry Sullivan attempted to swim the English channel last year, the English papers—and to some extent the papers of almost all countries made mention of him at great length. There his name with the city of his birth. Naturally, his brave struggle of ten hours last season and the premier which he then gave will awake renewed interest in his attempt this year, and many outside Lowell friends and acquaintances will hope that his buoyant spirit and perseverance will carry him on to victory. The Merrimack river and our network of canals turn out some splendid swimming material, and it will be a matter of great local pride if one of our boys equals or surpasses the feat of Webb and Burgess—the only swimmers who have ever succeeded in crossing the English channel.

Speaking of the valuable advertising which our local swimmers are gaining for Lowell in Boston and New York contests, and in the English channel attempt, the New York World in a recent issue asks:

Does not the present generation of New York boys know how to swim?

Or is there anything peculiarly conducive to long-distance swimming in the New York water that have the New York boys? It has a larger population to draw on for expert swimmers. Why must its swimmers trail behind swimmers from Philadelphia, Norristown, Lowell, South Norwalk, and Newport with only a part of the course covered in a race contested in local and familiar waters?

Indubitably many thoughtful New Yorkers reading this will be reminded that Lowell is something more than a despoiled "mill city." When we have municipal baths some day there is no doubt that our swimming athletes will write the name of this city in brighter on the sporting firmament.

RAILROAD RATES

No comment on present business conditions calls a reference to the question of increased revenues for the railroads, and it seems to be the general opinion of the country that further delay in granting such an increase is not only unjust but injurious. It is said that the railroads west of the Mississippi will follow the lead of the eastern roads in applying for permission to raise their rates, and the outcome of the threatened strike will in all probability make the necessity for the concession more acute. Texas railroads also will appeal to their commission for an increase of rates within the state. Meantime, President Miller of the C. B. & Q. railroad announces that in view of the large deficit of train, the western railroads will be unusually prosperous for some time to come, and his statement is borne out by an appreciable decrease in the number of idle cars. The surplus of such idle cars fell by more than 12,000 for June, and conditions this month are better.

A leading cause for the decreased revenues which oblige the railroads to apply for increased rates is the large investment which the roads are obliged to make in their equipment, in accordance with popular demands. The bureau of railway economics has compiled figures which show that from 1905 to 1913 the steam railroads of the country invested cash to the amount of $4,010,355,303 in improvements—a sum equal to one-fifth of their total capitalization at the close of the last fiscal year. This surely justifies the request of the roads for increased rates, and further delay is dangerous to general prosperity.

THE WATER QUESTION

The action taken by the municipal council on the water question is based upon the result of many experiments and on the positive guarantee of a water supply sufficient to meet all the needs of the city, and of first class quality. If after that filter plant is completed and in operation there appears any excess of iron and manganese there will be trouble for all who are concerned in the matter.

It is to be hoped that Commissioner Carmichael will have the plant completed within the appropriation inasmuch as the sum of $30,000 is allowed for "contingencies." Engineer Dearborn allows 10 per cent of the estimated cost for contingencies. What contingencies he had in mind is not known but we surmise that one of them is the tendency of municipal departments to exceed the original estimates, regardless of how much they are allowed. Of course, another contingency to be provided for might be the labor in the excavation. But if neither one nor the other of these contingencies be encountered, then Commissioner Carmichael should be able to finish the filter plant for less than the $225,000 appropriated. This filter plant will be of use for arresting bacteria in the water. Its only function being to act on the iron.

When this new plant shall have been completed the question of treating the Cook well water for the neutralization of carbonic acid will undoubtedly come up for action. The Cook wells constitute a reserve supply that in cases of emergency may prove very valuable.

CARE OF THE HAIR IN EUROPEAN COUNTRIES

In Southern Europe the very straight, lustrous appearance of the hair of these native women is due to its excessive greasiness, and could be greatly improved upon by the elimination of all excess oil. Throughout the continent among the higher social classes a great care is taken to keep the hair perfectly clean, not with soap and make-shifts but with preparations made just for the shampoo, and it is probably for this reason alone that the hair of Europeans is considered the most beautiful in the world. The much desired softness and softness of hair which follow European shampoos are the result of the perfect cleansing power. You can avoid any bad condition of scalp or hair by use of this economical home-made shampoo which is prepared very quickly by just dissolving a teaspoonful of carboxylic (which every drug store carries) in a cup of hot water, and pouring slowly on the head as you rub softly. This makes a wealth of rich, cleansing lather which will soon remove the fluff and restore to the delicate hair and encourage a beautiful growth.

has sent to the attorney general urging him to proceed against the New Haven railroad had been written ten years ago or even five years ago, what a sensation it would have caused! Today it is accepted calmly and without apparent surprise. So thick have revelations come with regard to the road and all relating to it that the public is ready for almost anything.

Whatever one may think of the wisdom of the administration's move, it will be discovered after a little thought that there was no other course open. President Wilson and the attorney general has openly approved of the Massachusetts law providing for the severing of the Boston & Maine and New Haven and had expressed their willingness to drop the federal suit provided the state law was complied with. Conferences were held with the road officials and everything pointed to an amicable agreement when on what the president calls a slight pretext, the New Haven decided to fight the matter in the courts. Acting in accordance with their well known interpretation of the Sherman anti-trust law, the government cannot do otherwise than prosecute, and it may be that before the long and costly court struggle is ended the directors may be sued for a partial restitution of the vast sums lost in mismanagement.

ROBINSON'S DEATH

Were it not that suicide under any circumstances cannot be considered desirable, the death of "Diamond Chip" Robinson by his own hand in the Boston jail would seem like the last ending of a case that might have dragged on for months with sensational and great cost to the state. There was no doubt of his guilt, and there is no doubt that the world is better off without him. Under a smooth and misleading exterior he hid a black heart, and a desperate will. He apparently valued all human life as lightly as he valued his own. This day night, his fate is another warning for those who may be tempted to take the first steps in the way that leads to degradation.

VANISHING BROWNTAILS

Judging from the failure of the brown-tail moths to fly in large numbers this year, there seems to be good reason to anticipate their entire elimination within a few seasons. This would certainly be welcome news to New England; the pests have caused an enormous annual loss in vegetation and in money while they have infested this part of the country, and for a time it looked as though the most that one could hope for was their partial restriction. Now that Nature and unrelenting effort have succeeded in almost wiping them out, renewed activity will have even more than past results.

The fellows who used to sit in the front row now stand on the sidewalk and watch the cars load and unload.

John Stratton seems to think that if the city should use the Cook wells constantly the brewery would have to close up shop or find a new water supply.

Well, anyway, the New Haven directors were all big business men yet they didn't conduct the affairs of the road any better than the "little men" in the city council conduct the city's affairs.

Luke McLake says: The other fellow's success is always due to good luck. You may have noticed that the man who wants to right the great wrongs of the world always wants to take up a collection.

GAS ON THE STOMACH

Flatulence, or gas in the digestive tract is an annoying accompaniment of intestinal indigestion and constipation. As a rule it indicates that food is being retained in the stomach and intestines longer than nature intended.

When colicky pains accompany the presence of gas the need of a gentle laxative to clear away the obnoxious food residue is imperative. If the condition of constipation is not quickly corrected a coated tongue, eruptions on the skin, headaches and backaches soon show that the poisons have found their way into the circulation.

The use of the gentle laxative pills, PINKETTS, will not only banish these unpleasant symptoms quickly but if used regularly for a reasonable time will really correct chronic constipation.

PINKETTS are not like harsh purgatives that leave the bowels dry and in the end worse than before. PINKETTS gently assist nature, never gripe and are so small and easy to take that they are known as the daily laxative.

Your own druggist can supply you with PINKETTS or they will be sent by mail postpaid, by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., at 25c per bottle. Send for the book "The Daily Laxative," telling how to treat constipation.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

TREATY DISCUSSIONS

The demand of Senator Borah for a public discussion of the pending Nicaragua treaty has been insisted, and he has finally won out. The senate has decided that the discussion shall be open to the public.

This is well. There is nothing in the subject matter of this treaty which may not be discussed with perfect propriety in the hearing of the people of this country. To pretend that there is some urgent reason for forcing the treaty through in private session is to pervert facts.—Lynn News.

NEW HAVEN SUIT

The conference between the attorney general and representatives of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad company having come to naught, the attorney general will at once bring his suit for the dissolution of the railroad company under the Sherman anti-trust law, going first to the president for his approval. Perhaps it will bring about a quicker settlement of the much-disturbed affairs of the New Haven road to have the suit brought without further delay and without opportunity for further entanglements.—Newport News.

MEXICAN DEBTS

Renewal of plutocratic howlings may be expected over Secretary Bryan's announcement that nothing will be done by this government to enforce claims for money loaned to Huerta on concessions granted by him to Americans or any other foreigners, after October 10, 1913, the date when Huerta dissolved the Mexican congress and assumed an unqualified and lawless dictatorship. Such our government held it to be before all the world; why should it help out people who, with their eyes open, dealt speculatively with it? The position of the administration requires courage, because something of a "new departure."—Worcester Post.

A WISE FATHER

Young Mr. Duell has been brought rather prominently into the limelight through his well-intentioned efforts to secure Roosevelt's endorsement for Judge Whitman. After the clouds of battle have rolled away, leaving no large list of casualties on either side, the young man's father makes the following statement:

"My son is a very young man, as you know, and I would not permit him to talk now. If he says anything it will be after everybody else is through. Meanwhile, I am sitting on the lid."

It's a lucky boy who knows how to choose a wise father. And the elder Duell certainly qualifies.—Schenectady Union-Star.

BURNED A BABY

Other Children Set Fire to Its Crib—Mother Saved Life

A small baby had a narrow escape from being burned to death yesterday at 3 Queen street, when a fire was started in the crib in which it was sleeping, by children who were playing with matches. Fortunately the mother of the child discovered the fire in time to save the little one's life. The baby, however, was burned about the arms.

The fire occurred in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Elwell at the address stated. Mrs. Elwell left her child in the crib and was working in an adjoining room. In the meantime other children secured some matches and lighted the child's clothing. The screams attracted the attention of the mother who succeeded in extinguishing the blaze. The child's wounds were given treatment by the family physician. A still alarm summoned the members of the fire department.

SMI Alarm
A still alarm yesterday called the members of the fire department to a house at 3 Chestnut street where a neighbor had discovered smoke issuing from a window. Investigation showed that the proprietor of the house had left some vegetables on a gas stove and these were burning when the firemen entered. The building is owned by Joseph Flynn.

STRIKERS HELD UP TRAIN

SERIOUS RIOTS IN RUSSIA—POLICE COSSACKS AND STRIKERS IN BATTLE—THOUSANDS ON STRIKE

ST. PETERSBURG, July 22.—The strike situation in Russia took on a serious aspect today when armed conflicts occurred in the streets and resulted in the wounding of many police, cossacks and strikers. Just outside the capital a passenger train on the coast line to Finland was held up by strikers. The engineer was forced to quit under threat of being shot and all the passengers driven out of the cars. The strikers then proceeded to cut down the telegraph poles and place obstructions on the tracks. A detachment of cossacks and gendarmes drove off the wreckers. Every train thereafter was conveyed by an armed escort. At St. Petersburg the strike movement was reported to be spreading and it was said that 40,000 men in that city had struck while in many of the other cities thousands were stopping work.

MAY ELECT LOWELL MAN

MEETING OF DISTRICT COUNCIL, UNION ST. JEAN BAPTISTE, TO BE HELD IN NOVEMBER

The quarterly meeting of district council, No. 6, Union St. Jean Baptiste d'Amerique, which was scheduled to be held in Salem, Mass., on Sunday, Aug. 2, was cancelled on account of the recent conflagration in the Witch City.

The next meeting of the council will be held in this city under the auspices of J. N. Jacques council on the first Sunday in November. The affair will consist of a high mass at St. Louis church at 9:30 o'clock, followed by a dinner and a business meeting at the parochial hall in the afternoon.

The result of the recent recruiting contest will be announced and the members of district council, No. 5, feel confident of winning the first prize. A feature of the meeting will be the election of officers for the ensuing year and it is probable that a Lowell man, Joseph Carrier, will be chosen president.

EAGLES' DEGREE TEAMS

HELD COMPETITION AT NEW HAVEN—LOWELL TEAM FAILED TO WIN A PRIZE

The degree team of the Lowell Aerie of Eagles competed for a prize at New Haven, Conn., last Monday but lost, as the winners were Torrington team first, Lawrence second and Pittsfield, third. The prizes were of $150, $100, and $50 respectively and checks for that amount were presented to the winning teams in Eagles' hall Tuesday night before a large and enthusiastic audience of Eagles when the winners were announced.

The judges were Captains H. A. Beebe, Company D, Second Regiment; J. A. Haggerty, Company C, and H. C. Ward, Co. F, and the awards were made on number of men, appearance and order of procession in movements and diversity of movements. Torrington was given a rating of 87 per cent., Lawrence of 84 1-2 per cent., and Pittsfield of 92 1-2 per cent. The other teams which entered, and the ratings given to each by the judges, follow: Webster, Mass., 60 1-2 per cent.; Hyde Park, Mass., 54 1-2 per cent.; Lowell, Mass., 53 1-2 per cent.; Southbridge, Mass., and Leominster, Mass., 79 per cent. each.

The competition drill was held in the open air and was watched by a large crowd.

WILD TUMULT IN COURT—POLICE ASSAULTED AND WINDOWS BROKEN

BELFAST, Ireland, July 22.—A crowd of militant suffragettes today created a wild tumult in the assize court and its vicinity when Miss Dorothy Evans, an official of the Belfast branch of the Women's Social and Political Union, was brought up for trial on the charge of having in her possession explosives for the purpose of committing a felony. Miss Evans was arrested in the house of the lord mayor of Belfast.

The disturbance caused by the suffragettes who broke windows and savagely assaulted the police, was so great that proceedings had to be suspended for a time.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—The senate today confirmed the nomination of Congressman William F. Murray for postmaster at Boston.

ACTIVE ISSUES LOWER

NEW HAVEN FELL ON ANNOUNCEMENT OF SUIT—MISSOURI PACIFIC FELL—CLOSE IRREGULAR

NEW YORK, July 22.—New Haven shares fell two points at the opening of today's stock market on announcement that suit to dissolve the company is to be brought by the federal government. Other active issues were fractionally lower with the exception of Rock Island. Another feature was the weakness of Rock Island securities on abandonment of the reorganization plan. The debentures of the operating company fell almost eight points to 80, but soon made partial recovery. Prices were disposed to rally after the initial decline, the leaders advancing to or above yesterday's closely.

Missouri Pacific fell abruptly to its recent low level under the impact of short selling and Rock Island preferred recorded its lowest price in sympathy with declines in allied issues. Baltimore & Ohio was relatively strong despite unfavorable June earnings, but Chesapeake & Ohio yielded 1 1/2-2 on moderate offerings. Leaders held or added to their gains, but by noon the movement in that quarter became uncertain. Mexican and California Petroleum and other specialties, including Harvester, Beet Sugar, Bethlehem Steel and American Tobacco rose one to four points, but exercised no speculative influence. Weakness in Rock Island bonds extended to other issues, with losses of 3 to 8 points in Missouri Pacific convertibles, Colorado Midland funds and Missouri, Kansas & Texas refundings.

Stocks showed more stability in the afternoon, but many bonds continued to fall. Rock Island and Missouri Pacific issues were freely offered and increasing heaviness was shown by other low grade issues.

Further selling of the Rock Island collaterals, which extended their loss to over three points was the only noteworthy feature of the dull late session. Extreme weakness in Rock Island and other minor issues, with comparative steadiness in standard shares constituted the salient features of today's market. The close was irregular.

BOSTON MARKET

BOSTON, July 22.—Trading in the Boston market was not very active today, but the tone was generally firm in sympathy with New York.

NEW HAVEN TRANSACTIONS

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Charges that purchases of branch lines by the Southern railroad were comparable to the New Haven transactions were made today by B. L. Duane of Bristol, Tenn., before the senate committee investigating charges that the railroad discriminates against Charleston and other southern ports at the behest of a coal trust. "These deals show how millions are made," declared Duane. Chiefly his charge rested on what he said was the sale of the Virginia and H. K. McHarg, a director in the latter at a profit of $4,000,000.

THIS BRIDE WILL CROSS ATLANTIC IN POWER LIFEBOAT SAILED BY HUSBAND

MOTOR LIFE BOAT WHICH WILL CROSS ATLANTIC—MRS. EINAR SIVARD—

A trip across the Atlantic in a 36-foot power lifeboat is not a journey that many honeymoon couples would expect. In fact, Einar Sivard, a New York naval architect, and his young wife, Signe Holm Sivard, will be the first ones to attempt it. They expect to sail from the Battery July 25 and go by way of Boston and Halifax to St. John's and cross the ocean from that point to Queenstown. The Sivards were married recently. In order that the young wife may accompany her husband on the trip she will muster in as cook. The crew will include a navigator, a wireless operator, an engineer and one sailor. They expect to make the trip in about a month unless the weather proves too unfavorable. The lifeboat is asserted to be non-capsizable, non-mashable and practically unsinkable. The boat is expected to weather any sea. Sivard says the only danger is in being run down by an ocean liner. While the lifeboat was constructed especially for this trip, she differs only in size from power lifeboats of the same type designed for actual use on ocean liners. She has a length of 36 feet and a beam of 12 feet, while the largest similar craft previously built is 30 feet long and 10 feet wide. Her upper structure is fitted with a tiny cabin for the captain and his wife and sleeping quarters for the crew. The craft is built of galvanized steel, with a water tight deck about six inches above the load water line. The space between this deck and the bottom is subdivided into numerous water tight compartments, several of which may become filled with water without in the least endangering the boat. It is equipped with a 32-horsepower four cylinder engine and gasoline tanks that will enable it to remain at sea for many days. It has also a Marconi wireless apparatus with a radius of from 50 to 100 miles.

STIMPSON TO BE RECALLED REVIEW OF THE SEASON

St. Louis Americans Will Give Lowell Player Another Tryout

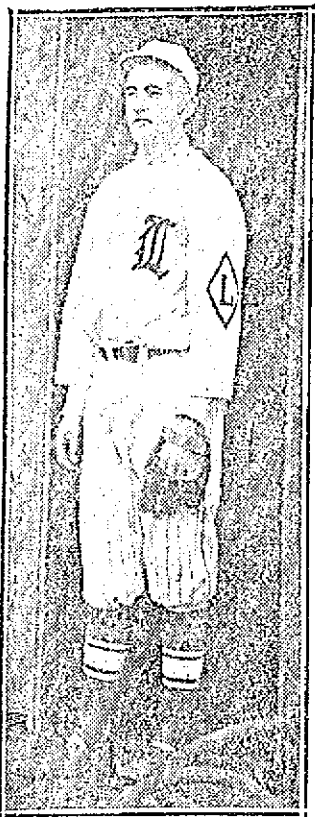

Will Go to "Big Show" at Conclusion of N. E. League Season

Earl Stimpson, the fast fielding and heavy hitting guard of Lowell left garden, is practically certain to be recalled at the conclusion of the New England League season by the St. Louis Americans.

Stimpson deserves all the credit which has been given him for his splendid work in the Lowell outfield this season and for his timely hitting. He has played sensational ball for the local club without a break since the beginning of the 1914 season.

The left fielder of the Lowell team was given a berth in the outfield of the team picked from the league by The Sun and his name was generally agreed upon by the writers around the circuit.

Stimpson is a right hand thrower but hits the ball from the right hand side of the plate. He is fast on the bases and covers a great deal of territory in the outfield. He has a good arm as well and has ripped many ambitious base runners at the plate this season.

Team Received Poor Start—New Candidates Proved Lemons—May Purchase Two Players

There is no gaining the fact that the local baseball team must undergo a huge change in the near future if the national sport is to prove a success in Lowell this season and the owners of the club realize this as well as the fans who have been discouraged after watching maneuvers of the local players during the past few games.

Team Received Poor Start

To begin with the Lowell team received a very poor start in its chase for another pennant. Manager Gray was forced to go out after new players for nearly every position and the unknown qualities of the new men kept the club in a quandary for the first few weeks.

Then after the weeding out process had been gotten over several of those upon whom Gray had banked began to weaken and play inferior ball. Out of the three outfielders who started out of the season only one now remains. Stimpson, however, is one of the best outer gardeners in the league and there is little or no chance of his also proving a lemon before the close of the season.

In fact Stimpson's work has greatly pleased Branch Rickey, the St. Louis Americans' manager, to which club Stimpson still belongs. A few days ago the Lowell left fielder received a long letter from Rickey which stated that he would be recalled at the close of the New England league season and given another tryout with the fast company.

Mathewson and Potteliger, the other two outfielders who began the season with the local club, are gone. Since Mathewson was a rank failure, his only recommendation being his relationship with the famous "Big Six." There are many who think that the local team made a mistake, however, when they released Potteliger. Potteliger was not hitting for Lowell for he was physically unfit to put on a uniform but since joining Burke's club has played a fine game in centerfield.

Pete Woods lost several games for Lowell while Manager Gray was trying to steady him down and make him into a big league prospect. But once more brotherhood proved no criterion by which to size up a ball player and Pete was cast aside.

Eddie Carr was another disappointment. Carr began the season at the hot corner with Dee at short and Burke at second but his inexperience soon told and he also was soon a free agent to go whither he pleased. Right from the beginning Manager Gray has been hoping a long hard row and, although he has made what seem to be a couple of bad moves with his release checks, in the main Gray has done pretty well considering what material he started out with.

What to Do Now?

But the question is now before us—what are we going to do now to bring home the heavy end of the season? There is a big hole at second base which is being groomed to fill. Can he do it? If he can't what's the answer? It is late in the season now for many promising ball players to be looking around for a job.

And out in center field is another vacancy. "Buck" Weaver is trying to convince himself that he is an outfielder but he is not. He certainly isn't right now. Weaver is a good pitcher, of course, and a timely hitter but we can't have simply a batter out there in center field. If Weaver can acquire a sure grip on balls in front of him and still continue his hitting the fans will be satisfied.

Captain "Billy" Burke has also taken an appreciable slump lately. Burke is a sweet fielder and usually a good man with the stick in the pinches but lately his effectiveness in both departments has fallen off. If Burke's playing should go into a decline the Lowell club would need tail lights for a sudden drop to the bottom would be almost inevitable for the Lowell captain has been a big factor in keeping the team up in the present position. We hope, therefore, that it is only a temporary decline.

May Purchase Players

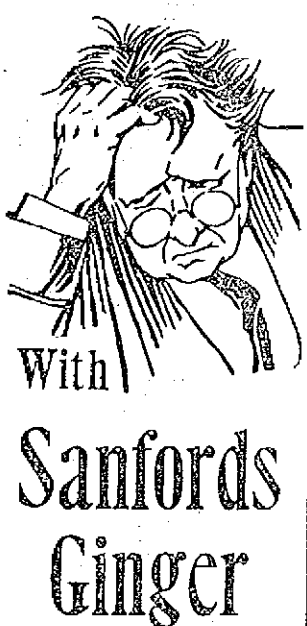

If Greenhalge does not fit in as an infielder and if Weaver shows no change in the outfield the Lowell owners will be forced to get hold of a brace of new men. And the only way in which players of worth can be gotten at this time of the season is by purchase. Therefore, we will take the liberty of prophesying two purchases, providing that Greenhalge and Weaver prove misfits.

NOTICE

To My Customers and the Fuel Buying Public:

Commencing today, and continuing until September 1, 1914, the week's work will end at my yards at 12 o'clock Saturday noon. I purpose to give my men this half-holiday without loss of pay.

I do this in gratitude to my employees for the way they conducted themselves during the recent strike. When the strike went into effect I had thirty-odd cars of coal in Lowell and in towns outside of Lowell, or in transit from the mines. Those cars I was actually obliged to unload, or pay the railroad companies $1.00 per day on each car after two days. I had to employ help wherever I could get them, and my striking teamsters and helpers never interfered with them or myself in any way.

I also intend to continue this Saturday half-holiday during May, June, July and August of next year.

PARIS, July 23.—Judge Louis Albaladejo's court in the palace of justice, where Madame Caillaux, wife of the former premier, is undergoing trial for the assassination of President Félix Faure, on March 16 of last year, was crowded when the fourth hearing started to-day. Many of the people had come with the desire to obtain an opportunity of seeing Joseph Caillaux confronted, as he was to do, with the practice of the French courts, with former Premier Barthou, who had been subpoenaed as a witness.

The testimony was to be concluded to-day with the evidence of M. Barthelemy, a friend of the late president, and of Mme. Bertha Gueyriaux, the first wife of M. Caillaux, but before they were due to come to the stand half a dozen other witnesses of lesser importance were to testify.

The frugality of the prosecutor, General Horbax, for the prosecution, and of Fernand Labori, counsel for the defense, would, it was announced probably begin late in the day.

—the Caillauxs—

Mme. Caillaux took her place in the prisoners' enclosure punctually at noon. She carried in her right hand a little vial of smelling salts and

Ten minutes afterward the red robed judges filed into court and an expectant hush fell over the crowded masses in the court-room.

Joseph Caillaux and his friend, Pascal Piccardi had visited the prisoner in the congeric before the hearing began. They found that the long trial was beginning to tell on her and that she felt exhausted and ill, but she showed strong determination to face her ordeal with calmness.

The testimony of the first three witnesses today concerned the private letters with which the defense seeks to show Gaston Calmette intended to publish. Gaston Dreyfus, a banker and friend of the murdered editor, explained in his testimony that the scientist Paul Painleve, who had yesterday testified that M. Dreyfus had told him the figure was going to publish a number of private letters must be understood as meaning that he had referred to the Victor Fabre report on the Rochette swindle affairs and not to private letters about which he knew nothing.

An official of the treasury department, Andre Neisser, testified to being present during a conversation of a group of journalists in the lobby of the chamber of deputies when it was stated that letters shortly would be published.

Francis Desclaux, chief private secretary of M. Caillaux, when he was minister of finances, declared that Dr. Verost, editor of the Paris Journal, came to him and told him that Guyard had proposed to him to publish two letters which she produced. He had, he said, informed M. Caillaux of this and he exclaimed, "But those letters are the work of a mad woman. I hope no newspaperman can be found to publish them."

The rapid succession of witnesses was interrupted by the confrontation of Gaston Dreyfus and Paul Painlevé, both of whom misstated the accuracy of their depositions with considerable heat.

And, each murmuring among the public, Judge Albaladeu ended the incident by saying the jurors must be left to decide for themselves as to the accuracy of the evidence.

TOWN OF DRACUT NEWS

Fire Chief Gunther Talks Right Out —Water Service Being Extended —Mill Business Very Good

There has been considerable speculation in the district as to the future of the town of Dracut, but the fire chief, Gunther, has taken another step toward settling the much talked about water service.

Chief Gunther has been talking with the water department of the town of Dracut, and has been told that the water service is being extended to the town of Dracut. This is a very good thing, as the town of Dracut has been without water for a long time.

BE'S ON HUNGER STRIKE

BECKY EDLSON, THE LITTLE ANARCHIST, TO STARVE HERSELF TO DEATH

NEW YORK, July 22.—Becky Edlson, the little anarchist, started her hunger strike on Blackwell's island with a determination to starve herself to death and thus be a martyr in the anarchist cause. At least that was the impression that Becky gave the city prison officials and the newspaper men who watched the case. Once before when this little anarchist was arrested and committed to the Tombs she started a hunger strike that lasted thirty-six hours. Then she gave in when tempted by chocolate candy. On that occasion, however, she drank water, which helped to keep her up. This time she is serving a three months' sentence for refusing to keep the peace, and she declined to touch food or drink water or work. Plans were made for forcible feeding.

PROGRESSIVES SLIPPING

MAINE REPUBLICANS SO CLAIM AT KNOX COUNTY CONFERENCE

ROCKLAND, Me., July 22.—Scenes of enthusiasm were witnessed last night at the Knox county republican conference in this city. Nearly 100 party workers were present, including chairman of the state committee, Col. Frederick H. Packard of Bangor, who declared that the republican party is enjoying a renaissance and that the progressive vote is going down the hogwash so rapidly that there will be scarcely enough of it to count 12 months hence.

He said he already had a census of 50 Maine towns showing that the progressive vote has dropped from 2500 to 400 and that the republican vote is largely increased.

Gov. Wm. T. Haines briefly described some of the achievements of the administration. With a tax of only nine mills for two years it has had from $250,000 to $700,000 in the treasury all the time, has not used a dollar of temporary loans, and has no debt.

In answer to the charge that the state highway fund is being expended in Cumberland county, he said that work has been commenced in all but one of the 16 counties and that Cumberland county is getting less than half of the sum to which it would be entitled.

Hon. Harold M. Sewall, congressional candidate, said that industrial interests are being benefited by democratic policies. An ovation was accorded ex-Congressman Charles E. Littlefield of New York, who was a spectator. He charged the democratic party with inability to handle either national or international affairs. "I believe," said he, "that the disease has had its run and that the people are returning to their sober senses. I hope that in 1916 we will no longer have a government of politicians, but of pedagogues and for pedagogues."

ARCHITECT C.H. BLACKALL

CLARENCE H. BLACKALL

To Supervise Rebuilding of Salem —Says Fireproof Houses Can be Built Cheaper Than Wooden

The commission chosen to direct the rebuilding of Salem has made a wise choice in selecting Clarence H. Blackall, all of Boston as architect to plan and superintend the work. Mr. Blackall is the architect who had charge of the construction of the new Sun building and in that single job he demonstrated his superior ability in a manner that marked him as one of the greatest architects in the country. The news despatch relative to his appointment is as follows:

SALEM, July 23.—Clarence H. Blackall of Boston has been appointed advisory architect to the commission which has to do with rebuilding the burnt district. The position was first offered to Ralph Adams Cram, chairman of the Boston city planning board, but he declined and suggested Mr. Blackall.

The latter was not looking for such a position, even though it carries a $5000 salary, as he is a very busy man. But the experience of some such man, who has had to do with large architectural problems was absolutely necessary and he was prevailed on to accept the position.

Mr. Blackall is one of the experts who addressed the committee of 100 soon after the fire and told them that the great conflagration was "not the work of God, but was due to the stupidity of man." He assured them that every wooden building that had been destroyed could be built more cheaply today with fireproof materials—owing to the improvements and the increased output of such materials and the standardization of much that enters into all kinds of fireproof buildings.

Mr. Blackall is the architect of many prominent buildings in Boston, including the Tremont Temple and the Colonial theatre. He has also built many fireproof factories and residences of all kinds along the North Shore and in various parts of the country. His experience covers practically the whole field of building. He was the first to bring traveling scholarship students and is one of the directors of that man. But the experience of some such

Train Carrying Sunday School Picnickers Crashed Into Trolley Freight at Westford, Conn.

WESTFORD, Conn., July 23.—Three persons were killed outright, another died later and 21 were injured, some seriously, as the result of a head-on collision last night between a train of three trolley cars, carrying many Sunday school picnickers, and a trolley freight.

The accident occurred at the corner of State and King streets at a sharp curve on a down grade and it is said both cars were traveling at a high rate of speed.

The three trolley cars, coupled together, carrying 270 persons were returning from the annual picnic of the Point Union Mission Sunday school of East Bridgeport at Roton Point, Norwalk.

The dead are:
ANDREW FISHER, aged 16.
RAYMOND MILLER, aged 12.
FRANK NAGY, aged 11.
MABEL CLEVELAND, aged 21.

All the victims were from Bridgeport.

According to Dr. Frank Powers, the town medical examiner, the accident was caused when the motorman of the picnic train, Harold Nathan of the Norwalk, put on all speed, while going down hill in an endeavor to reach a siding before the arrival of the trolley freight, which he knew was coming.

Mr. Powers says that Nathan's cars were travelling so fast that even if there had been no collision, they would have been derailed. The brakes were not set.

Persons in the vicinity were summoned. Twelve persons were hurried in ambulances and private automobiles to the Norwalk hospital where Frank Nagy died a few hours later. Among the injured at Norwalk are Lillian Abbott of Providence, R. I., and Helen Dwyer of Long Island City, both of whom have broken bones and are suffering from the shock.

Seven persons were taken to St. Vincent's hospital in Bridgeport and three more to the Bridgeport General hospital.

NO ADDITIONAL DEATHS TODAY

WESTFORD, Conn., July 23.—No additional deaths were added over night to the list of victims of the collision of trolley cars here last night. Most of the persons injured were reported from the hospitals as comfortable this morning and the hope was expressed by surgeons that the death list will not exceed four. The number of injured has been increased over the 21 reported last night for many other passengers are now suffering from minor injuries. Coroner John J. Phelps is expected here during the day to open his inquiry.

It is alleged that the motorman on the passenger train was running at high speed.

HUMANE SOCIETY

Will Hereafter Be Equipped With an Automobile in Doing Its Work—Disposal of Dead Animals Solved

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Lowell Humane society held yesterday afternoon it was voted to institute automobile service for its agents instead of the horse and buggy which have been familiar on the streets for many years. It is believed that the society will purchase a Ford model of small dimensions which will be equipped practically the same as those that are used by the American Rescue League of Boston. In past years many households have complained of inability to dispose of dead animals, and hereafter the humane society agents will be able to relieve this difficulty by taking the animals away and killing them near their burying place.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

LAKEVIEW PARK

There is a lively interest in the long distance swimming race that is scheduled for this afternoon at Lakeview park as the entries include some of Lowell's best swimmers as well as two diving girls that are appearing at Lakeview this week. Both of these young women are long distance swimmers of ability and they have announced their intention of carrying home one of the prizes that is offered by the management. Whatever the result of this race may be it is an assured fact that it will be sharply contested. As an extra feature of this afternoon event the management of the park have arranged to give away a large duck to the person who catches it. The duck to the person who catches it. The method of procedure will be to select a strong and lively duck and turn it affected by the decision declared that they would fight to the finish. Ebbets saw the folly of an internal war at this time and paid the Nashville club $1000 for Kraft, whom he immediately turned over to Newark. It is said that the Yankees may purchase him.

loose on the lake and at a given signal all the swimmers who have entered for this event will give chase. This event is open to all and promises lots of fun. The diving girls will give their usual exhibition both afternoon and evening as will Lieut. Hitchcock, who walks on the water. At the theatre there is a fine program of "movies" that are shown every afternoon and evening without price. The program at the theatre changes every Thursday, Sunday and Monday.

CANOBIE LAKE

"The Larkwood Watch," sung by Messrs. Bergeron and Morrison is proving the hit of the show at Canobie Lake park theatre this week, the J. J. Man's Musical Revue, first company, presenting the fourth edition of this splendid musical program. The perfect blending of the two voices is above description and the enthusiasm of the patrons at its conclusion knows no bounds.

The Fountain Dance by Ray Pendleton and Bob Jewett with chorus is one of the most beautiful dancing numbers that has been enjoyed in a long time. The spot light giving the different costumes varied hues as the girls execute the many fascinating steps. Betty Farrington, the pretty leading lady, won scores on her fascinating appearance alone, but with a splendid contralto voice and a few well chosen numbers, she at times stole the show. Ben Loring, the comedian who is taking the place of Eddie Dowling, is more than filling his predecessor's shoes and is sending the patrons into convulsions of laughter at every performance, scoring exceptionally heavy with his topical song, "I'm Saving Up Coupons," being a satire on the tobacco coupon saving habit. In the sketch, "The Book Agent," Harry Crawford is seen at his best.

The farce is one long continued rear of mirth and merriment from start to finish. Walter Morrison and Ray Pendleton offer a pleasing little comedy novelty in "You're a Wonderful Boy," interspersed with a little comedy between verses and the number is going exceedingly well with the patrons.

"At the Parisian Ball," the final number of the big bill, presents everybody in the company with an opportunity to do something and they all take advantage, leaving a pleasant remembrance with the patrons.

THE KASINO

There may be smoother surfaces in Massachusetts than that at the Kasino, but all discerning hereabouts agree that the Kasino is the smoothest and most enjoyable for the pleasures of the terrace. There is so little resistance presented that dancers fairly glide through space. Miner's orchestra is always in attendance, and that means the very best music available in this section. Get the Kasino habit!

THE OWL THEATRE

Two extra good features shown at the owl today, "Masters of Fate" in three parts, and "The City" in two parts are both of genuine merit. "The Newer Woman," a comedy, is a fine satire on modern manners. Others were well received, and Jack Dalton's singing was vigorously applauded. The same show today.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. William Kelley and Miss Sadie A. Smith, two popular young people of Forge Village, were married yesterday, the ceremony being performed at a nuptial mass celebrated at St. Catherine's church by Rev. Edmund T. Schofield. The bridegroom was Miss Annie O'Neil of this city, while the best man was Mr. Herbert Smith, a brother of the bride. The latter wore a white silk dress, while the bridegroom was gowned in blue silk. After the ceremony a breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, and at noon the couple left on a short wedding tour through New Hampshire.

CORNELL-KNOWLTON

Clarence J. Cornell of Nashua, N. H., and Miss Edith Edger, daughter of this city were married at the parsonage of the Pearl St. Free Baptist church in Portsmouth, N. H., the officiating clergyman being Rev. Edwin P. Moulton.

MATTHEWS-DOUGHTY

Late yesterday afternoon the marriage of Alexander Matthews and Mary Doughty took place at St. Patrick's rectory, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Joseph A. Curran. The couple were attended by Miss Kathleen Doughty, a sister of the bride, and Daniel Owens. The bride wore a gown of white silk with shadow lace, while the bridegroom wore a dress of white embroidered velvet. The happy couple left in the evening on a wedding trip to Albany and New York.

To Discard Freckles, Tan, Pimples, Wrinkles

The use of creams on the face sometimes causes hair to grow. You can avoid the risk of acquiring superfluous hair by avoiding cosmetics and using a natural skin cream. The latter is naturally replaced by a clear, smooth, healthy complexion. Full of life and expression. It's the sensible way to discard a freckled, tanned, over-red, blotchy or pimply skin. Get an ounce of natural skin cream. Apply it to your face and apply slightly like cold cream, evening in the morning with soap and water. It takes a week or so to complete the transformation. The ideal wrinkle eradicator is made by dissolving an ounce of powdered salicylic acid in a half pint white hazel. Bathing the face in the solution brings almost instantaneous results.

The assessors announced that there is an increase of $3,055.55 in valuation over a year ago. A large part of the increase comes from the higher valuation placed on old real estate in Fitchburg. PULLED AROUND SHAFT

THEODORE HOLMES KILLED IN FITCHBURG PAPER MILL—
SKULL FRACTURED

FITCHBURG, July 23.—Theodore Holmes, aged 52 years, was killed yesterday at the Crocker Burbank paper mill by being pulled around a revolving shaft.

He was at work on a winding machine when part of his clothing caught on a thumbscrew and he was pulled over the shaft. His body fell to the floor after being pulled around once.

WHY FAT RETURNS IF TAKEN OFF BY EXERCISE

Since fat is the result of particularly easy assimilation of food, which too readily turns into fatty substances, the exercise for reduction must be very vigorous to tear down the tissues and as rapidly as exercise builds a larger muscular foundation, more fat is developed. For the early part of the time which you are exercising flesh is turned into muscle, but the action of the stomach being unchanged and the flesh being more easily developed than muscle it is not long until the exercise has increased the weight. Of late years, the slender form is possible without making oneself miserable by dieting or indulging in violent exercises to reduce fat. Make up and take this simple reducer and your weight will soon be just where you want it. Dissolve 4 ounces parnotis (which every good druggist has in his store) in 1 1/2 pints hot water; when it cools strain and take a tablespoonful before meals. This parnotis reducer acts gently, is quite harmless and entirely satisfactory results are quickly attained. It leaves the flesh firm and well moulded.

HOME RULE CONFERENCE

JAMES LOWTHER, SPEAKER OF
SIDES AT SESSIONS IN LONDON

JAMES LOWTHER

LONDON, July 23.—James Lowther, speaker of the house of commons, presides at the Irish home rule bill conference called by King George. The king's address at the start of the sessions at once aroused a bitter discussion as to the royal attitude on the Ulster question. King George took the initiative in calling two representatives from each party in parliament together for the purpose of compromising on the home rule bill, which was recently passed and which is now facing an amendment.

POLITELY ASKED TO QUIT

AFFAIRS

LONDON, July 24.—An Athens despatch to the Daily Telegraph says that the former minister to Greece, George Fred Williams, has published a third manifesto on Albanian affairs, in which he attacks Zogras, president of the government of Northern Epirus, and urges his removal. It is reported that Mr. Williams went to Santa Quaranta with the intention of assuming the direction of affairs, according to this despatch, but he was politely requested to quit.

REASONS FOR ANNEXATION

It Would Offer Opportunities for Establishing Homes and Bring
Wider Field for Industries

Secretary Murphy of the Lowell board of trade when asked his opinion relative to The Sun's movement for annexation said he believed that Lowell needs more territory and that this can be had only by annexation.

Referring to statistics which he had on hand, Mr. Murphy showed the congested districts of our city.

What he said in the course of a talk with a Sun reporter is summarized in the following article:

"The question of extending the corporate limits of the city is one which offers considerable argument pro and con, and which should obtain the careful study and serious consideration of the citizens of the city.

"A larger city with greater population requires extensive land area suitable for the development of homes with sufficient land for small garden purposes for the masses. This extension is equivalent to increased prosperity in all lines.

"The population of Lowell is extremely large compared with its area and contrasted with other cities of Massachusetts. Lowell's area of 144 square miles is exceedingly small and congestion of population in many districts and sections is obvious.

"The following figures concerning the distribution of congested population of the city may be of interest:

"Population of city 111,000; the population of the congested area is 60,000. The population residing within half-mile radius of Merrimack square is about 33,000, while the population living within a mile radius of Merrimack square is 53,000.

"That section of Lowell which could be encircled by drawing a line up Cabot street from the Lawrence mills to the North common, then to Pawtucket street and Perkins street has a population of over 11,000 people or about 175 people per acre.

"The section bounded by the mills along the Merrimack river and Merrimack street has a population of 9,000 people or about 150 people per acre.

"A section of Centralville extending from West street to Bridge street to Hildreth has a population of 6,000 people or about 150 people per acre.

and Floyd shows a population of 300, or about 125 people per acre.

"Almost any section within a mile radius of Merrimack square will show a population averaging from 90 to 175 people per acre.

"These congested districts show at a glance the necessity of extending our boundaries, in order to enable people to move out and enjoy the facilities of the city such as fire protection and water supply, sewerage system, schools, parks and playgrounds. With all these facilities extended people will naturally move to outlying districts.

As a City Prospects

"A fast growing community attracts capital and with capital comes the establishment of industries which in turn causes steady employment, and an influx of good citizens, a most noteworthy help in the development of any city.

"Lowell has a welcome for any new industry and special diligence in securing new and well paying industries is exerted by the board of trade new enterprise committee. Manufacturing sites are becoming scarce, especially those having railroad facilities and water privileges and the further extension of our territory will open up new sites of unquestionable merit. No large concern approves of locating outside the city limits, but desires to locate within easy reach of available help.

"Capital is often more easily secured for new enterprises located in the heart of a city than in a smaller town or located on the outskirts and the boundary lines demand extension if new industries are to find favorable locations.

"The successful results according to leading cities from annexation are such as to warrant the expediency of a similar movement here.

"Extensive area permits of reasonable purchases of land by citizens for home building and this feature is to be encouraged because a home owner is generally a good citizen and this method provides an opportunity for the savings banks of the city to invest locally. Sites for school buildings and other municipal uses, parks and playgrounds, so much needed at present, can be secured at low prices and tracts of desirable undeveloped land will be utilized to the advantage of all.

"Greater Lowell should include all the land within a three-mile radius of Merrimack square which would include the populated parts of Draught, Navy Yard, Collinsville, Wamest, No. Chelmsford.

"Annexation should mean increased pride in community spirit tending to combine the many interests for the general good and proving to the world that 'Lowell is a city of opportunity.'

SAVED WOMAN'S LIFE

MARTIN DACEY OF LOWELL MADE
HEROIC RESCUE AT WALTHAM—
CHIEF MCNAMEE ALSO HELPED

The Waltham Tribune of Monday has the following interesting story of the rescue of a woman from drowning by Martin Dacey, formerly of this city.

Clad in a white coat and apron, Martin Dacey of Auburn, who dived from a boat at the Norumbega bathhouse to the rescue of Mrs. William Heidecker of this city when she was about to go down for the third time. With the assistance of Charles McNamee, chief at the Norumbega cafe on the river, and Fred Grant, who was stringing in the water, Dacey brought the drowning woman to the float.

In a short time she had recovered sufficiently to be taken to the metropolitan park police station nearby where she was worked over for fully an hour and a half.

Although the accident occurred within a hundred yards of the police station no patrolman responded to cries for help and undoubtedly it was not for the work of Dacey and those who assisted him the accident would have had a fatal termination.

In the canoe at the time with Mrs. Heidecker was Miss Maud Eriksen of Riverside, and neither of the women could swim.

Fred Grant, a full-blooded Indian, was the first to go to the assistance of the struggling women when their craft overturned and when Dacey arrived on the scene had gone down twice and was nearly throttled by Mrs. Heidecker in her frantic attempts to reach the shore.

McNamee rushed onto the float and threw a life preserver to the three in the water and assisted them to the float.

Dacey is manager of the River Casino at the Norumbega bathhouse and has held that position for the past five summers. Both Chief McNamee and Dacey are popular among the throngs of canoeists that visit the restaurant during the summer and deserve considerable credit for their rescue work. They are both residents of Lowell during the winter months.

Mrs. Heidecker is well known in this city and at present is in charge of the ice cream tables at 'Nutting's-on-the-Charge.'

REFUSED TO TAKE CASH

GRESSMAN RETURNS PAY TO
UNCLE SAM

CONGRESSMAN S.A. WITHERSPOON

This photograph shows now famous Congressman Samuel Andrew Witherspoon of Meriden, Miss., who refused to accept cash from Uncle Sam which he did not earn by his honest toil. Mr. Witherspoon was absent from the house of representatives for four days in April, 1911, on private business, and upon receiving his check his conscience would not permit him to accept the salary for the four days which he was absent, and he returned $52.50 in the United States treasury. It seems that somewhere in the statute book there is a law that a member of congress shall not draw pay for the days that he is absent from public duty. Mr. Witherspoon told no one of his action, but it recently leaked out, and now the Mississippi is more or less of a hero.

THREE FIREMEN BURNED

HEAT EXPLOSION AT SMALL WOR-CESTER FIRE SENDS MEN HURT-
LING BACKWARD DOWNSTAIRS

WORCESTER, July 23.—As the result of a back draft during a fire in a small two-story house at 94 Bangor street yesterday, three members of the fire department were burned. The most seriously burned are Geo.

W. King and John Conlin, chauffeurs for Chief Wesley N. Avery. They are in City hospital. King is suffering from third degree burns all over the face, neck, hands and lower part of the arms. Much of his hair was singed off. Conlin has similar burns of the second degree.

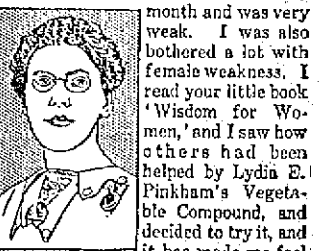

Dist. Chief Charles L. McCarthy suffered burns about the face and head but remained on duty. The trio were burned when they dashed up the front stairs of the burned building and forced a door to the room where the flames were the fiercest. King and Conlin were in the lead with Chief McCarthy following closely. A terrible explosion occurred, throwing the men, enveloped in a sheet of fire, backward down the stairs.

LOCAL GREEK COMMUNITY

Raising Money for Remodeling of School — Greeks Fooled by a Railroad Offer Return Penniless

President Tavoularis of the local Greek community informed The Sun this morning that he believes work will be started on remodeling the Phunkett residence in Worthen street for a parochial school in a very short time, for the funds to make the proposed alterations are coming in fast. The work will be rushed along and it is believed that the building will be ready for the opening of the fall session in September.

The members of the school committee have started a fund raising campaign among their people and they find that the men are very generous. Of course there is a reason, for most Greeks believe in educating and training their children in a Greek school and as the old school in the church building in Jefferson street is condemned by order of the board of health other quarters must be provided.

A collection is being taken up at church every Sunday and the committee headed by the president of the community will start Saturday a store-to-store canvass and it is believed in this manner $2000 will be raised in a short time. Some of the business men of the colony have signified their intention of donating from $50 to $100 and all contributions will be cheerfully received by any member of the school committee. About $12,000 will be needed to push the work through and the president said if his people contribute the sum of $5000 or $7000 the church will see that the remainder of the needed sum is secured.

The school committee will hold an interesting meeting some night next week at which time all plans for the remodeling of the building will be completed.

It is reported that several more Greeks have returned from the west where they had been lured to go by representatives of a railroad company who had misinformed them as to the nature of the work and the pay the men were to receive. Some of those who have returned reported that a large number of their fellow countrymen who left Lowell and other eastern cities to go to the west are penniless and cannot return to their families in New England. An effort will be made to raise funds to have some of them returned to Lowell and other Massachusetts and New Hampshire cities and it is believed that the sons of Athens will get caught in such offers from the golden west.

NEW HAVEN SUIT

declared to be unimportant. Of 1625 miles of trolleys in this section, the bill says, the New Haven controls about 1500 miles, having 81 per cent. of the mileage and traffic.

Results of Monopoly

According to the bill, from this control by one system there has resulted: Unreasonable delay in delivering freight, the use of inferior and unsafe rolling stock, the lack of proper signal systems and safety devices, the destruction of the autonomy in rates making of the units now combined, the suppression of competition among these units, the diversion of freight traffic to the New Haven company, an effort to increase freight rates and dilatory and arbitrary methods in dealing with shippers.

Restore New England Competition

The bill asks for specific relief from this condition and prays the court to order the sale to persons not stockholders, agents or otherwise not connected with the New Haven of all its interests in the Boston & Maine Railroad Co. in the Rutland Railroad Co. in the New England Railroad Co. and in all the wharves and water terminals acquired by it and asks for a permanent injunction to prevent their return to New Haven control. It also asks for an order directing the cancellation of a joint lease between the New Haven and the New York Central railroad by which the profits of operating the Boston and Albany road are shared. This lease, the New Haven declared months ago it had cancelled and if the court finds this action to have been taken it will not be necessary to press for this order. The bill includes also the customary prayer for general relief by which the court is requested to take any steps it deems necessary to restore competition to New England.

The bill has been under preparation by the department of justice for nearly a year. It is an exhaustive analysis of the rise of the New Haven system, covering more than 100 printed pages.

Agreement With the B. & M.

A feature of the bill is its history of the development of transportation in New England up to and beyond the point where the New Haven is declared to have reached out to seize it all. The brief contains what purports to be a copy of an agreement made on March, 1912, at the home of the late J. P. Morgan in New York between representatives of the New Haven and the Boston & Maine road, then the two dominating factors in New England transportation. By that agreement, subsequently approved by the directors of both roads, the Boston & Maine agreed to keep out of the territory south of the Boston & Albany railroad which runs across the center of Massachusetts, but to support the acquisition of lines in that territory by the New Haven. The New Haven, in turn, agreed to keep out of territory north of the Boston & Albany but to approve the acquisition of any lines there by the Boston & Maine. That agreement, so far as the bill alleges, was never terminated, but subsequent to the New Haven, after seeing the Boston & Maine acquire the Northern lines in turn took over the Boston & Maine and had no competitor in the field save the Vermont Central and Grand Trunk which touch a few of the many towns and villages in New England.

The bill points to the great industries in New England whose products go to every part of the nation and shows that the New Haven, by its transportation monopoly, handles the products of these industries of importance to every section of the country.

Scores New Haven Methods

The bill scores the methods used by the New Haven to perfect its combination.

"In accomplishing these results," it says, "elusive, complicated and indirect methods have been resorted to in order to conceal the real character of the transactions involved, to destroy the identity of the lines acquired and to render the casual and physical properties indistinguishable. The operations of many states have been organized or purchased and used as subsidiaries, among which the properties acquired have been distributed and redistributed in varying combinations. In some instances steamboat lines have been split up so that their terminal facilities are owned by one corporation and their boats by another. Sometimes the lines of the various railroad lines acquired have been conveyed to one company, the rolling stock and railroad tracks to another, and sometimes steamboat and trolley lines have been combined in ownership. In many instances the transactions involving physical properties have been so intermingled and involved that a recital of all their details would needlessly confuse.

"One of the purposes of referring to this complicated system has been to entrench the New Haven company in its monopolies and to make it impracticable for the government to apply specific remedies and restore original conditions. Nevertheless, the control of all properties constituting these monopolies has been vested in either the New Haven company or in some of the other defendants or in corporations controlled by it or individuals acting in its behalf."

ey yesterday afternoon and when Welch refused to take the blame for its sudden disappearance. Michael struck him several times about the face and chest. The defendant admitted that he did the striking, but said that he was intoxicated and did not realize what he was doing. Daniel J. Donahue appeared for the government.

Another assault and battery case occupied the attention of the court for a short time when John McNamara pleaded not guilty to striking one Katie Bourke, a middle-aged woman. The complainant and two other witnesses said that McNamara was hitting a small girl in the vicinity of their home, near Broadway, and when Mrs. Bourke ran out to stop him, defendant slapped her on the side of the face. The court believed that McNamara should be sent away for treatment and ordered the case continued until tomorrow for sentence.

Liquor Case

Edward J. Charron and Charles C. Vano were accused of unlawfully selling liquor on July 20 and both cases were continued until next Thursday for trial. John J. Harvey appeared for Vano.

Larceny of Hens

The case of Harry Cook, the man arrested Tuesday night by Patrolman Con Sullivan on suspicion of larceny of hens, was resumed today and it developed that the hens had been taken from the henry of one Charles Gregoire. Cook admitted the theft but said that he had a wife and four children who were stopping with a Mrs. Fiske in Carlisle and he asked for another chance to defend himself. Gregory was gone through in the hope of finding the name of Mrs. Fiske but it contained no such name and the case was continued until tomorrow for further investigation, defendant being held in the sum of $100 until that time.

After Freight Jumpers

The Boston & Maine railroad inspectors are still on the trail of freight-hoppers in and around this city and as a result of their efforts two young men were arrested to the names of Edward F. Garrity and John J. Driscoll were brought into court today. A railroad inspector stated that he saw Garrity jump on a freight car which was proceeding from this city to North Chelmsford, together with seven or eight other young men who escaped. Driscoll was accused of being on the railroad track without right. Each of the defendants was placed on probation for the term of six months.

Fined $25 for Assault

For hurling a pint bottle of milk at one Antoine Paparovich and causing him to fall from a milk wagon, the defendant, Peter Jarek, was fined $25 today. Jarek, employed on a milk wagon, was arraigned on continuance charged with assault and battery and his case went to trial under a plea of not guilty.

At about 4:30 o'clock on the morning of July 16, Jarek and Paparovich, both milkmen, met at the corner of West Fourth and Bridge streets and had a dispute about the ownership of certain milk bottles. The complainant claimed that Jarek had been picking up his bottles on various doorsteps in Centralville so he stepped up to him on this morning and asked Jarek to return the bottles. Jarek, however, denied that he had taken any of the complainant's bottles and persisted that he keep away from the Jarek wagon. Paparovich stated that he would not leave the wagon and so the defendant took a milk bottle and hit him on the forehead, inflicting a deep gash. It is alleged that Jarek then jumped into his wagon and drove away.

The defense claimed that the complainant pushed Jarek and interfered with his early morning work. Defendant was found guilty and ordered to pay a fine of $25. He appealed and a new trial was granted for the government. Jarek was released on $500 bail for the government and Bennett Silverblatt and George H. Allard for the defendant.

Frank Levesque pleaded guilty to being drunk in Dracut and was committed to the Lowell jail for the term of three months. Officer Cullinan stated that the man did not work and was without means for the community. Jarek also admitted that he drank too freely of alcoholic liquors yesterday and he was sent to jail for 30 days. Michael Riley and John A. Landry had their cases continued until tomorrow while Mary A. Taylor and Elizabeth Clark were remanded to 15 days and three months at the Lowell jail respectively. Della Racine, accused of being a lewd person, in speech and behavior, was placed on probation for six months. The defendant testified that she works every day and supports two minor children.

KING'S CONFERENCE FAILS TO REACH COMPROMISE

On Home Rule Question—Redmond and Dillon Refuse to Yield to the Demands Made and Question Will Probably Go Back to Parliament—Militant Attacks Palace

LONDON, July 23.—The absence of the hitherto prompt announcement that the conversations will be resumed tomorrow at the adjournment of today's conference at Buckingham palace between the leaders of the political parties in reference to the Ulster situation was generally accepted as an indication that their efforts to find a solution had failed.

The meeting was a little more protracted than the previous ones. It was attended by Premier Asquith and Chancellor of the Exchequer David Lloyd-George, representing the government, Andrew Bonar Law and the Marquis of Lansdowne of the regular conservative opposition, John S. Redmond and John Dillon of the Irish nationalists and Sir Edward Carson and Captain Craig of the Ulster unionists. Redmond and Dillon it is well known would not yield one iota more than was in the amending bill.

The crucial question of the area to be excluded from the control of the parliament in Dublin under the Irish home rule measure was the chief subject of discussion. It was supposed that it was found impossible by the conference to attain an acceptable compromise on this matter without further consideration. After the adjournment, Premier Asquith was in audience for ten minutes with King George, whom he informed of the situation.

John Redmond and John Dillon drove direct from the palace to Downing street, where they lunched with Mr. Lloyd George.

Militant Disturbance
A militant suffragette caused a little diversion by rushing out of the crowd and through the gates of Buckingham palace toward the visitors' entrance. There she threw a stone at a window but the missile fell short. She then stumbled and before she had got much farther on her journey she was captured by the police and taken off to the station.

other thr of the prison. Later in the day it became known from the district attorney's office that Duddy will not be tried on the murder charge, the evidence against him not justifying the district attorney in going to trial with Duddy alone.

Duddy will be taken to West Virginia, however, to answer to the charge of robbing the jewelry store of Henry Horvick of Huntington, who alleges that diamonds to the value of $15,000 were taken from his store.

Duddy had counsel appointed here, and this lawyer says the boy was simply a chance acquaintance of Robinson's and that he was never in West Virginia. He expects that Duddy will easily prove an alibi.

CAREER OF ROBINSON

Native of Ohio, Ran Away to Circus in Early Life and Began Career of Desperado

BOSTON, July 23.—Lawrence ("Chippy") Robinson, alias Albert Scott, pickpocket, gunman and lingo instructor, was born 31 years ago in Washington Courthouse, O., a small town about 40 miles from Columbus, and as a boy was pretty lively and possessed of considerable imagination.

While quite young he ran away and joined the Buffalo Bill show as an usher. From usher he became a "peanut butter," and the life of the "open road" was a short step.

Standing 5 feet 11½ inches and weighing 172 pounds, composed entirely of bone and brawn, he was strong physically, and in the underground world was considered a "bad man" and one capable of taking care of himself in the roughest company.

Robinson operated all over the country, and when he was not engaged in a store robbery or holdup confined his attention to picking pockets. The circus proved a magnet to his prey, and he followed the shows throughout the United States.

The police of Cincinnati knew him well and twice had him under arrest. While picking the pocket of a man in that city on May 17, 1910, he was detected and convicted, serving a term in the workhouse. He was later arrested for robbing a diamond store and working the crowds at Saratoga, N. Y., and at Grand Rapids, Mich.

Robinson was arrested at Cincinnati in broad daylight. He had a companion with him and by the time the police reached the shop, after Robinson and his pal left, there were three dead men on the floor and the showmen had been looted, thousands of dollars' worth of diamonds having been taken.

A similar crime was enacted at Huntington, W. Va., and it was blamed on Robinson, but he escaped capture. Gun play figured in the holdup, and the loot consisted of diamonds, of which Robinson always had a considerable number, several being found in a secret pocket of his coat when arrested.

A leading private detective agency was after Robinson for the Grand Rapids job. They received their information from a man who was in the job with him and who turned state evidence. A country-wide search was made.

He was traced to Boston through information furnished the police by a girl in Pittsboro who was friendly with Duddy, the youth who was in Robinson's company the afternoon of his arrest in the Boylston Cafe.

The detectives called at police headquarters and Inspector Norton was sent out with another officer to make the arrest. They were accompanied by the man from the private agency. Norton was told that Robinson was a bad man and would shoot himself free if possible.

He used the revolver, killing Inspector Norton, but before he could make his escape he was knocked down by a girl in Pittsboro who was friendly with Duddy, the youth who was in Robinson's company the afternoon of his arrest in the Boylston Cafe.

Yesterday morning, Mrs. Robinson seemed much relieved over the sudden death of her son, but as she had no message to give to the public, would not talk.

Lawrence Robinson's wife, whom he married 10 years ago, has since lived in this city with her parents, but she had nothing to say regarding her husband's suicide. The body will be brought to Washington Courthouse for burial in the family lot.

3000 MAY STRIKE

Demands of the Freight Handlers Refused—B. & M. to Answer Soon

BOSTON, July 23.—A strike of more than 3000 freight handlers employed on the Boston & Maine, the Boston & Albany and the New Haven roads is threatened unless an agreement is reached between the committees representing the Freight Handlers' union and the officials of these roads.

Two conferences were held at the office of Pres. MacDonald of the Boston & Maine at the North station yesterday. After being told it was believed their requests were just, according to members of the union committee, they were requested to return in the afternoon for a further conference. They were then told that the company could not stand the expense of increasing the wages and that no answer could be given until after the proposition is placed before the directors of the road next Thursday at noon.

A meeting of Local 5572, Freight Handlers' union of the Boston & Maine system, will be held next Sunday afternoon, when this report of the committee will be given the men. It was stated by members of the committee the men will vote to authorize their delegates to the joint council of freight handlers to order a strike whenever they believe it is necessary.

The members of the union are now receiving $13.50 for a six-day week, of 10 hours a day, with pay stopped on all holidays they do not work. The committee showed Pres. MacDonald that the men are getting much less than $700 a year on which to support large families in some cases.

The demands of the men call for an increase in wages of 15 per cent, and a decrease in working hours from 10 to nine hours a day.

A number of conferences had been held with the officials of the roads and last month, at the request of Pres. MacDonald, the matter was dropped until July 22, when, he informed them, they would receive a final answer.

This proposition of Pres. MacDonald was laid before the freight handlers' joint council, which includes representatives of the New Haven and the Boston & Albany roads. It was accepted by the council and voted that the same proposition be given other roads, with the request that a final answer be given at that time.

The freight handlers' committee on the New Haven was informed that it would be impossible to give an answer for certain on July 22, owing to the number of officials to be consulted, but that an answer would be given some time during the week.

When the afternoon session started, Pres. MacDonald told the men that he had been talking over the situation with General Manager Pollock and that he decided that the demands could not be granted.

Michael White, international vice president of the Freight Handlers' union, who acted as chairman of the committee, said that he is willing to go before the interstate commerce commission or the Boston chamber of commerce or any other reputable body and explain how the officials of the New Haven, who are in the controlling hands of the Boston & Maine, the throwing all the freight revenue possible away from the B. & M., and that the stockholders of the B. & M. are not receiving the care and attention that their interests should receive.

CLAYTON BILL REPORTED

Exempts Labor and Agricultural Organizations, but Penalizes Other Combinations

WASHINGTON, July 23.—The revised Clayton antitrust bill to supplement the Sherman act was formally reported yesterday to the senate. It would penalize price discrimination, exclusive selling agreements, liberalize the injunction and contempt statutes in trade disputes, restrict interlocking directorates and holding companies, but would exempt labor, horticultural and agricultural organizations from its provisions.

The bill was introduced by Senator Clayton of Ohio. It would exempt labor and agricultural organizations, but penalizes other combinations.

PRINCIPAL FIGURES IN GOVERNMENT'S SUIT TO DISSOLVE THE NEW HAVEN RAILROAD AS A TRUST

1-ATTORNEY GENERAL McREYNOLDS
2-JAMES H. HUSTIS
3-CHARLES S. MELLEN.

WASHINGTON, July 23.—Following President Wilson's action in instructing Attorney General McReynolds to proceed civilly and criminally against the New Haven railroad and certain of its directors for alleged violations of the Sherman anti-trust law definite steps were taken for a long and bitter legal battle which is expected to reveal the whole inner workings of frenzied railroad finance. The president in his letter of instruction to the attorney general charged the New Haven management with breaking faith with the government by repudiating the reorganization agreement entered into last January. Mr. Wilson referred to the reasons given by the New Haven directors for refusing to sell the Boston and Maine stock under restrictions proposed by the Massachusetts legislature as a "slight pretext" and characterized their action as "inexplicable" and "entirely without justification." The civil suit for the dissolution of the New Haven will contain several features harsher than those embodied in the voluntary agreement. One of these will be a demand for the divorcing of the steamship lines, the disposition of which was left under the agreement to a decision by the interstate commerce commission. The criminal proceedings probably will be before the federal grand jury in New York city. The correspondence made public between the attorney general and James H. Hustis, president of the New Haven, discloses the fact that the attorney general will refuse to recognize the claims of immunity advanced by Charles S. Mellen because of his appearance before the interstate commerce commission in the recent New Haven inquiry. It is made clear that the department intends to proceed criminally against Mr. Mellen and certain of the directors who are regarded as responsible for the alleged monopoly. The names of the men against whom criminal prosecutions will be directed were not made public.

VANCOUVER, B. C., July 23.—With the time fixed today for the departure of the steamer Komagata with her 325 troublesome Hindu passengers whose deportation has been ordered by the Canadian government, Vancouver immigration authorities backed by the cruiser Rainbow and a company of militia were prepared to enforce the sailing orders today.

The Japanese steamer has been in port more than three months during which the status of the East Indians has been passed upon by the highest courts.

NO DEMONSTRATION

VANCOUVER, B. C., July 23.—The Japanese steamer Komagata with her load of Hindus who resisted the Canadian government's order of deportation for more than three months left the harbor today bound for the Orient. The Hindu passengers made no demonstration and the services of the local militia companies which spent the night on a wharf in anticipation of another outbreak, were not needed.

LARCENY FROM BANK

IS CHARGE AGAINST LYNN MAN WHO WAS ARRESTED IN PORTLAND FOR OFFICERS

PORTLAND, Me., July 23.—Herbert Parker Lord of Lynn, but with a family this city, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Inspector Boston, at the request of Chief Police Inspector W. H. Thorn of Lynn, for alleged larceny and will be taken to Lynn by an officer from that city.

Charged with Forgery and Larceny of $255 from the National City Bank of Lynn

LYNN, July 23.—Herbert P. Lord has been indicted by the grand jury in Essex county for forgery and larceny of $255. He worked for a firm in Bangor and was sent to Boston with stock certificates which he was to give to a Boston broker.

It is alleged that he sold the certificates to some other broker and received a check for $275. He is alleged to have forged his employer's name and cashed it at the National City bank of Lynn. It is also understood that the check was cashed through the aid of a relative living here who was not aware that the check was supposed to have been forged.

The International Text Book company of Scranton, Pa., paid H. H. Knight, attorney, $550 to oppose the bill to prohibit correspondence schools from speculative dealing in stocks and bonds.

BURNED PAPERS IN CELL

Guards Thought That Robinson Was Signaling for Jail Delivery—Other Incidents Before Suicide

BOSTON, July 23.—Little incidents in the experience of the officers of the jail who were guarding Robinson now take on a new significance in consideration of his suicide yesterday morning.

One night last week, when an extra guard was on duty at the jail, in consequence of the rumors that an attempt was to be made to rescue Robinson, one of the guards saw a flicker of light in Robinson's cell. Watching closely from a place of concealment, the guard soon saw another light, and within a short time he saw a third light. Upon investigating more closely the guard discovered that Robinson had burned three small pieces of paper.

Immediately it was suspected that this was a signal by Robinson to his friends outside that the time was ripe for them to make their attack upon the jail in the effort to obtain his release. The incident created a little scare, and extra guards were put on duty, but nothing unusual happened. Efforts to induce Robinson to talk about the incident or to explain its significance and why he burned the three papers failed completely.

Later, when nothing unusual happened, the guards began to regard the incident as a joke on the part of Robinson, who was endeavoring to have some fun at their expense and to give them a scare.

Another incident which makes the guards sure now that Robinson was contemplating suicide all during last week is now brought to mind. The guards had been in the habit of giving the prisoner tablets to aid him in sleeping. A guard visited him in his cell every half hour during the night.

The prisoner finally became apparently vexed at the officers and asked them to leave the tablet on the chair in his cell. He said he did not wish them to awaken him and that was what they did every time they came to his cell. He said, "I know when and how to take my medicine. I know that I am to take one every hour and I will take it all right if you will only leave it on the chair."

The pills were never left on the chair for Robinson. The guards instantly suspected that he wished to make an accumulation of the tablets so as to take a number of them at one and the same time in a sufficient position to kill him. It is said that the tablets contained a certain drug which would have killed Robinson had he been able to take a sufficient quantity at one time.

DADDY NOT TO BE TRIED

Companion of Robinson Will Be Taken to West Virginia to Answer Charges of Robbery

BOSTON, July 23.—One man in the Charles street jail last night really benefited by Robinson's suicide. He is Joseph Duddy, alias Joseph Daniels, who was with Robinson on June 12 in the Boylston Cafe when Inspector Norton was shot. Duddy was indicted jointly with Robinson for murder.

He was confined, until yesterday morning, in a cell on the same row with Robinson's, but when the news of the latter's suicide came out, Duddy was hastily removed to a room on another floor.

NOTICE

To My Customers and the Fuel Buying Public: Commencing today, and continuing until September 1, 1914, the week's work will end at my yards at 12 o'clock Saturday noon. I purport to give my men this half-holiday without loss of pay.

I do this in gratitude to my employees for the way they conducted themselves during the recent strike. When the strike went into effect I had thirty-odd cars of coal in Lowell and in towns outside of Lowell, or in transit from the mines. These cars I was actually obliged to unload, or pay the railroad companies $1.00 per day on each car after two days. I had to employ help wherever I could get them, and my striking teamsters and helpers never interfered with them or myself in any way.

I also intend to continue this Saturday half-holiday during May, June, July and August next year. (Signed) JOHN P. PREVENTED TRAIN WRECK

Mr. J. R. Stratton Found Sleeper on Track in South Lowell and Removed it

Were it not for the prompt action of Mr. J. R. Stratton, manufacturer of the Stratton no-grit hand soap, 50 Adams street, a disastrous train accident might have occurred yesterday at South Lowell, owing to a serious obstruction on the track. Mr. Stratton is an old-time train man, having worked for more than 30 years on the Intercolonial railroad in Canada and at his long experience he saw many train accidents due to far less serious causes than that which he was instrumental in removing yesterday.

Mr. Stratton related the incident this morning to a representative of The Sun, as follows:

"Yesterday afternoon about 3.45, I was on business in South Lowell and was taking a short cut along the tracks. About 500 feet south of the station I was horrified to find a sleeper torn up and out of place. In it was embedded part of a brake rod about eight feet long and jointed. One arm of the section was across the track and the broken joint pointed directly north, thus giving a double chance for a serious accident. My first thought was to break the glass of the station door, go into the building and notify Lowell and the other nearby stations of the obstruction by telephone, but I realized the danger of this. I then determined to remove it myself if possible, intending in the meantime to flag any train that might approach in either direction. After striving hard I succeeded in getting the sleeper back into place temporarily and removed the broken brake rod which had done all the damage. You can imagine how I felt when, not five minutes afterwards, a train headed south came from the direction of Lowell. Had the train come that way a short time before, there is little doubt in my mind but that there would have been a serious accident."

PORTLAND, Me., July 23.—John J. McLaughlin, for whom an estate worth several millions is said to be held in trust in England, was arraigned before Judge Clarence Hale in the United States court today on an indictment returned four years ago charging use of the mails with intent to defraud. McLaughlin was held in the sum of $1000 for the September term. He was arrested in Washington recently and was brought to this city by Deputy Marshal Robinson when it was learned that he was wanted here on a more serious charge than that brought against him in Washington.

ASKED TO BE LOCKED UP

EIGHT YOUNG MEN DRIVEN DESPERATE BY INABILITY TO PURCHASE HABIT-FORMING DRUGS

NEW YORK, July 23.—Driven desperate by their inability to purchase habit-forming drugs since July 1 when the new state laws prohibiting their sale became effective, eight young men applied to the police yesterday and today and asked to be locked up. Several of the voluntary prisoners declared that if they were not placed in confinement they feared they would either commit murder or suicide.

"Either give us the drug or lock us up until we are cured," summed up their appeal.

To meet the situation steps have been taken to open a hospital for the detention and treatment of the victims and others who may apply.

STOP FIRING GUNS IN HARBOR

HULL, July 23.—A recommendation that the firing of the large guns in Boston harbor forts be permanently discontinued, will be made to the war department by Col. C. J. Bailey of the Coast Artillery corps stationed at New York, according to a statement given out by Francis S. Bryant, president of the Old Benon club last night. Colonel Bailey looked over the situation today. The trouble arose last week when several shots from Boston harbor forts landed in the town, during target practice.

DASTARDLY AUTO DRIVER

DASHED THROUGH CROWD OF CHILDREN, KILLING ONE—THEN FLED FROM POLICE

NEW YORK, July 23.—A high powered runabout carrying two men and one woman whizzed through Forty-first street, Brooklyn, from Eighth to Ninth avenues about 9 o'clock last evening. Innumerable children were playing in the street while their parents sat on the steps of the houses chatting and thinking to keep a watchful eye on the little ones.

The automobile driver gave no heed to the little ones in the street. Traveling at a speed between fifty and sixty miles an hour the car struck a group of four little ones. One of the children was killed instantly. The three others, while having narrow escapes from death, received lacerations of the face and head.

Mario Bruci, 3 years old, who was at play in front of her home, 511 Forty-first street, was killed. The wound of children are Mary Bruci, 4 years old, a sister of the dead child; Grace Brucilla, 5 years old, of Forty-first street and Eighth avenue, and Thomas Wartenello, 7 years old, of 4015 Eighth avenue.

Police Give Chase

The automobile had sped through the group of playing children without any sign on the part of the driver to avoid the little ones or to slacken his speed. The shrieks of the parents and the shouts of horrified spectators did not move the driver, for the car went on with apparently increasing speed, through Forty-first street and passing Ninth avenue.

A policeman who was near Ninth avenue and saw the accident jumped into an automobile standing at the corner and chased the automobile, but after two blocks or so his car was compelled to stop because a B. R. T. train intervened.

Meantime the automobile with the three passengers went on several blocks until it reached Fort Hamilton parkway. There the car stopped. The three persons were seen to alight and grab the number plates on the front and rear. Then leaving the car they darted around the corner and disappeared before the pursuing policeman could get any description of them or the direction they were taking.

Death Car Is Seized

The policeman seized the automobile and caused it to be driven to the Fourth avenue police station. A search revealed the fact that no numbers were left on the machine to indicate the person owning or driving it, but the number on the engine undoubtedly will give a clue.

RESTORATION OF PEACE OR ARMED INTERVENTION

United States Issues Ultimatum
to Haiti and San Domingo —
Warring Factions Continue
Fighting — Many Killed

WASHINGTON, July 23.—Possibility of American intervention in Haiti and San Domingo to restore peace continued today to be the topic of discussion in administration circles. Late official dispatches regarding the situation in the revolutionary torn republics gave but little hope that the contending elements in the two countries would be able to restore order.

Under European pressure the American government's patience practically has been exhausted with the various elements in Haiti and San Domingo, and it will demand a restoration of peace or threaten armed intervention. The gravity of the situation was increased by the refusal of the warring factions to cease fighting, despite the American government's warnings and failure to settle the Dominican revolution by diplomacy.

The question of a possible movement of marines into Haiti was up for discussion at today's conference between Secretaries Bryan and Daniels. With the 100 marines who are to sail from Norfolk, Va., for Guantanamo on Saturday the number of marines now there or on American warships in Haitian and Dominican waters would be increased to more than 300. If necessary, reinforcements would be drawn from the nearly 400 marines now in Vera Cruz and Mexican waters.

Captain Eberle of the cruiser Washington to Puerto Plata, San Domingo, in a dispatch to the navy department early today reported that the lighthouse there has been damaged by fire firing between the revolutionary factions.

MANY REBELS KILLED IN FIERCE BATTLE IN STREETS AT CAPE HAITIEN

WASHINGTON, July 23.—Many Haitian rebels were summarily executed at Cape Haitien yesterday after the government forces had won a fierce two-hour battle in the streets with 500 revolutionaries, who, had gained entrance into the town early in the morning before the garrison was aware.

Captain Russell of the battleship South Carolina reported the affair to the navy department. His dispatch said the government troops, numbering 400, repulsed the attack with a loss of eight men killed. The rebels, after losing 31 killed, fled in disorder. Many sought refuge in houses from which they were dragged later for execution.

Sec. Bryan will confer today with Sec. Daniels about a possible movement of marines into Haiti. Already large discretionary orders have been given Capt. Russell, but final decision as to whether force is to be used by the American government has been deferred.

Solen Menos, the Haitian minister, conferred yesterday with Sec. Bryan and urged that intervention would result in a number of counter-revolutions, necessitate the dissolution of the present government and even the abdication of the president.

DEATH BY POISONING

LEONISTER CASE BEING INVESTIGATED—DRUGGIST SAYS LANE GOT WRONG MIXTURE

LEONISTER, July 23.—Medical Examiner Thompson of Fitchburg was in conference with the police this afternoon regarding the death of Ralph W. Lane by poisoning and the serious illness of Miss Isabel Woodward and Miss Emma Cloutier from the same cause. When the medical examiner examined the body of Lane Tuesday night he declared that the young man evidently died from something more fatal than ptomaine poisoning and has since been working on that theory in conjunction with an investigation by the police.

It was learned that the young people drank a wine concoction in mistake for sherry. It is declared that after they had gathered at the Woodward home, where the luncheon took place last Saturday night, Lane went downtown and at a certain drug store obtained the drink.

The claim of the druggist is that Lane, who is accustomed to visit the store, helped himself to the concoction while the proprietor was in the basement repairing a soda-fountain tank and that the druggist did not discover the mistake Lane had made until he learned from one of the party at the Woodward home that Lane had visited the pharmacy.

TO DESTROY CAPITAL
DURAZZO, Albania, July 23.—A note threatening to destroy the capital of Albania unless Prince William of Wied tendered his abdication of the rulership was headed today by the Musselman insurgents to the representatives of the European powers here.

The insurgents added that in case the warships fired at them they would spare neither the European nor the other inhabitants of the city.

The note asserted that the abdication of Prince William was the only way to avert civil war as they were determined to have a different form of government.

FIVE STRIKERS KILLED

Fighting Continues Between the Strikers, Police and Cossacks
in Russia

ST. PETERSBURG, July 23.—At least five striking workmen were killed and eight seriously wounded during the fighting in the streets of St. Petersburg between the strikers and police and Cossacks, which continued throughout the night until dawn this morning. Three police officials also are known to have been severely injured.

These figures are official, but it is generally understood that the casualties among the strikers were much heavier.

Official returns show a total of 139,000 strikers in the city itself.

Men carrying red flags spent the night marching and singing revolutionary songs. In the Viborg district they cut down the telegraph poles and upset a number of vans with which they constructed barricades across the streets and from the shelter of which they stoned the police and Cossacks. The mob is also accused of having fired some revolver shots. The strikers, however, eventually dispersed and the barricades were destroyed.

Only after the police and soldiers had been subjected to an attack with volleys from their rifles in return.

Early today the strikers attempted to set fire to the Sampson bridge leading across the river to the Viborg district and they also tried to burn another bridge, but both were unsuccessful.

4 HORSES SUFFOCATED

OTHER LIVESTOCK ALSO LOST IN
FIRE WHICH DESTROYS BARN OF
GEORGE S. HOWE IN NEWTON, N. H.

NEWTON, N. H., July 23.—Fire yesterday afternoon completely destroyed the large farm barn of State Representative George S. Howe at Rowe's Corner and endangered several other buildings. At one time four buildings were afire, but the flames were brought under control by the local fire department, aided by volunteers. One colt valued at $300 and three horses, a bull and other livestock were suffocated.

The fire spread to a hayfield nearby and consumed several tons of hay before it was extinguished by water from a nearby pond.

The loss is placed at $4000, partly covered by insurance.

THIS BRIDE WILL CROSS ATLANTIC IN POWER LIFEBOAT SAILED BY HUSBAND

MOTOR LIFE BOAT WHICH WILL CROSS ATLANTIC—Mrs. EINAR SIVARD

A trip across the Atlantic in a 36-foot power lifeboat is not a journey that many honeymoon couples would enjoy. In fact, Einar Sivard, a New York naval architect, and his young wife, Signe Holm Sivard, will be the first ones to attempt it. They expect to sail from the Battery July 25 and go by way of Boston and Halifax to St. Johns and cross the ocean from that point to Queenstown. The Sivards were married recently. In order that the young wife may accompany her husband on the trip she will master in as cook. The crew will include a navigator, a wireless operator, an engineer and one sailor. They expect to make the trip in about a month unless the weather proves too unfavorable. The lifeboat is asserted to be non-capsizeable, non-mashable and practically non-sinkable. The boat is expected to weather any sea. Sivard says the only danger is in being run down by an ocean liner. While the lifeboat was constructed especially for this trip, she differs only in size from power lifeboats of the same type designed for actual use on ocean liners. She has a length of 36 feet and a beam of 12 feet, while the largest similar craft previously built is 30 feet long and 10 feet wide. Her upper structure is fitted with a tiny cabin for the captain and his wife and sleeping quarters for the crew. The craft is built of galvanized steel, with a water tight deck about six inches above the load water line. The space between this deck and the bottom is subdivided into numerous water tight compartments, several of which may become filled with water without in the least endangering the boat. It is equipped with a 22-horsepower four cylinder engine and gasoline tanks that will enable it to remain at sea for many days. It has also a Mercur wireless apparatus with a radius of from 50 to 100 miles.

PUTNAM HEARING CLOSED

SENSATION IS SPRUNG
IN PUTNAM HEARINGCom. Brown Moved That Charges Against Putnam be Dismissed—
Motion Defeated—Arguments
Made by Counsel—No Decision

The hearing on the charges brought by Charles J. Morse, commissioner of streets and highways, against Newell F. Putnam, superintendent of streets, was resumed in the Aldermanic chamber at city hall this forenoon.

The hearing was interrupted by a motion from Commissioner Brown to dismiss the charges against Mr. Putnam. The motion was defeated, however.

In the afternoon the arguments were made. Lawyer Dunbar making a strong plea for Mr. Putnam and City Solicitor Hennessey arguing to sustain the charges.

The hearing
Mayor Murphy declared the hearing open at 10:15 and the first witness called was Purchasing Agent Foye.

Mr. Tierney questioned the witness relative to certain lots of second-hand paving blocks, including 59,669 blocks to the Bay State Street railway at $27 a thousand, delivered in 1911 and billed in 1912. Mr. Tierney asked Mr. Foye what he knew about the transaction and the latter replied that Mr. Lees and Mr. Putnam came to his office one morning and Mr. Putnam said he had a lot of old paving blocks for sale and that he had talked it over with the mayor.

"How long was this after you took office?"

"About four months."

"And this is the only transaction that happened under your administration?"

"Yes."

"And you have no written requisition for these blocks?"

"No."

"And all the other transactions relative to blocks were prior to your time in office?"

"Yes sir."

SUIT TO COMPEL
DISSOLUTION OF
NEW HAVEN ROADFederal Government Files Bill Calling for Divorce of New Haven From the Boston & Maine and All Other Lines on Grounds That Road is Combination in Restraint of Trade—Brief Prays for Restoration of Competition in New England—Criminal Proceedings to Follow

NEW YORK, July 23.—Civil suit to compel the dissolution of the New Haven road under the Sherman anti-trust act was filed in the federal court here today by T. W. Gregory, acting for Attorney General McReynolds.

The civil suit has no actual connection with the criminal indictments to be sought by the attorney general against New Haven officers and directors. This is a different phase of the New Haven case, to be taken up later and conducted independently of the civil suit.

The New Haven is charged in the brief filed today with being a combination in restraint of trade, which controls over 50 per cent of the rail and trolley traffic of New England and about 55 per cent of the steamship transportation of that section.

The court is asked to separate the New Haven from the Boston & Maine railroad, from the old New England railroad, from its southern and outside steamship lines and from its trolleys in Rhode Island and Connecticut. Such general relief as the court deems fit is also requested and if the court deems best the brief suggests the appointment of a receiver for the road.

To Ask Criminal Indictments

Although this suit has no connection with the criminal proceedings, Mr. Gregory and J. M. Swicker, his principal assistant, may remain in New York to present to a federal grand jury evidence on which they will ask for criminal indictments of New Haven officers and directors concerned in building up the alleged illegal monopoly in restraint of trade. Failure of either case is not expected to affect the progress of the other. Officials of the department of justice have said that the New Haven may not make any determined light to prevent judgment in the civil suit except regarding the plea that it be separated from the Boston & Maine railroad. There is little question, however, that if indictments are returned by a grand jury it will mark the beginning of one of the most important criminal trials undertaken by the government in many years.

Illegal Monopoly Charged

The brief declares that the New Haven in 20 years has spread its hand over all New England so that it has an illegal monopoly of practically all the steam, trolley and steamship transportation avenues that penetrate that section. It charges that in this period the New Haven has acquired control of nine of its ten railroads, 22 of the 30 boat lines, and almost all of the trolleys in New England. It avers that the defendant controls 6541 miles of main line railroad, with passenger and freight earnings of $121,069,411, out of a total steam rail mileage of 9237 with earnings of $130,352,755 and that of 1692 miles not under its control only 411 miles are in competition with the New Haven. The rail lines, it says, earn about 91 per cent of the gross freight revenue and about 95 per cent of the gross passenger revenue of all the New England railroads. Through its boat lines, the brief says, the New Haven controls about 55 per cent of the water transportation of New England and the lines it does not control are

After Freight Jumpers—Liquor
Case Heard

Hector Beaudoin, the man arrested Tuesday for passing worthless checks, was arraigned on continuance in police court this forenoon and he changed his plea of not guilty to guilty. The complaint charged him with the larceny of $48.50 from J. C. Scribner and one dollar from Lucien Turcotte. After Beaudoin had entered his plea of guilty, Judge Welch told the court that he had served three months in jail for a similar offense during the past year or two and that a warrant for his arrest had been issued by the Boston police as a result of an alleged worthless check said to have been given to the City Master Co., of Boston, in payment for a covering car. Judge Wright ordered the defendant committed to the house of correction for the term of six months.

Larceny of Food

Mrs. Daniel Hannigan of 145 Salem street has been missing a great deal of food from an ice-chest which she keeps in the rear hall of her home, of late, according to her testimony in court today when a youth named James

J. Whalen, was called to answer to a complaint charging him with attempting to commit larceny. Although the defendant entered a plea of not guilty the evidence was against him and he was ordered to pay a fine of $10.

Patrolman Bagley testified that while patrolling his beat shortly before midnight, last night, his attention was called to the rear of the Hanigan house and upon investigation he found the defendant standing in front of the refrigerator with a lighted match in his hand. The door which opens into the hall was open. When approached by the officer, Whalen said that he was attempting to steal, but he finally admitted that he lived on Adams street and was taken to the police station. The defendant had little to say in his own behalf and the court ruled that although a petty matter the property of citizens must be protected.

Assault Case

Michael Starak was fined $30 for assault and battery upon a fellow countryman, Joseph Welch, who appeared in court with two black eyes and a badly battered countenance. It seems that the defendant missed some mon-

SUES ROOSEVELT OUTLOOK MORE HOPEFULChairman Barnes Instructs Counsel to Bring Suit for Libel

NEW YORK, July 23.—Chairman William Barnes of the republican state committee announced today that he had instructed his counsel to bring suit for libel against Theodore Roosevelt based on Col. Roosevelt's statement of last night attacking Mr. Barnes and endorsing the candidacy of Harvey D. Hinman for the nomination for governor at the republican primaries.

The amount of damages for which Mr. Barnes would sue apparently had not been determined at the time he issued his statement. It was said, however, it would be for a substantial sum. The suit will be brought in the supreme court, Mr. Barnes announced, within a few days.

AT LAKEVIEW

Swimming Races Scheduled For This Afternoon Were Postponed Till Next Thursday

The swimming races that were to be held at Lakeview this afternoon were postponed on account of the weather and will be held next Thursday afternoon if pleasant. As a special free outdoor attraction for next week, the management of Lakeview Park has engaged the Hocking Kangaroos. The kangaroos are said to be quite an adept in the muddy art and flexes a number of lively rounds at each performance, sometimes sending his opponent hurtling through the ropes from a stiff punch. The kangaroos will appear every afternoon and evening during the week.

Messrs. Lemoine, Ols and Minie Bloom of Pennsylvania returned to their home this morning, having been called to this city owing to the drowning of their brother in the Merrimack river.

FOR SETTLEMENT OF HOME RULE
DIFFICULTY BY CONFERENCE AT BUCKINGHAM PALACE

LONDON, July 23.—The termination of today's critical session of the conference at Buckingham Palace on the Ulster situation without the occurrence of a rupture created a decidedly more hopeful view among the general public as to the outcome of the discussions of the statement representing the different parties. The Irish nationalists, however, still declined to commit themselves to any expressions of optimism.

Among liberals and unionists there exists an impression that a settlement will be reached if not by the conference then outside of it. The nationalists show less confidence on this point. The finding of a solution still hinges on the discovery of a compromise in regard to the thorny problem as to whether the counties of Tyrone and Fermanagh shall be included in the area which the Ulster unionists demand shall be allowed to vote on the question of exclusion.

CITIZENS-AMERICANS MEETING

On account of the large number of new members to be initiated the Citizens-Americans club held a special meeting in its quarters in Middle street last night. President Maxine Lepine occupied the chair and 20 young men were initiated. Sixteen applications for membership were received and the number of members is increasing rapidly that even the directors of the organization are surprised at the advancement of the club.

At the close of the meeting the special committee appointed to revise the charter held an interesting meeting and discussed the various sections of the by-laws of the club and offered suggestions in the revision of the rules and regulations of the organization. It is believed that the committee will have a report to make within a short time when copies of the revised charter will be printed.

FREIGHT RATES ON SHORES

WASHINGTON, July 23.—Proposed increase in rail and water freight rates on boats and shoes from Boston and other northeastern ports to Atlanta, Ga., was permanently suspended today by the interstate commerce commission. The new tariffs would have imposed a rate of 1.65 per hundred pounds. The present rate of 75 cents was prescribed by the commission in the Boston "shoe case" decided Nov. 27, 1903.

DEMANDS FOR MARINES

WASHINGTON, July 23.—With five full regiments of marines now afloat on expeditionary work, in addition to the many men of the same service scattered throughout the Philippines and Guam and elsewhere, the marine corps is having difficulty in meeting the demands made upon it for a full fledged army to carry out the policies of the administration in regard to Haiti and San Domingo. The demand for a complement of marines for the Hancock, due in Hampton Roads in a day or two for Haitian service, has practically exhausted the resources of the corps, now recruited up to the last man and if this naval auxiliary is to continue in its present high state of efficiency it will be necessary for congress to authorize the addition of at least a full battalion to the present ten thousand members.

BOSTON, July 23.—A request that Joseph Duddy, indicted as an accomplice with Lawrence Robinson, who committed suicide yesterday, and implicated in the killing of Police Inspector Thomas J. Norton on June 13, be returned to West Virginia, was made to Governor Walsh today by Huntington, W. Va., on a charge of robbery with Robinson of the jewelry store of Henry Henshew on March 21, when it is alleged, $15,000 worth of diamonds were stolen.

District Attorney Pelletier said he would not oppose the request.

HARVEY W. TARBELL AWARDED CONTRACT FOR OILING STREETS —GOOD OIL TO BE USED

Harvey W. Tarbell of this city has been awarded the contract to oil a number of streets in the town of Tewksbury and his men started work yesterday. The town of Tewksbury will by its road commissioners will this year spend about $1000 on oiling streets, and it is believed that the work will be done in a very short time.

C. W. Farsen, chairman of the road commission stated that the town is using better oil than the city of Lowell. He said the streets of Lowell will last about a year and the town could not afford to oil its streets every year. He said the commission have decided to use a better quality of oil and to do a little work every year. Two years ago he said, a piece of road in North Tewksbury was oiled with the same kind of oil now being used and although there was considerable traffic on that particular stretch of road, the surface of the road is still in very good condition. The oil that is being used is similar to that used on the state highways.

A brief meeting of the members of the Rockhambeau council, R. A. A., was held last night at U. M. A. C. hall with Regent Albert Bergeron in the chair. The most important business to be brought to the attention of the members was that of voting a sum of money for the sufferers of the recent Salem conflagration, and the council voted to come to the assistance of their stricken brethren.

CARBALJAL DELEGATE ON WAY TO TAMPIO TO CONFER WITH GENERAL CARRANZA

WASHINGTON, July 23.—A delegate authorized by Provisional President Carbajal to negotiate for terms of peace with General Carranza was due to leave Vera Cruz today for Tampico. Within two or three days an armistice suspending hostilities throughout Mexico is expected. Carranza already has notified the state department that he will agree.

Messages from Provisional President Carbajal to that effect were shown today by his personal representative, Jesus Castolot, to Secretary Bryan.

Mr. Castolot said the report from Mexico City to the effect that an armistice already had been signed was premature but with the arrival of the Carbajal delegates at Carranza's headquarters such a truce would be made.

Luis Cabrera and Francisco Calderon, two prominent constitutionalists, have gone to Saltillo to meet their chief. Cabrera is expected to become minister of finance and Calderon will be minister of foreign relations when Carranza organizes a cabinet in Mexico City.

Officials here understood that while Carranza was willing to give guarantees and general amnesty, he would insist on reserving the right to prosecute criminally those directly concerned in the killing of Madero and Suarez.

ARCHITECT C.H. BLACKALL

CLARENCE H. BLACKALL

To Supervise Rebuilding of Salem —Says Fireproof Houses Can be Built Cheaper Than Wooden

The commission chosen to direct the rebuilding of Salem has made a wise choice in selecting Clarence H. Blackall of Boston as architect to plan and supervise the work. Mr. Blackall is the architect who had charge of the construction of the new Sun building and in that single job he demonstrated his superior ability in a manner that marked him as one of the greatest architects in the country. The news despatch relative to his appointment is as follows:

SALEM, July 23.—Clarence H. Blackall of Boston has been appointed advisory architect to the commission which has to do with rebuilding the burnt district. The position was first offered to Ralph Adams Cram, chairman of the Boston city planning board, but he declined and suggested Mr. Blackall.

The latter was not looking for such a position, even though it carries a $6000 salary, as he is a very busy man. But the experience of some such man, who has had to do with large architectural problems was absolutely necessary and he was prevailed on to accept the position.

Mr. Blackall is one of the experts who addressed the committee of 100 soon after the fire and told them that the great conflagration was "not the work of God, but was due to the stupidity of man." He assured them that every wooden building that had been destroyed could be built more cheaply today with fireproof materials—owing to the improvements and the increased output of such materials and the standardization of much that enters into all kinds of fireproof buildings.

Mr. Blackall is the architect of many prominent buildings in Boston, including Tremont Temple and the Colonial theatre. He has also built many fireproof factories and residences of all kinds along the North Shore and in various parts of the country. His experience covers practically the whole field of building. He was the first Ralph Travelling scholarship student and is one of the directors of that scholarship.

4 KILLED AND 21 INJURED

Train Carrying Sunday School Picnickers Crashed Into Trolley Freight at Westford, Conn.

WESTFORD, Conn., July 23.—Three persons were killed outright, another died later and 21 were injured, some seriously, as the result of a head-on collision last night between a train of three trolley cars, carrying many Sunday school picnickers, and a trolley freight.

The accident occurred at the corner of State and King streets at a sharp curve on a down grade and it is said both cars were traveling at a high rate of speed.

The three trolley cars, coupled together, carrying 179 persons were returning from the annual picnic of the Point Union Mission Sunday school of East Bridgeport at Roton Point, Norwalk.

The dead are:

ANDREW FISHER, aged 16.
RAYMOND PUTTER, aged 12.
FRANK NAGRY, aged 11.
MABEL CLEVELAND, aged 21.

All the victims were from Bridgeport.

According to Dr. Frank Powers, the town medical examiner, the accident was caused when the motorman of the picnic train, Harold Nathan of the Norwalk, put on all speed, while going down hill in an endeavor to reach a siding before the arrival of the trolley freight, which he knew was coming.

Mr. Powers says that Nathan's cars were travelling so fast that even if there had been no collision they would have been derailed. The brakes were not set.

There was a terrible crash as the cars met and the air was filled with splinters, flying glass and dust. The trolley freight ploughed through the first picnic car, which was virtually smashed to pieces. Only the two rear seats and the truck now remain. Even the roof was wrenched off and tossed to one side of the tracks. The four persons killed were sitting on the front seat. Mr. Powers says it is a miracle that all in the first picnic car were not killed.

A panic ensued after the crash. The shrieks and cries of the injured could be heard for blocks. Some of the picnickers in the rear cars began at once the work of rescuing the others, although many of the rescuers were injured themselves. All physicians in the vicinity were summoned. Twelve persons were hurried in ambulance and private automobiles to the Norwalk hospital where Frank Nagry died a few hours later. Among the injured at Norwalk are William Abbott of Providence, R. I., and Helen Dwyer of Long Island City, both of whom have broken bones and are suffering from the shock.

Seven persons were taken to St. Vincent's hospital in Bridgeport and three more to the Bridgeport General hospital.

NO ADDITIONAL DEATHS TODAY

WESTFORD, Conn., July 23.—No additional deaths were added over night to the list of victims of the collision of trolley cars here yesterday. Most of the persons injured were reported from the hospitals as comfortable this morning and the hope was expressed by surgeons that the death list will not exceed four. The number of injured has been increased over the 21 reported last night for many other passengers are now suffering from minor injuries. Corner John J. Phelan is expected here during the day to open his inquiry.

It is alleged that the motorman of the passenger was running at high speed.

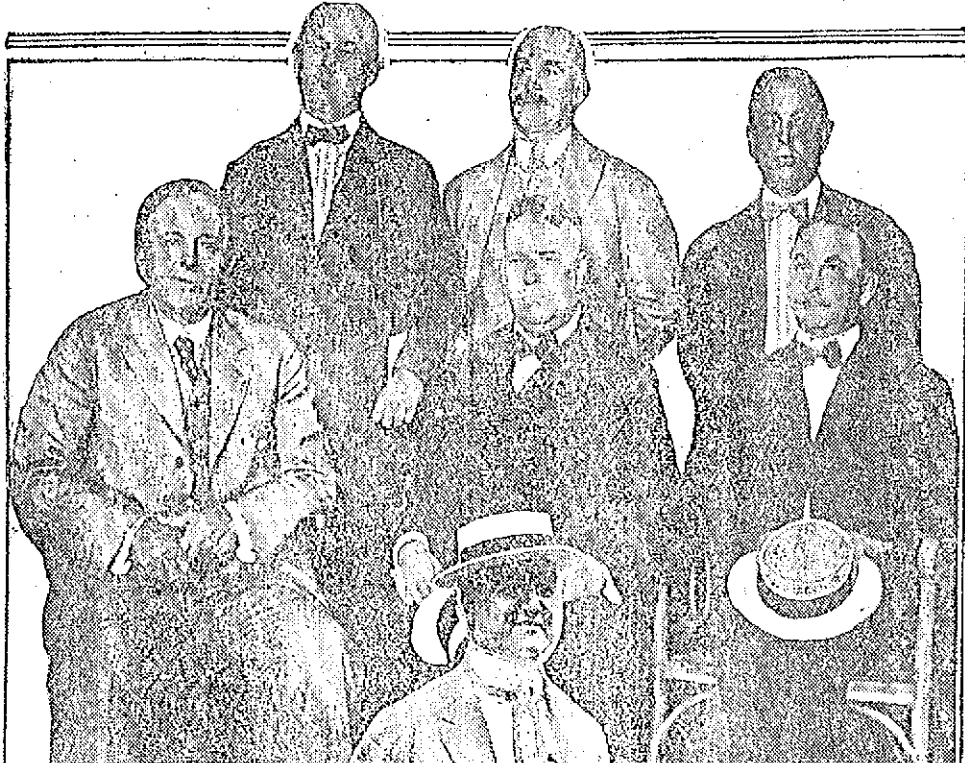

Corner Phelan in a preliminary inquiry last night said that the signal was not against the motorman but the engine and the black in order to make the switch. The motorman is in the Norwalk hospital with a broken leg and under guard of an officer.

HUMANITY SOCIETY

Will Hereafter Be Equipped With an Automobile to Doing Its Work—Disposal of Dead Animals Solved

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Lowell Humane society held yesterday afternoon it was voted to institute automobile service for its needs instead of the horse and buggy which have been familiar on the streets for many years. It is believed that the society will purchase a Ford model of small dimensions which will be shipped practically the same as those that are used by the American League of Boston. In past years many householders have complained of having to dispose of dead animals, and hereafter the humane society will be able to do this without difficulty by taking the animals away and killing them near their baying places.

CLUB OWNERS IN SESSION

Charles H. Ebbets, owner of the Brooklyn National league and Newark International league clubs, is the hero of organized baseball. When the Players' Fraternity ordered a walkout over the case of First Baseman Kraft the various club owners affected by the decision declared that they would fight to the finish. Ebbets saw the folly of an internal war at this time and paid the Nashville club $1000 for Kraft, whom he immediately turned over to Newark. It is said that the Yankees may purchase him.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

LAKEVIEW PARK

There is a lively interest in the long distance swimming race that is scheduled for this afternoon at Lakeview park as the entries include some of Lowell's best swimmers as well as the duck to the person who catches it. The method of procedure will be to send a strong and lively duck and turn it loose on the lake and at a given signal all the swimmers who have entered for this event will give chase. This event is open to all and promises lots of fun. The ducking girls will give their usual exhibition both afternoon and evening as will Lieut. Hitchcock, who walks on the water. At the theatre there is a fine program of "movies" that are shown every afternoon and evening without price. The program at the theatre changes every Thursday, Sunday and Monday.

CANOBIE LAKE

"The Lighthouse Watch" sung by Messrs. Bergeron and Morrison is proving the hit of the show at Canobie Lake park theatre this week. The Home Musical Revue, first company, presenting the fourth edition of this splendid musical program. The perfect blending of the two voices above description and the enthusiasm of the patrons at its conclusion knows no bounds.

PULLED AROUND SHAFT

THEODORE HOLMES KILLED IN FITCHBURG PAPER MILL—SKULL FRACTURED

FITCHBURG, July 22.—Theodore Holmes, aged 52 years, was killed yesterday at the Crocker-Barbark paper mill by being pulled around a revolving shaft.

He was at work on a winding machine when part of his clothing caught on a thimblescrew and he was pulled over the shaft. His body fell to the floor after being pulled around once.

WHY FAT RETURNS IF TAKEN OFF BY EXERCISE

Since fat is the result of particularly easy assimilation of food, which too readily turns into fatty substances, the exercise for reduction must be very vigorous to tear down the tissues and as rapidly as exercise builds a larger muscular foundation, more fat is developed. For the early part of the time which you are exercising flesh is turned into muscle, but the action of the stomach being unchanged and the flesh being more easily developed, than muscle it is not long until the exercise has increased the weight. Of late years, the slender form is possible without making oneself miserable by dieting or indulging in violent exercises to reduce fat. Make up and take this simple reducer and your weight will soon be just where you want it. Dissolve 4 ounces paraffin (which every good druggist has in his store) in 14 parts hot water; when it cools strain and take a tablespoonful before meals. This paraffin reducer acts gently, is quite harmless and entirely satisfactory results are quickly attained. It leaves the flesh firm and well moulded.

HOME RULE CONFERENCE

JAMES LOWTHER, SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE OF COMMONS PRESENTS AT SESSIONS IN LONDON

LONDON, July 22.—James Lowther, speaker of the house of commons, presides at the Irish home rule bill conference called by King George. The king's address at the start of the sessions at once aroused a bitter discussion as to the royal attitude on the Union question. King George took the initiative in calling two representatives from each party in parliament together for the purpose of compromising on the home rule bill, which was recently passed and which is now facing an amendment.

POLITELY ASKED TO QUIT

GEORGE FRED WILLIAMS SAID TO HAVE UNDERTAKEN TO DIRECT AFFAIRS

LONDON, July 24.—An Athens despatch to the Daily Telegraph says that the former minister to Greece, George Fred Williams, has published a third manifesto on Albanian affairs, in which he attacks Zogras, president of the government of Northern Epirus, and urges his removal. It is reported that Mr. Williams went to Santa Quaranta with the intention of assuming the direction of affairs, according to this despatch, but he was politely requested to quit.

REASONS FOR ANNEXATION

It Would Offer Opportunities for Establishing Homes and Bring Wider Field for Industries

Secretary Murphy of the Lowell board of trade when asked his opinion relative to the Sun's movement for annexation said he believed that Lowell needs more territory and that this can be had only by annexation.

Referring to statistics which he had on hand, Mr. Murphy showed the congested districts of our city.

What he said in the course of a talk with a Sun reporter is summarized in the following article:

"The question of extending the corporate limits of the city is one which offers considerable argument pro and con, and which should obtain the careful study and serious consideration of the citizens of the city.

"A larger city with greater population requires extensive land area suitable for the development of homes with sufficient land for small garden purposes for the masses. This extension is equivalent to increased prosperity in all lines.

"The population of Lowell is extremely large compared with its area and contrasted with other cities of Massachusetts. Lowell's area of 14.1 square miles is exceedingly small and congestion of population in many districts and sections is obvious.

The following figures concerning the distribution of congested population of the city may be of interest:

"Population of city 111,000, the population of the congested area is 60,000. The population residing within half-mile radius of Merrimack square is about 23,000, while the population living within a mile radius of Merrimack square is 33,000.

"That section of Lowell which could be enclosed by drawing a line up Cabot street from the Lawrence mills to the North common, then to Pawtucket street and Perkins street has a population of over 11,000 people or about 175 people per acre.

"The section bounded by the mills along the Merrimack river and Merrimack street has a population of 2400 people or about 160 people per acre.

"A section of Centralville extending from West street to Bridge street to Hildreth has a population of 6200 people or about 150 people per acre.

"The section bounded by Market street, Burton street, Fletcher street to North common has a population of 6500, or a population of 90 to 125 per acre.

and Floyd shows a population of 3600, or about 125 people per acre.

"Almost any section within a mile radius of Merrimack square will show a population averaging from 90 to 175 people per acre.

"These congested districts show at a glance the necessity of extending our boundaries, in order to enable people to move out and enjoy the facilities of the city such as fire protection and water supply, sewerage system, schools, parks and playgrounds. With all these facilities, extended people will naturally move to outlying districts.

As a City Prospects

"A fast growing community attracts capital and with capital comes the establishment of industries which in turn causes steady employment, and an influx of good citizens, a most noteworthy help in the development of any city.

"Lowell has a welcome for any new industry and special diligence in securing new and well paying industries is exerted by the board of trade and enterprise committee. Manufacturing sites are becoming scarce, especially those having railroad facilities and water privileges and the further extension of our territory will open up new sites of unquestionable merit. No large concern approves of locating outside the city limits, but desires to locate within easy reach of available help.

"Capital is often more easily secured for new enterprises located in the heart of a city than in a smaller town or located on the outskirts and the present narrow confines of the city boundary lines demand extension if new industries are to find favorable locations.

"The successful results accruing to leading cities from annexation are such as to warrant the expediency of a similar movement here.

"Extensive area permits of reasonable purchases of land by citizens for home building and this feature is to be encouraged because a home owner is generally a good citizen and this method provides an opportunity for the savings banks of the city to invest locally. Sites for school buildings and other municipal uses, parks and playgrounds, so much needed at present, can be secured at low prices and tracts of desirable undeveloped land will be utilized to the advantage of all.

"Greater Lowell should include all the land within a three-mile radius of Merrimack square which would include the populated parts of Dracut, Nary Yard, Collinsville, Wamesit, No. Chelmsford.

"Annexation should mean increased pride in community spirit tending to combine the many interests for the general good and proving to the world that 'Lowell is a city of opportunity.'"

SAVED WOMAN'S LIFE

MARTIN DACEY OF LOWELL MADE HEROIC RESCUE AT WALTHAM—CHIEF MCNAMEE ALSO HELPED

The Waltham Tribune of Monday has the following interesting story of the rescue of a woman from drowning by Martin Dacey, formerly of this city:

Clad in a white coat and apron, Martin Dacey of Waltham, Mass., rescued a woman from drowning at the Norumbega bathhouse to the rescue of Mrs. William Hoelscher of this city when she was about to go down for the third time. With the assistance of Charles McNamee, chief at the Norumbega cafe on the river, and Fred Grant, who was struggling in the water, Dacey brought the drowning woman to the float.

In a short time she had recovered sufficiently to be taken to the metropolitan park police station nearby where she was worked over for fully an hour and a half.

Although the accident occurred within a hundred yards of the police station no patrolman responded to cries for help and undoubtedly if it were not for the work of Dacey and those who assisted him the accident would have had a fatal termination.

In the canoe at the time with Mrs. Hoelscher was Miss Maud Ericson of Riverside, and neither of the women could swim.

Fred Grant, a full-blooded Indian, was the first to go to the assistance of the struggling women when their craft overturned and when Dacey arrived on the scene had gone down twice and was nearly throttled by Mrs. Hoelscher in her frantic attempts to reach the shore.

McNamee rushed onto the float and threw a life preserver to the three in the water and assisted them to the float.

Dacey is manager of the River Casino at the Norumbega bathhouse and has held that position for the past five summers. Both Chief McNamee and Dacey are popular among the throngs of canoeists that visit the restaurant during the summer and deserve considerable credit for their rescue work. They are both residents of Lowell during the winter months.

Mrs. Hoelscher is well known in this city and at present is in charge of the ice cream tables at "Nutting's-on-the-Charles."

SUDDEN DEATH

Littleton Man Dropped Dead in Potato Field at Westford Yesterday—Death Certificate Signed Apoplexy

John Fies, aged about 50 years and residing at Littleton, died suddenly at Westford yesterday, while working in the field. Mr. Fies was hoeing potatoes with several other men, when he was suddenly seized with an apoplectic shock. He fell to the ground face downward, and when discovered by his fellow workers, life was extinct. The coroner of Ayer viewed the body and signed the death certificate apoplexy.

REFUSED TO TAKE CASH

WHAT? YES, IT'S A FACT—CONGRESSMAN RETURNS PAY TO UNCLE SAM

CONGRESSMAN, S. A. WITHERPOON

This photograph shows new famous Congressman Samuel Andrew Witherpoon of Meriden, Conn., who refused to accept cash from Uncle Sam which he did not earn by his honest toil. Mr. Witherpoon was absent from the house of representatives for four days in April, 1911, on private business, and upon receiving his check his conscience would not permit him to accept the salary for the four days which he was absent, and he returned $52.50 to the United States treasury. It seems that somewhere in the statute book there is a law that a member of congress shall not draw pay for the days that he is absent from public duty. Mr. Witherpoon told no one of his action, but it recently leaked out, and now the Mississippi is more or less of a hero.

THREE FIREMEN BURNED

HEAT EXPLOSION AT SMALL WORCESTER FIRE SENDS MEN HURLING BACKWARD DOWNSTAIRS

WORCESTER, July 22.—As the result of a back draft during a fire in a small two-story house at 94 Bangor street yesterday, three members of the fire department were burned. The most seriously burned are Geo.

W. King and John Conlin, chauffeurs for Chief Wesley N. Avery. They are in City hospital. King is suffering from third degree burns all over the face, neck, hands and lower part of the arms. Much of his hair was singed off. Conlin has similar burns of the second degree.

Dist. Chief Charles L. McCarthy suffered burns about the face, and head but remained on duty. The trio were burned when they dashed up the front stairs of the burned building and forced a door to the room where the flames were the fiercest. King and Conlin were in the lead with Chief McCarthy following closely. A terrific explosion occurred, throwing the men, enveloped in a sheet of fire, backward down the stairs.

IN STERLING LIVES A GIRL

Who Suffered As Many Girls Do—Tells How She Found Relief.

Sterling, Conn.—"I am a girl of 22 years and I used to faint away every month and was very weak. I was also bothered a lot with female weakness. I read your little book 'Wisdom for Women,' and I saw how others had been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and decided to try it, and it has made me feel like a new girl and I am now relieved of all these troubles. I hope all young girls will get relief as I have. I never felt better in my life."—MISS BERTINA A. PELOQUIN, Box 116, Sterling, Conn.

Massena, N. Y.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I highly recommend it. If anyone wants to write to me I will gladly tell her about my case. I was certainly in a bad condition as my blood was all turning to water. I had pimples on my face and a bad color, and for five years I had been troubled with suppression. The doctors called it 'Anemia and Exhaustion,' and said I was all run down, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound brought me out all right."—Miss LAVISA MYRES, Box 74, Massena, N. Y.

Young Girls, Heed This Advice.

Girls who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, backache, headache, dragging-down sensations, fainting spells or indigestion, should immediately seek restoration to health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

DESIRABLE FIRE PREVENTION

Now that New England is thoroughly aroused to the necessity for reforms in municipal regulations regarding fire fighting and prevention, and that the Lowell Board of Trade and our municipal authorities have shown renewed interest in the same subject, a brief review of the fire hazard bill passed by the legislature in its closing hours is timely and instructive. The bill incorporated the ideas of the committee on fire prevention of the Boston Chamber of Commerce and represented what many New England experts declare the most advanced and practical suggestions in modern fire prevention. It was backed up by the United Improvement Association, the Boston Board of Fire Underwriters, the Real Estate Exchange and the United Press of New England.

Probably the most important provision of the fire hazard bill is that which provides for the appointment of a fire prevention commissioner in whom shall be centralized all the authority that was distributed among several lesser officials in the old system. With overlapping offices and minor department heads acting independently it was impossible that effective administration be given in fire prevention, but with the nomination of a capable man whose duties will be along fire prevention lines only there can be no doubt that the district in which the new law is imperative shall receive better service, and that the fire risk will be lessened materially. The human equation is all important in anything relating to fire prevention.

Among the practical requirements of the new law is that which stipulates that hazardous types of buildings be equipped with automatic sprinklers. This is most desirable in factory and "sweat-shop" buildings in congested areas, and the enforcement of it would have prevented many a serious fire in the past. It is generally held that a sprinkler system been in vogue in the Salem leather factory where the fire started, the disaster would have been averted. Another requirement of the new law is that all rubbish that in the opinion of the commissioner is dangerous shall be removed and destroyed. Seventy-five per cent of fires are attributed to carelessness, and of this percentage it is probable that the accumulation of rubbish is the greatest factor. No fire prevention law is adequate which does not provide for inspection of tenements and factories and mandatory power in the hands of officials to order the removal of anything that constitutes a menace. Some day municipal authorities will make periodical visits to all buildings to see that fires are prevented and that health and sanitation are safeguarded.

The fire hazard law will become obligatory in the twenty-two cities and towns making up the Metropolitan district, on August 1st, and any other city or town may come within its provisions on its own initiative. Naturally, all New England will watch the operation of the law closely in Boston, before it is agitated as a state-wide proposition, but many of its clauses must be included in any municipal fire prevention regulation that claims to be in keeping with the times. Coupling the terms of the bill with the recent regulations made in Salem, all municipalities have a lesson in fire prevention that is full of inspiration. Lowell has its own peculiar problems, but in the main it could do far worse than to adopt the ideas of Salem and Boston requirements. We must still carry the burden of the past, but we can do much to provide more desirable conditions for the future.

LOWELL SWIMMERS

Despite the fact that we have no municipal baths and that swimming is an organized or supervised sport is very much neglected locally, many Lowell young men are fast gaining an enviable reputation for proficiency in the splendid sport and are incidentally advertising the city throughout the world. When Henry Sullivan attempted to swim the English channel last year, the English papers—and to some extent the papers of almost all countries—made mention of him at great length, linking his name with the city of his birth. Naturally, his brave struggle of ten hours last season and the promise which he then gave will awake renewed interest in his attempt this year, and many outside his Lowell friends and acquaintances will hope that his buoyant spirit and perseverance will carry him on to victory. The Merrimack river and our network of canals turn out some splendid swimming material, and it will be a matter of great local pride if one of our boys equals or surpasses the feats of Webb and Burgess—the only swimmers who have ever succeeded in crossing the English channel.

Speaking of the valuable advertising which our local swimmers are gaining for Lowell in Boston and New York contests and in the English channel attempt, the New York World, in a recent issue asks:

Or is there anything peculiarly conducive to long-distance swimming in the sea water that laves the Hub? New York has unrivaled facilities for swimming. It has a larger population to draw on for expert swimmers. Why must its swimmers trail behind swimmers from Philadelphia, Norristown, Lowell, South Norwalk, and drop out with only a part of the course covered in a race contested in local and familiar waters?

Doubtless many thoughtful New Yorkers reading this will be reminded that Lowell is something more than a despoiled "mill" city. When we have municipal baths come day there is no doubt that our swimming athletes will write the name of this city still brighter on the sporting firmament.

RAILROAD RATES

No comment on present business conditions omits a reference to the question of increased revenues for the railroads, and it seems to be the general opinion of the country that further delay in granting such an increase is not only unjust but injurious. It is said that the railroads west of the Mississippi will follow the lead of the eastern roads in applying for permission to raise their rates, and the outcome of the threatened strike will in all probability make the necessity for the concession more acute. Texas railroads also will appeal to their commission for an increase of rates within the state. Meantime, President Miller of the C. B. & Q. railroad announces that in view of the large yield of grain, the western railroads will be unusually prosperous for some time to come, and his statement is borne out by an appreciable decrease in the number of idle cars. The surplus of such idle cars (all by more than 12,000 for June, and conditions this month are better).

A leading cause for the decreased revenues which oblige the railroads to apply for increased rates is the large investment which the roads are obliged to make in their equipment, in accordance with popular demands. The bureau of railway economies has compiled figures which show that from 1903 to 1913 the steam railroads of the country invested cash to the amount of $1,010,385,303 in improvements—a sum equal to one-fifth of their total capitalization at the close of the last fiscal year. This surely justifies the request of the roads for increased rates, and further delay is dangerous to general prosperity.

THE WATER QUESTION

The action taken by the municipal council on the water question is based upon the result of many experiments and on the positive guarantee of a water supply sufficient to meet all the needs of the city, and of first class quality. If after that filter plant is completed and in operation there appears any excess of iron and manganese there will be trouble for all who are concerned in the matter.

It is to be hoped that Commissioner Carmichael will have the plant constructed within the appropriation inasmuch as the sum of $30,000 is allowed for "contingencies." Engineer Barbour allows 10 per cent of the estimated cost for contingencies. What contingencies he had in mind is not known but we surmise that one of them is the tendency of municipal departments to exceed the original estimates, regardless of how much they are allowed. Of course, another contingency to be provided for might be to be in the excavation. But if neither one nor the other of these contingencies be encountered, then Commissioner Carmichael should be able to finish the filter plant for less than the $225,000 appropriated. This filter plant will be of no use for arresting bacteria in the water, its only function being to act on the iron.

When this new plant shall have been completed the question of treating the Cook well water for the neutralization of carbonic acid will undoubtedly come up for action. The Cook wells constitute a reserve supply that in cases of emergency may prove very valuable.

CARE OF THE HAIR IN EUROPEAN COUNTRIES

In Southern Europe the very straight, bonny appearance of the hair of lower class native women is due to its excessive cleanliness and could be greatly improved upon by the elimination of all excess oil. Throughout the continent among the higher social classes great care is taken to keep the hair perfectly clean, not with soap and make-shifts but with preparations made just for the shampoo, and it is probably for this reason alone that the hair of European women is considered the most beautiful in the world. The much desired fluffiness and softness of hair which follow the perfect cleansing power. You can have any kind of condition of scalp or hair by use of this economical home-made shampoo which is prepared very quickly by just dissolving a teaspoonful of carbolic (which every drug store carries) in a cup of hot water and pouring slowly on the head as you rub briskly. This makes a wealth of rich, clean hair which will soon restore the fluff and lustre to the dull, flat hair and encourage a beautiful growth.

has sent to the attorney general urging him to proceed against the New Haven railroad had been written ten years ago or even five years ago, what a sensation it would have caused! Today it is accepted calmly and without apparent surprise. So thick have revelations come with regard to the road and all relating to it that the public is ready for almost anything.

Whenever one may think of the wisdom of the administration's action, it will be discovered after a little thought that there was no other course open. President Wilson and the attorney general have openly approved of the Massachusetts law providing for the severing of the Boston & Maine and New Haven and had expressed their willingness to drop the federal suit provided the state law was complied with. Conferences were held with the road officials and everything pointed to an amicable agreement when on what the president calls a slight pretext, the New Haven decided to fight the matter in the courts. Acting in accordance with their well known interpretation of the Sherman anti-trust law, the government cannot do otherwise than prosecute, and it may be that before the long and costly court struggle is ended the directors may be sued for a partial restitution of the vast sums lost in mismanagement.

ROBINSON'S DEATH

Were it not that suicide under any circumstances cannot be considered desirable, the death of "Diamond Chip" Robinson by his own hand in the Boston jail would seem like the best ending of a case that might have dragged on for months with sensationalism and great cost to the state. There was no doubt of his guilt, and there is no doubt that the world is better off without him. Under a smooth and misleading exterior he hid a black heart and a desperate will and he apparently valued all human life as lightly as he valued his own. Tuesday night, his fate is another warning for those who may be tempted to take the first steps in the way that leads to degradation.

VANISHING BROWNTAILS

Judging from the failure of the browntail moths to fly in large numbers this year, there seems to be good reason to anticipate their entire elimination within a few seasons. This would certainly be welcome news to New England; the pests have caused an enormous annual loss in vegetation and in money while they have infested this part of the country, and for a time it looked as though the most that one could hope for was their partial restriction. Now that Nature and tireless effort have succeeded in almost wiping them out, renewed activity will have even more than past results.

SEEN AND HEARD

Cook well water in the beer. Here's a lot of profanity.

When you feel like starting something just sit down and say "safely first." Repeat ten times if necessary.

When your wife threatens to go home to her mother offer her her railroad fare one way.

There may not be very much to that story about three voices against Putnam after all.

Judging from the hours some of the young fellows keep up their street way they were cut out for milkmen.

What has become of the dear old lady who never failed to invite you to stay to supper?

The fellows who used to sit in the front row now stand on the sidewalk and watch the cars load and unload.

John Stratton seems to think that if the city should use the Cook wells constantly the brewery would have to close up shop or find a new water supply.

Well, anyway, the New Haven directors were all big business men yet they didn't conduct the affairs of the road any better than the "little men" in the city council conduct the city's affairs.

Luke McLuke says: The other fellow's success is always due to good luck. You may have noticed that the man who wants to right the great wrongs of the people always wants to take up a collection.

Call a man a sly dog and it tickles him. Call him a suckling cur and he wants to fight.

When a man owes everybody he always believes that if he could only borrow enough money he would soon be out of debt.

The married man who hasn't anything running around his house, but a fence is always the lad who doesn't like the way the fool neighbors raise their children.

GAS ON THE STOMACH

Flatulence, or gas in the digestive tract is an annoying accompaniment of indigestion, indigestion and constipation. As a rule it indicates that food is being retained in the stomach and intestines longer than nature intended.

When colicky pains accompany the presence of gas the need of a gentle laxative to clear away the offending food residue is imperative. If the condition of constipation is not quickly corrected a coated tongue, eruptions on the skin, headaches and hiccups soon show that the poisons have found their way into the circulation.

The use of the gentle laxative pills, Pinks, will not only banish these unpleasant symptoms quickly but, if used regularly for a reasonable time, will really correct chronic constipation.

Pinks are not like harsh purgatives that leave the bowels dry and in the end worse than before. Pinks gently assist nature, never gripe and are so small and easy to take that they are known as the dainty laxative.

Your own druggist can supply you with Pinks or they will be sent by mail postpaid, by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., at 25c per bottle. Send for the book "The Dainty Laxative," telling how to treat constipation.

HACKSACK MEADOWS
At close of day
From out the city's maddening surge
We're borne Toward home filled towns and ached country seats
Between these lies, but all too soon passed o'er,
A stretch of idle land; and through it flows
If flow it doth—the lazy Hacksack.
Broad stream, low banked, it lies, or moves, between Unvaried fields of sober brown. Untouched
Of any hand are these save hers who spread Them there for rest of eye and soul of man
Requital for his more constant toil
Since nature thrust him forth to earn his bread!
Not even the midday sky can make quite blue
The gray-brown quiet stream, for brown and gray
Are restless sights, and "Rest for Man" was what She called the work which here our mother wrought.
The fisher's huts that edge the stream, man-built,
Appear not to intrude. They do not lower
Nor vaunt themselves
For these are homes of simple fishermen.
Mayhap such homes as he lodged in who taught
The fisherfolk who toiled on Gallleed
Here spring will come with cloth of green to hide
The waste by winter wrought. Flowers anon
Shall softly bloom and laugh as children laugh
Among the grass in some deep summer field
Her hidden nest a humble bird shall revere Brood o'er and see at length the nestlings fly.
Woolings, matings and other broods shall come
The blackbird flashing in His flight shall fill the midmost summer day
With song.

SOME VELVET MAKER
A fiscal genius with a capital of $50 cleaned up $700 or so yesterday and left town, and seven Kansas City financial institutions will share the loss among them. The modest operandi:
Presenting himself with $5 in real money he deposited that amount in a savings account at each of the seven banks. That was in the morning. Immediately after clearing house hours he returned and presenting at each bank a check for $150 deposited it in his savings account—and then withdrew his original deposit of $5 in real money.

With all his capital thus back in his pocket and an established credit at seven different banks he proceeded early yesterday morning to declare a dividend. Making the rounds of the seven banks before his check of the day before had returned from the clearing house he handed to the paying teller a check for $5 and asked to have it cashed. Whereupon something like the following affable exchange took place:
Teller—Teller—Ah, yes. But you will have to be identified, you know.
Do you know anybody in the bank?
Fiscal Genius—Why, no. The afraid
I don't. But I do business here. I have an account in the savings department. Here is my book.

Reaming Teller, (looking at book).
Oh, to be sure. That is quite satisfactory, sir. How will you have it?
The fiscal genius took it in tens at twenties and a few odd small bills, together, as was said, something like $700 at the seven banks plus his inital capital of $5.

He is believed to be a foreign capitalist who had heard Kansas City was inviting investments and giving them the widest opportunity to make velvet—Kansas City Star.

TREATY DISCUSSIONS
The demand of Senator Borah for a public discussion of the pending Nica-by the president and the senate has decided that the discussion shall be open to the public.

This is well. There is nothing in some urgent reason for forcing the issue through in private session is to pervert facts.—Lynn News.

KING'S CONFERENCE FAILS TO REACH COMPROMISE

On Home Rule Question—Redmond and Dillon Refuse to Yield to the Demands Made and Question Will Probably Go Back to Parliament—Militant Attacks Palace

LONDON, July 23.—The absence of Marquis of Lansdowne of the regular conference of the Home Rule League, which was expected to be resumed tomorrow at the adjournment of today's conference at Buckingham palace between the leaders of the political parties in reference to the Ulster situation was generally accepted as an indication that their efforts to find a solution had failed.

The meeting was a little more protracted than the previous ones. It was attended by Premier Asquith and Chancellor of the Exchequer David Lloyd-George, representing the government, Andrew Bonar Law and the conservative opposition, John E. Redmond and John Dillon of the Irish nationalists and Sir Edward Carson and Captain Craig of the Ulster unionists. Redmond and Dillon it is well known would not yield one iota more than was in the amending bill.

The central question of the area to be excluded from the control of the parliament in Dublin under the Irish home rule measure was the chief subject of discussion. It was supposed that it was found impossible by the conference to attain an acceptable compromise on this matter without further consideration. After the adjournment, Premier Asquith was in audience for ten minutes with King George, whom he informed of the situation.

John Redmond and John Dillon drove direct from the palace to Downing street, where they lunched with Mr. Lloyd George.

Militant Disturbance

A militant suffragette caused a little diversion by rushing out of the crowd and through the gates of Buckingham palace toward the visitors' entrance. There she threw a stone at a window but the missile fell short. She then stumbled and before she had got much further on her journey she was captured by the police and taken off to the station.

BURNED PAPERS IN CELL

Guards Thought That Robinson Was Signaling for Jail Delivery—Other Incidents Before Suicide

BOSTON, July 23.—Little incidents in the experience of the officers of the jail who were guarding Robinson now take on a new significance in consideration of his suicide yesterday morning.

One night last week, when an extra guard was on duty at the jail, in consequence of the rumors that an attempt was to be made to rescue Robinson, one of the guards saw a flicker of light in Robinson's cell. Watching closely from a place of concealment, the guard soon saw another light, and within a short time he saw a third light. Upon investigating more closely the guard discovered that Robinson had burned three small pieces of paper.

Immediately it was suspected that this was a signal by Robinson to his friends outside that the time was ripe for them to make their attack upon the jail in the effort to obtain his release. The incident created a little scare, and extra guards were put on duty, but nothing unusual happened. Efforts to induce Robinson to talk about the incident or to explain his significance and why he burned the three papers failed completely.

Later, when nothing unusual happened, the guards began to regard the incident as a joke on the part of Robinson, who was endeavoring to have some fun at their expense and to give them a scare.

Another incident, which makes the guards now think that Robinson was contemplating suicide all during last week is now brought to mind. The guards had been in the habit of giving the prisoner tablets to aid him in sleeping. A guard visited him in his cell every half hour during the night. The prisoner usually became apparently vexed at the calls and asked them to leave the cell on the chair in his cell. He said he did not wish them to awaken him and that was what they did every time they came in his cell. He said, "I know when and how to take my medicine. I know that I can take one every hour and I will take it all night if you will only leave it on the chair."

The pills were never left on the chair for Robinson. The guards instantly suspected that he wished to make an accumulation of the tablets so as to take a number of them at one time in the future. It is said that the tablets contained a certain drug which would have killed Robinson had he been able to take a sufficient quantity at one time.

DUDLEY NOT TO BE TIED

Companion of Robinson Will Be Taken to West Virginia to Answer Charges of Robbery

BOSTON, July 23.—One man in the Charles street jail last night really benefited by Robinson's suicide. He is Joseph Dudley, alias Joseph Daniels, who was with Robinson on June 19 in the Boylston Cafe when Inspector Norton was shot. Dudley was indicted jointly with Robinson for murder.

He was confined until yesterday morning in a cell on the same row with Robinson's, but when the news of the latter's suicide came out, Dudley was hastily removed to a room on another tier of the prison. Later in the day it became known from the district attorney's office that Dudley will not be tried on the murder charge, the evidence against him not justifying the district attorney in going to trial with Dudley alone.

Dudley will be taken to West Virginia, however, to answer to the charge of robbing the jewelry store of Henry Hounick of Huntington, who alleges that diamonds to the value of $15,000 were taken from his store. Dudley had counsel appointed here, and this lawyer says the boy was simply a chance acquaintance of Robinson's and that he was never in West Virginia. He expects that Dudley will easily prove an alibi.

CAREER OF ROBINSON

Native of Ohio, Ran Away to Circus in Early Life and Began Career of Desperado

BOSTON, July 23.—Lawrence ("Chinny") Robinson, alias Albert Scott, pickpocket, gunman and tango instructor, was born 22 years ago in Washington Courthouse, O., a small town about 30 miles from Columbus, and as a boy was pretty lively and possessed of considerable imagination.

While quite young he ran away and joined the Buffalo Bill show as an usher. From there he became a "sawdust butcher" and the life of the "sawdust road" was a short step. Standing 5 feet 11½ inches and weighing 172 pounds, composed entirely of bone and brawn, he was strong physically, and in the underworld was considered a "bad man" and one capable of taking care of himself in the roughest company.

Robinson operated all over the country, and when he was not engaged in a store robbery or holdup confined his attention to picking pockets. The circus proved a magnet to his prey, and he followed the shows throughout the United States.

The police of Cincinnati knew him well and twice had him under arrest. While picking the pocket of a man in that city on May 17, 1910, he was detected and convicted, serving a term in the workhouse. He was later arrested for robbing a diamond stud but escaped imprisonment. He worked the racing crowds at Saratoga, the Mardi Gras at New Orleans and every exposition of prominence in years.

The crime for which his arrest was made in Boston, and which resulted in the death of Inspector Norton, occurred Sept. 18, last year, at Grand Rapids, Mich. Robinson was accused of entering the jewelry store of John J. Thompson in broad daylight.

He had a companion with him and by the time the police reached the shop, after Robinson and his pal left, there were three dead men on the floor and the showcases had been looted, thousands of dollars' worth of diamonds having been taken.

A similar crime was enacted at Huntington, W. Va., and it was learned on Robinson, but he escaped capture. Gun play figured in the holdup, and the loot consisted of diamonds, of which Robinson always had a considerable number, several being found in a secret pocket of his coat when arrested.

A leading private detective agency was after Robinson for the Grand Rapids job. They received their information from a man who was in the job with him and who turned state evidence. A country-wide search was made. He was traced to Boston through information furnished the police by a girl in Pittsburgh who was friendly with Dudley, the youth who was in Robinson's company the afternoon of his arrest in the Boylston Cafe.

The detectives called at police headquarters and Inspector Norton was sent out with another officer to make the arrest. They were accompanied by the men from the private agency. Norton was told that Robinson was a bad man and would shoot himself free if possible.

He used the revolver, killing Inspector Norton, but before he could make his escape he was knocked down by Boylston street by Joseph P. Niliand of Roxbury. His indictment followed.

MOTHER AND WIFE SILENT

Relatives of Robinson at Washington Courthouse, O., Say Nothing of Suicide in Cell

WASHINGTON COURTHOUSE, O., July 23.—"I have nothing to say," was the answer given to the interviewers who visited the home of Jennie Robinson, mother of Lawrence Robinson, who committed suicide in jail at Boston yesterday morning.

Lawrence Robinson's wife, whom he married 10 years ago, has since lived in this city with her parents, but she had nothing to say regarding her husband's suicide. The body will be brought to Washington Courthouse for burial in the family lot.

3000 MAY STRIKE

Demands of the Freight Handlers Refused—B. & M. to Answer Soon

BOSTON, July 23.—A strike of more than 3000 freight handlers employed on the Boston & Maine, the Boston & Albany and the New Haven roads is threatened unless an agreement is reached between the committees representing the freight handlers' union and the officials of these roads.

Two conferences were held at the office of Pres. MacDonald of the Boston & Maine at the North station yesterday. After being told it was believed their requests were just, according to members of the union committee, they were requested to return in the afternoon for a further conference. They were then told that the company could not stand the expense of increasing the wages, and that no answer could be given until after the proposition is placed before the directors of the road next Thursday at noon.

A meeting of Local 5572, Freight Handlers' union of the Boston & Maine system, will be held next Sunday afternoon, when this report of the committee will be given the men. It was stated by members of the committee the men will vote to authorize their delegates to the joint council of freight handlers to order a strike, whenever they believe it is necessary.

The members of the union are now receiving $13.50 for a six-day week of 10 hours a day, with pay stopped on all holidays they do not work. The committee showed Pres. MacDonald that the men are getting much less than $7.00 a year on which to support large families in some cases.

The demands of the men call for an increase in wages of 15 per cent, and a decrease in working hours from 10 to nine hours a day.

A number of conferences had been held with the officials of the roads and last month, at the request of Pres. MacDonald, the matter was dropped until July 22, when he informed them, they would receive a final answer.

This proposition of Pres. MacDonald was laid before the freight handlers' joint council, which includes representatives of the New Haven and the Boston & Albany roads. It was accepted by the council and voted that the same proposition be given other roads, with the request that a final answer be given at that time.

The freight handlers' committee on the New Haven was informed that it would be impossible to give an answer for certain on July 22, owing to the number of officials to be consulted, but that an answer would be given some time during the week.

When the afternoon session started, Pres. MacDonald told the men that he had been talking over the situation with General Manager Pollack and they both decided that the demands could not be granted.

Michael White, international vice president of the Freight Handlers' union, who acted as chairman of the committee, said that he is willing to go before the interstate commerce commission or the Boston chamber of commerce or any other reputable body and explain how the officials of the New Haven, who are also the controlling heads of the Boston & Maine, the throwing all the freight revenue possible away from the B. & M., and that the stockholders of the B. & M. are not receiving the care and attention that their interests should receive.

PRINCIPAL FIGURES IN GOVERNMENT'S SUIT TO DISSOLVE THE NEW HAVEN RAILROAD AS A TRUST

2-JAMES H. HUSTIS
3-CHARLES S. MELLEN

WASHINGTON, July 23.—Following President Wilson's action in instructing Attorney General McReynolds to proceed civilly and criminally against the New Haven railroad and certain of its directors for alleged violations of the Sherman anti-trust law definite steps were taken for a long and bitter legal battle which is expected to reveal the whole inner workings of freetrade railroad finance. The president in his letter of instruction to the attorney general charged the New Haven management with breaking faith with the government by repudiating the reorganization agreement entered into last January. Mr. Wilson referred to the reasons given by the New Haven directors for refusing to sell the Boston and Maine stock under restrictions proposed by the Massachusetts legislature as a "slight pretext" and characterized their action as "incapable" and "entirely without justification." The civil suit for the dissolution of the New Haven will contain several features, harsher than those embodied in the voluntary agreement. One of these will be a demand for the divorcing of the steamship lines, the disposition of which was left under the agreement to a decision by the interstate commerce commission. The criminal proceedings probably will be before the federal grand jury in New York city. The correspondence made public between the attorney general and James H. Hustis, president of the New Haven, discloses the fact that the attorney general will refuse to recognize the claims of "innocently advanced" by Charles S. Mellen because of his appearance before the interstate commerce commission in the recent New Haven inquiry. It is made clear that the department intends to proceed criminally against Mr. Mellen and certain of the directors who are regarded as responsible for the alleged monopoly. The names of the men against whom criminal prosecutions will be directed were not made public.

The Japanese steamer has been in port more than three months during which the status of the East Indians has been passed upon by the highest courts.

VANCOUVER, B. The Hindu passengers made no demonstration and the services of the local militia companies which spent the night on a watch in anticipation of another outbreak, were not needed.

LARCENY FROM BANK

IS CHARGE AGAINST LYNN MAN WHO WAS ARRESTED IN PORTLAND FOR OFFENSES

PORTLAND, Me., July 23.—Herbert Parker Lord of Lynn, but with a family this city, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Inspector Boston, at the request of Chief Police Inspector W. H. Thorn of Lynn, for alleged larceny and will be taken to Lynn by an officer from that city.

Charged With Forgery and Larceny of $275 From the National City Bank of Lynn

LYNN, July 23.—Herbert P. Lord has been indicted by the grand jury in Essex county for forgery and larceny of $275. He worked for a firm in Bangor and was sent to Boston with stock certificates which he was to give to a Boston broker.

It is alleged that he sold the certificates to some other broker and received a check for $275. He is alleged to have forged his employers' name and cashed it at the National City bank of Lynn. It is also understood that the check was cashed through the aid of a relative living here who was not aware that the check was supposed to have been forged.

Russell, a committee of paper manufacturers, paid to Burrill, Wardwell & Ives $4000 as counsel opposed to the bill for the eight-hour shifts in paper mills by four workmen and $115.50 additional for stenographer.

The International Text Book company of Scranton, Pa., paid P. H. Kelly, attorney, $650 to oppose the bill to prohibit correspondence schools from speculative dealing in stocks and bonds.

NOTICE

To My Customers and the Fuel Buying Public:

Commencing today, and continuing until September 1, 1914, the week's work will end at my yards at 12 o'clock Saturday noon. I purpose to give my men this half-holiday without loss of pay.

I do this in gratitude to my employees for the way they conducted themselves during the recent strike. When the strike went into effect I had thirty odd cars of coal in Lowell and in towns outside of Lowell, or in transit from the mines. These cars I was actually obliged to unload, or pay the railroad companies $1.00 per day on each car after two days. I had to employ help wherever I could get them, and my striking transfers and helpers never interfered with them or myself in any way.

I also intend to continue this Saturday half-holiday during May, June, July and August of next year. (Signed) JOHN P. PREVENTED TRAIN WRECK

Mr. J. R. Stratton Found Sleeper on Track in South Lowell and Removed it

Were it not for the prompt action of Mr. J. R. Stratton, manufacturer of the Stratton no-grit hand soap, 50 Adams street, a disastrous train accident might have occurred yesterday at South Lowell, owing to a serious obstruction on the track. Mr. Stratton is an old-time train man, having worked for more than 30 years on the Intercolonial railroad in Canada and in his long experience he saw many train accidents due to far less serious causes than that which he was instrumental in removing yesterday.

Mr. Stratton related the incident this morning to a representative of The Sun, as follows:

"Yesterday afternoon about 3.45, I was on business in South Lowell and was taking a short cut along the tracks. About 500 feet south of the station I was horrified to find a sleeper torn up and out of place. In it was embedded part of a brake rod about eight feet long and jointed. One arm of the section was across the track and the broken joint pointed directly north, thus giving a double chance for a serious accident. My first thought was to break the glass of the station door, go into the building and notify Lowell and the other nearby stations of the obstruction by telegraph, but I realized the danger of this. I then determined to remove it myself if possible, intending in the meantime to flag any train that might approach in either direction. After striving hard I succeeded in getting the sleeper back into place temporarily and removed the broken brake rod which had done all the damage. You can imagine how I felt when, not five minutes afterwards, a train headed south came from the direction of Lowell. Had the train come that way a short time before there is little doubt in my mind but that there would have been a serious accident."

HELD IN $1000

Man, Said to be Worth Millions, Charged With Using Mails to Defraud

PORTLAND, Me., July 23.—John J. McLaughlin, for whom an estate worth several millions is said to be held in trust in England, was arraigned before Judge Clarence Hale in the United States court today on an indictment returned four years ago charging use of the mails with intent to defraud. McLaughlin was held in the sum of $1000 for the September term. He was arrested in Washington recently and was brought to this city by Deputy Marshal Robinson when it was learned that he was wanted here on a more serious charge than that brought against him in Washington.

here late yesterday in which four persons were killed and fully half a hundred injured will begin tomorrow afternoon at Fable's undertaking where was held a part of the inquiry into the wreck of the Springfield express on the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad in October, 1912.

Today under orders from the coroner, a state policeman and deputy sheriff were serving subpoenas on a large number of persons whose testimony is desired at the inquest and directions were given to the hospital to hold there any of the victims who may be considered important witnesses. Harold Nadin of New York, motorist of the passenger car wrecked, who is at a hospital in New York suffering from a broken leg is under the eye of the police as a material witness.

ASKED TO BE LOCKED UP

EIGHT YOUNG MEN DRIVEN DESPERATE BY INABILITY TO PURCHASE HABIT-FORMING DRUGS

NEW YORK, July 23.—Driven desperate by their inability to purchase habit-forming drugs since July 1 when the new state laws prohibiting their sale became effective, eight young men applied to the police yesterday and today and asked to be locked up. Several of the voluntary prisoners declared that if they were not placed in confinement they feared they would either commit murder or suicide.

"Either give us the drug or lock us up until we are cured," snarled up their appeal. To meet the situation steps have been taken to open a hospital for the detention and treatment of the victims and others who may apply.

CARRANZA FOR LENIENCY

TO THE CONQUERED FEDERALS—STATEMENT MADE AT BANQUET IN VICTORIA

VICTORIA, Mexico, July 23.—(Via Laredo, Texas, July 23).—Gen. Carranza today advocated leniency to the conquered federals. This statement was made at a banquet tendered by Victoria citizens.

STOP FIRING GUNS IN HARBOR

HULL, July 23.—A recommendation that the firing of the large guns in Boston harbor be permanently discontinued will be made to the department by Col. C. J. Bailey of the Coast Artillery corps stationed at New York, according to a statement given out by Francis S. Bryant, president of the Old Beacon club last night. Colonel Bailey looked into the situation today. The trouble arose last week when several shots from Boston harbor forts landed in the town, during target practice.

DASTARDLY AUTO DRIVER

DASHED THROUGH CROWD OF CHILDREN, KILLING ONE—THEN FLED FROM POLICE

NEW YORK, July 23.—A high powered runabout carrying two men and one woman whizzed through Forty-first street, Brooklyn, from Eighth to Ninth avenues about 9 o'clock last evening. Innumerable children were playing in the street while their parents sat on the steps of the houses chatting and thinking to keep a watchful eye on the little ones. The automobile driver gave no heed to the little ones in the street. Traveling at a speed between fifty and sixty miles an hour the car struck a group of four little ones. One of the children was killed instantly. The three others, while having narrow escapes from death, received lacerations of the face and head.

STIMPSON TO BE RECALLED

St. Louis Americans Will Give Lowell Player Another Tryout

Will Go to "Big Show" at Conclusion of N. E. League Season

Earl Stimpson, the fast fielding and heavy hitting guard of Lowell left field, is practically certain to be recalled at the conclusion of the New England league season by the St. Louis Americans.

Stimpson deserves all the credit which has been given him for his splendid work in the Lowell outfield this season and for his timely hitting. He has played sensational ball for the local club without a break since the beginning of the 1914 season.

The left fielder of the Lowell team was given a berth in the outfield of the team picked from the league by The Sun and his name was generally agreed upon by the writers around the league.

Stimpson is a right hand thrower but as the ball from the right hand side of the plate. He is fast on the bases and covers a great deal of territory in the outfield. He has a good arm as well and has nipped many ambitious base runners at the plate this season.

BEATEN AT WORCESTER

Lowell Lost 4-2 Contest With Lohman in the Box—Sunny Outfield Partly Responsible

(Special to The Sun)

WORCESTER, July 23.—Old Sox rays added the Climbers a lot in their 4 to 2 victory over Lowell yesterday afternoon. Lohman had a handy curve ball, but at times which were critical seemed to rely on his fast one. Then, when, groove and extra bases. Manager Gray shifted his line-up, sending Weaver to right and putting the "Babe" in center, but it was a little too late. Incidentally Carroll got a lucky three bagger right at the start of the game, which developed into a run through Stimpson's inability to save the sun.

Pottenger, a former Lowell player, turned in the most spectacular catch of the game when he went clear over to right center and, diving, grabbed Burke's liner. The fleet Worcester fielder's momentum carried him fully ten feet, then, trying to regain his feet, he fell again, but still held the ball.

Van Dyke used a wide, sweeping curve that bothered the visiting batsmen, particularly left-handers like De Groff, Sheehan, who made his debut in a Climber uniform, via the Lohman way, to which they claim Burke likes to go but can't, kicked in with two errors, both of them throws. One was high and wild, and the other was low. However, this time they didn't cost anything. "Stuffy" Carroll was throwing to bases with his old time snap. There is a possibility that Carroll thinks he's been in this league too long.

Shorty Dee hit to Jimmy Cooney and was easily out at first in the opening inning. Babe DeGroff, always easy for left-hand pitchers went out on strikes. Greenhalge, a catcher, who is covering second for Lowell, died to Matthews in left. Then Worcester got away with a spurt. Carroll and DeGroff got their triple. Shorten tripled. Strands went out. Dee to Kelley. "Shorty" holding "Chick" on third. Pottenger popped a fly to Greenhalge. Greenhalge also threw Rues out at first.

Lowell scored in the second. Stimpson, first man up, got a life on a low throw by Sheehan. Then Weaver came through with a single. Burke was retired. Kelley died to Shorten, the latter's throw to the plate being high. Weaver walked and Lohman popped to Sheehan. In Worcester's half, Matthews went out. Dee to Kelley. Sheehan hit to the pitcher and was out at first. Van Dyke popped to Dee.

Neither team scored in the third. Lowell also was easy before Van Dyke's exceptional south-paw slants in the next inning. The Climbers, however, came back strong. Pottenger led off with a double, the sun helping "Polly" crossing the pan. Cooney singled through short. Sheehan went out on a sacrifice. Jimmy Cooney sprinting all the way to the plate. Van out.

Lowell failed to score in the fifth. Jimmy Cooney threw out "Rube" De Groff at first. Greenhalge singled sharply to right and stole second. Stimpson hit to Strands and was out at first. Then Benny Van Dyke uncorked a wild pitch. Greenhalge moving to third. Benny stoned, however, by Lanning Weaver. After Carroll had been thrown out at first, Lohman to Kelley. Shorten walked. Then Strands came through with his usual hit, and before the inning was over, even Manager Gray was glad to admit that only one Climber had crossed the plate.

Although Lowell picked Van Dyke for a single in the sixth, Kelley, who hit safely, didn't score as Burke, who preceded him had been thrown out at first. Cooney to Rues, then Weaver hit to Shorten, and Lohman fanned. Jimmy Cooney singled through Greenhalge in the Climbers' half of the inning, and Sheehan sacrificed, being out at first, Lohman to Kelley. Van Dyke popped to Greenhalge and Carroll drove a long fly, which Weaver, who had taken DeGroff's place in right, captured.

Lowell got a lucky run in the seventh. Dee went out. Rues to Van Dyke. It was plainly apparent to everyone that the first baseman should have made the play himself. De Groff few out to Harry Cooney. Greenhalge doubled to right, the ball going close to the fence. Stimpson hit toward De Groff, now playing center, and Pottenger lining to Stimpson.

Through an error of Sheehan's, the hopes of the Grays were raised slightly in the eighth when Burke got on. However, Kelley forced him at second. Strands to Cooney. It was hard hit ball and a beautiful play on the part of Strands. Then Strands ran all the way into the play and took Weaver's fly. Lohman hit weakly to Van Dyke and went out at first. Dee to Kelley. "Shorty" Dee in the Climbers' half. Matthews with two and two on him, singled through short and third, the ball going straight into the outfield. Jimmy Cooney forced him at second. De Groff, the assist, Van Dyke was thrown out at first by Lohman.

Dee hit sharply toward right, but Jimmy Cooney knocked the ball down and threw him out at first in the ninth. "Babe" DeGroff went out. Rues to Van Dyke. Greenhalge lifted a high fly to Pottenger.

The score:

BUNTING GAMES

Large Entry List for the Various Events to be Run Off Saturday

The Bunting club is well pleased with its entry list for the next Saturday. There seems to be much more interest aroused among the local athletes over this set of games than the last events run off by the club. It is expected that the ten mile run will prove the stellar attraction for several reasons. First, it is a new event. Such men as Madden, Kyrone, Jennings, Liddle, Fowler, Ricott and Horne ought to make a good race of it. The handicap races have a long list of entries and should prove very interesting.

Here's a Hunch:

FIRST thing you do next get a tidy red tin of Prince Albert and jam it into a jimmy pipe or roll a makin's cigarette. Either will make peace with your tongue before the first inning's over. For you never smoked the likes of P. A.—tobacco made by an exclusive patented process that takes out the bite and the parch.

PRINCE ALBERT

the national joy smoke

No matter what you pay for your pipe or cigarette makin's tobacco, you'll never stay put till you get acquainted with "the national joy smoke."

Such flavor, such aroma, such freshness! Why, just to write about it or talk about it puts that "lead me to it" spirit right into your system.

You join the P. A. band and find out for yourself why Prince Albert is the national joy smoke.

You'll find P. A. awaiting your call at all stores that sell tobacco. Tippy red bags, 5c; tidy red tins, 10c; also handsome pound and half-pound humidor.

R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO CO., Winston-Salem, N. C.

Interesting. Over fifty names have been listed on the program for the various events.

Tabor's Sixth Regiment band will furnish music during the afternoon and this fact will probably be conducive of better sport. The Bay State street railway expects to handle the crowd without difficulty.

ATHLETES AND ATHLETICS

Frank McPherson, the local athlete, played second base for the Haverhill team yesterday and acquitted himself in good style. McPherson started off the season with Lynn but later went to the New York-New Jersey league from which he only recently returned.

Lowell played good ball yesterday, even though they did not win. They defeated Greenhalge and Weaver did not put up with glib edged performances at their new positions but this must be expected. Both of them may turn out O. K. and the personnel of the team remain unchanged.

You can bet that old Jesse Burkett will hang on to his Worcester club in spite of rumors to the effect that he is trying to grab the Lynn franchise. Jesse may not be popular down his way but the fans turn out to his ball park just the same and he should worry about his popularity as long as the shekels keep piling up at the box office.

It's a great race between Lawrence and Worcester. Both of these clubs are rapidly pulling away from the field and will soon be out in front by a big margin if they keep up their sensational playing of the past two weeks. Lawrence picked up another half game lead yesterday when they took both ends of a double bill from Pittsburg.

The Colonial league is attracting the attention of the big league scouts. Jacobson, an outfielder with the Greenon club, is wanted by several teams in the big circuits. He is a wonderful fielder and has slammed the ball hard this season. Jacobson is only a youngster and gives great promise of becoming a star.

Joe Egan and Johnny Glaver fought a draw last night in their Halifax encounter. The fight went 15 rounds before a crowd of 1000 and proved the best show staged there this year.

Kraft signalled his return to the Newark club after his case had nearly precipitated a baseball war by walking.

The Red Sox leaped into second place yesterday through their winning both games from Branch Rickey's St. Louis aggregation. The Red Sox are already planning their vacations for the world series period. However, Connie Mack is still out in front and will have to be humbled before long if the Red Sox or any club is to have a look-in for the post season money.

Hal Chase is once more back in the lineup of the Buffalo Bisons and the club seemed to receive a big hit yesterday from this fact. Kansas City went down before Hal and his club-mates by a 6-3 score.

With the lifting of the injunction against Chase, the outlaws and organized stand-off have been asked to decide. It is still an open question as to whether the Bisons will last another season or die a natural death this fall.

The big outdoor championship meet which the Irish-Americans are holding in Boston Saturday has attracted the crowd of New England's athletes. It is expected that several very fast events will be pulled off at the Locust street grounds. Olympic, National, Intercollegiate and New England champions are entered.

The first day's racing at the Westfield meeting of the Short Slip circuit developed some very good stepping yesterday, and it is expected that Saturday's card will prove even better. Worcester horsemen took off the majority of the events.

George Mehan, the Boston swimmer who set up a new record in the New York Tribune's 25 mile swim last Sunday, has not decided yet whether or not he will attempt the English channel. Mehan is a wonderful swimmer and is generally recognized.

REVIEW OF THE SEASON

Team Received Poor Start—New Candidates Proved Lemons—May Purchase Two Players

There is no gainsaying the fact that the local baseball team must undergo a huge change in the near future if the national sport is to prove a success in Lowell this season and the owners of the club realize this as well as the fans who have been discouraged after watching maneuvers of the local players during the past few games.

Team Received Poor Start

To begin with the Lowell team received a very poor start in its chase for another pennant. Manager Gray was forced to go out after new players for nearly every position and the unknown qualities of the new men kept the club in a quandary for the first few weeks.

Then after the wedding out process had been gotten over several of those upon whom Gray had banked began to weaken and play inferior ball. Out of the three outfielders who started off the season only one now remains. Stimpson, however, is one of the best center gardeners in the league and there is little or no chance of his being proving a lemon before the close of the season.

In fact Stimpson's work has greatly pleased Branch Rickey, the St. Louis Cardinals manager, to which club Stimpson still belongs. A few days ago the Lowell left fielder received a long letter from Rickey which stated that he would be recalled at the close of the New England league season and given another tryout with fast company.

Mathewson and Pottenger, the other two outfielders who began the season with the local club, are gone long since. Mathewson was a rank failure, his only recommendation being his relationship with the famous "Big Six." There are many who think that the local team made a mistake, however, when they released Pottenger. Totty was not hitting for Lowell for he was physically unfit to put on a uniform since joining Burkett's club. He played a fine game in centerfield.

Pete Woods lost several games for Lowell while Manager Gray was trying to steady him down and make him into a big league prospect. But once more brotherhood proved no criterion by which to size up a ball player and as the fastest long distance man in the world but the channel swim is as much a matter of endurance as it is of speed.

Etawah, the blind coil, was driven through by Ed Geers to a new world's record for four-year-olds yesterday in the Cleveland races. The coil negotiated the mile in 2:01. The former record was 2:05 1/2 held by Directum, which has stood for over 20 years.

Pete was cast adrift. Wood's release came as a matter of course.

Eddie Carr began the season at the hot corner with Dee at short and Burke at second but his inexperience soon told and he also was soon a free agent to go whither he pleased. Right from the beginning Manager Gray has been holding a long hard row and, although he has made what seem to be a couple of bad moves with his release checks, that the make Gray has done pretty well considering what material he started out with.

What to Do Now?

But the question is now before us—what are we going to do now to bring home the heavy end of the scores? There's a big hole at second base which Greenhalge is being groomed to fill. Can he do it? If he can't what's the answer? It is late in the season now for many promising ball players to be looking around for a job. And out in center field is another vacancy. "Rube" Weaver is trying to convince himself that he is an outfielder but is he? He certainly isn't right now. Weaver is a good stinker, of course, and a timely blither but we can't have simply a better out there in center field. If Weaver can acquire a sure grip on balls in front of him and still continue his hitting the fans will be satisfied.

Captain "Bill" Burke has also taken an appreciable slump lately. Burke is a sweet fielder and usually a good man with the stick in the clubhouse but lately his effectiveness in both departments has fallen off. If Burke's playing should go into a decline the Lowell club would need tail lights for a sudden drop to the bottom would be almost inevitable for the Lowell captain has been a big factor in keeping the team up in his present position. We hope, therefore, that it is only a temporary decline.

May Purchase Two Players

If Greenhalge does not fit in as an infielder and if Weaver shows no class in the outfield the Lowell owners will be forced to get a kind of a brace of new men. And the only way in which players of worth can be gotten at this time of the season is by purchase. Therefore, we will take the liberty of prophesying two purchases providing that Greenhalge and Weaver prove misfits.

MME. GUEYDON TESTIFIES AT PARIS MURDER TRIAL

First Wife of Caillaux Attacks Mme. Caillaux, Accused of Murder of Editor Calmette — Says Caillaux Told Her He Intended to Kill Her

PARIS, July 23.—Judge Louis Albanel's court in the palace of justice, where Madame Caillaux, wife of the former premier, is undergoing trial for the murder on March 18 of Gaston Calmette, editor of the Figaro, was crowded when the fourth hearing started today. Many of the people had come with the desire to obtain an opportunity of seeing Joseph Caillaux confronted, according to the practice of the French courts, with former Premier Barthou, who had been subpoenaed as a witness.

The testimony was to be concluded today with the evidence of M. Barthou and of Mme. Gueydon, the first wife of M. Caillaux, but before they were due to come to the stand half a dozen other witnesses of lesser importance were to testify.

The arguments of the prosecution and of Fernand Labori, counsel for the defense, would, it was announced, probably begin late in the day.

Mme. Caillaux III

Mme. Caillaux took her place in the prisoners' enclosure punctually at noon. She carried in her right hand a little vial of smelling salts and a notebook.

Ten minutes afterward the red robed judges filed into court and an expectant hush fell over the crowded masses in the court-room.

Joseph Caillaux and his friend, Pascal Piccard, had visited the prisoner in the cage before the hearing began. They found that the long strain was beginning to tell on her and that she felt exhausted and ill, but she showed strong determination to face her ordeal with calmness.

The testimony of the first three witnesses today concerned the two private letters which the defense seeks to show Gaston Calmette intended to publish. Gaston Dreyfus, a banker and friend of the murdered editor, explained in his testimony that the scientist Paul Painleve, who had yesterday testified that M. Dreyfus had told him the Figaro was going to publish a number of private letters must have misunderstood him. He had referred to the Victor Fabre report on the Lorraine scandal affair and not to private letters about which he knew nothing.

An official of the treasury department, Andre Bessier, testified to being present during a conversation of a group of journalists in the lobby of the chamber of deputies when it was stated that letters shortly would be published.

Francois Desclaux, chief private secretary of M. Caillaux, when he was minister of finances, declared that Andre Verrossi, editor of the Paris Journal, came to him and told him Mme. Gueydon had proposed to him to publish two letters which she predicted. He had, he said, informed M. Caillaux of this and he exclaimed: "But those are letters which were stolen from me. I hope no newspaperman can be found to publish them."

The rapid succession of witnesses was interrupted by the confrontation of Gaston Dreyfus and Paul Painleve, both of whom maintained the accuracy of their depositions with considerable heat.

And much murmuring among the public, Judge Albanel ended the incident by saying the jurors must be left to decide for themselves as to the accuracy of the evidence.

"Many Lies Told"

Mme. Gueydon, a slender woman of medium height, came into court dressed simply in black. She looked to be 35 or 36 years old. Her face was drawn in tragic lines. She seemed ill but walked with calm dignity past her former husband standing in front of the judge and the jury.

"The witness asked if she might refer to her notes, but the request was refused by the judge."

"There have been so many lies told," said Mme. Gueydon, "that my notes are absolutely necessary, if only to fix dates. Was not M. Caillaux allowed to read from papers? I am confronted with a mountain of lies which I must climb and break to pieces one by one. I am alone. I have no husband to defend me."

In saying this she cast a long glance at Mme. Caillaux, who, however, did not look at her.

"You are not here to accuse," interposed Maitre Labori. "You will find nothing but courtesy and deference for yourself personally if your role is simply that of a witness. But if you come here to accuse, then you will find me in front of you as a defender of my client."

Mme. Gueydon: "If you have spoken of me to M. Caillaux he will have told you that, at least, I have courage."

Another Challenge

This was spoken in a challenging tone and called forth many "bravo's" from the spectators, whose sympathy she seemed to have from the moment she entered the courtroom.

Judge Albanel rapped on his desk. Then Mme. Gueydon continued: "I am pained to see that the person who drew the indictment has gathered together the filth. All the filth has gone to the intruder who defiled my home to take my place."

The judge himself addressed the witness, saying questionly, in order to give her a start:

"Disagreements arose in your home?"

Mme. Gueydon: "There were no disagreements. Our domestic life was tender. No one knows, not even you, Mr. President, about this affair."

Judge Albanel: "Nevertheless, you and your husband had a reconciliation over something and the letters were burned."

Mme. Gueydon: "The first letter which appeared—do you know who gave that to me? M. Caillaux. He did it at the ministry of finances in 1905."

"I had never suspected that my husband had a mistress. I first knew it when he threw himself at my knees and asked my pardon. He humbled himself and I pardoned him, but the day after he returned to this person. I did not cease to believe his lying talk. I believed that the evil surrounding my home had gone, for I thought I saw the bottom of his heart in his tears."

"I did not know at all the person in question. To show you my loyalty to my husband, he confided to me a traveling satchel full, he said, of important papers. I never opened it. I did not know until a long time afterward that it contained correspondence between him and Mme. Raymond, now Mme. Caillaux."

The witness's voice sank into indistinctness and she stood silent a moment before continuing her testimony, and then she said only:

"I do not know what I can say—what I ought to say."

Mme. Gueydon again stood silent until Judge Albanel requested her to continue and to speak louder. She said:

"My husband became irritable and I was nervous. One day he said to me: 'Do you know I came to your bedside last night to kill you?' After that I felt I ought to leave. I went to Versailles and wrote to him. I thought he would follow and bring me home. But no. He went to the department of the Sarthe and I returned to Paris but he did not, and you know why."

"Well, I came back home and I noticed his desk half open. There were in it two letters from a woman. They had been fabricated by him and Mme. Raymond to make me believe there was no intimacy between them."

Joseph Caillaux, the witness' former husband, during her testimony changed his seat four times, getting nearer to her so that he was better able to hear, until finally he was within four or five feet of her. Mme. Gueydon did not notice M. Caillaux, whose fingers were twitching and whose hands were incessantly opening and shutting. The witness meanwhile entered into many details of small happenings preceding her divorce.

"I had an impression that he was afraid," Maitre Labori inquired if Mme. Gueydon had not signed an agreement to burn all the correspondence after her divorce.

Mme. Gueydon:

"I had to do something against the Machivellian maneuvers of an unfaithful husband. He asked me to give my word of honor. I did not do it nor did I ask his word of honor because I knew he had no honor."

Maitre Labori: "Did not M. Caillaux pay you $3000 regularly, yearly?"

Mme. Gueydon: "Not regularly. You speak of something you know nothing about."

The court at this point took a recess and when the session was resumed Mme. Gueydon again took the stand.

In answering Maitre Labori's early question, the witness said:

"There was no agreement. Only his applications. You are trying to make me responsible for the crime. You see, extenuating circumstances. All that has been said by the accused is false and all that M. Caillaux has said is false," he cried passionately.

ALLIGATORS HALT BATHERS

SAYVILLE, L. I., July 23.—Bathing in the fresh water of Lake Ronkonkoma isn't popular any more. Two five-foot alligators fresh from Florida are in the lake.

They escaped from captivity Tuesday from their enclosure on the place of Mr. Hart. Two or three persons saw them break, but not being wise in the ways of "gators" made no effort to stop them, and before you could say Jack Robinson these two citizens of Florida had hidden themselves as safe as fish in a sea.

People about Lake Ronkonkoma don't know how hungry Mr. Hart's alligators are or how their appetites will be cared for in the lake. So until official news comes of the capture, it that happens at all, they aren't taking chances by even going near the shores of Lake Ronkonkoma.

PRIEST SAVES DROWNING DOY

FREEMONT, L. I., July 23.—Father Theodore J. King, rector of St. Boniface Roman Catholic church at Bellmore, L. I., dived from a pier at High Hill beach yesterday afternoon into 20 feet of water and rescued four-year-old William Baring from drowning.

The pier was crowded with 250 persons who were pressing forward to board an excursion steamer. The boy was pushed over the edge. There was a scream for help from the child's mother, and Father King worked his way out of the crowd.

The boy has gone down for the third time when Father King dived. The priest's first attempt to reach the child was unsuccessful, but he brought the boy up after the second dive. Father King was formerly connected with St. John's college in Brooklyn.

YOUNG BRIDE DESERTED

HUSBAND WHO ELOPED WITH HER IS SAID TO HAVE DISAPPEARED

MACON, Ga., July 23.—The Rev. Dr. W. L. Pickard, president of Mercer university, whose daughter Florence eloped last Saturday with Everett Harrison of Halifax, Nova Scotia, received word yesterday from Mrs. Pickard that she had left home in Savannah and was on her way to New York in response to a message from their daughter saying that her husband had disappeared and that she had been deserted in a New York hotel.

Karl Gustave Karsten, son of a former president of the University of Illinois, to whom Mrs. Pickard was to have been married on July 23, and whom she fitted to marry Harrison, an old suitor, arrived in Savannah yesterday and learned from Mrs. Pickard what had happened. Dr. Pickard, who expressed deep regret at his daughter's elopement, says he is entirely in the dark as to where his daughter is or what the trouble is all about.

TWO AUTOS COLLIDED

OVERLAND CAR BACKED INTO DELIVERY TRUCK OF CAMERON BROTHERS

An Overland touring car bearing the registration number 12221, Rhode Island, backed into a delivery car owned by Cameron Bros. confectionery dealers, at the corner of Central and Merrimack streets, shortly before noon today. The accident happened directly in front of Chaffoux's department store.

The touring car was stalled on the crossing and, despite the efforts of the driver, it could not be made to move forward. But it backed readily and as a result crashed into the other machine which was stopped in the rear.

Luckily, the driver of the touring car applied the brakes as soon as the cars met and thus averted serious damage to both machines. The delivery car is minus a bolt as a result of the contact, while the back of the touring car was slightly scratched. The toll received seemed to be the proper remedy for the balking of the Overland and it proceeded on its way.

NEW BRITANNIC, SISTER SHIP OF TITANIC,

TEN TIMES BIGGER THAN ITS OLD NAMESAKE

NEW and OLD BRITANNIC

The new White Star liner Britannic, which was launched last February at Belfast, Ireland, is being fast put into shape for service. She is a sister ship of the ill-fated Titanic. When the latter ship sank in mid-ocean the keel of the Britannic had been laid. The plans were immediately changed so that the new liner would be as nearly unsinkable as possible. She will have accommodations for 2500 passengers and carry a crew of 950 hands all told. One of the most important innovations in the Britannic will be the newly patented boat lowering gear. On her bridge decks there are six pairs of huge steel derricks to lower the motor lifeboats and other lifesaving craft in time of danger. These derricks are to be driven in independent dynamos on the bridge deck and are capable of raising a lifeboat from the starboard side and swinging it clear over to the port side without any difficulty. This gear is the latest improvement and insures the launching of the boats even if the ship were listed heavily. The Empress of Ireland disaster in the St. Lawrence taught that lesson. The Britannic has reinforced bulkheads, dividing the ship into 15 water tight compartments, which are carried up to the bridge deck, nearly 60 feet above the water line. With a double bottom and double sides the builders contend that the flotation of the new liner is well protected. The first Britannic, which went out of commission in 1903, was less than one-tenth the tonnage of her successor, but she was a favorite vessel in the New York trade for nearly 30 years during which time she carried over 400,000 persons across the Atlantic and traveled fully 2,000,000 miles. The picture shows the comparative size of the new and old ships.

DIST. ATTY. MARTIN GETTING EVIDENCE TO BRING CRIMINAL ACTION AGAINST ROAD

NEW YORK, July 23.—District Attorney Martin of Bronx county announced today that he has agents in Washington getting evidence on which he will bring criminal action against the New Haven road in connection with the Westchester railroad deal.

"It makes no difference," said Mr. Martin, "what the department of justice does with its cases. I shall go ahead with indictments proceedings unless it seems to be in the interests of the people to allow the federal authorities to bring the prosecution in their own way."

KILLS HIMSELF AND CHILDREN

GLENWOOD SPRINGS, Col., July 23.—Maddened by drugs and desperate because he had been sued for divorce, Dr. Thomas L. Hutchinson, 43 years old, attempted to kill his wife yesterday at the Hotel Glenwood. Fifteen minutes later he went to his office, where he shot and killed his two daughters, Fay and Lois, aged 10 and 12 years, respectively, and then committed suicide by sending a bullet into his right temple.

Two weeks ago Hutchinson assaulted his wife and threatened to kill her, their daughters and himself. Mrs. Hutchinson and the girls then fled and sought safety with friends.

DECLINE TO COMMENT

NEW HAVEN, July 23.—Although directors of the New Haven road resident here declined today to comment upon the entry of the suit, it was learned that the expectation is that the case will go to the supreme court of the United States upon an agreed statement of facts, to have determined certain constitutional questions involved.

RESTORATION OF PEACE OR ARMED INTERVENTION

United States Issues Ultimatum
to Haiti and San Domingo—
Fighting—Many Killed

WASHINGTON, July 23.—Possibility of American intervention in Haiti and San Domingo to restore peace continued today to be the topic of discussion in administration circles. Late official dispatches regarding the situation in the revolutionary torn republics gave but little hope that the contending elements in the two countries would be able to restore order.

Under European pressure the American government's patience practically has been exhausted with the various elements in Haiti and San Domingo, and it will demand a restoration of peace or threaten armed intervention. The gravity of the situation was increased by the refusal of the warring factions to cease fighting, despite the American government's warnings and failure to settle the Dominican revolution by diplomacy.

The question of a possible movement of marines into Haiti was up for discussion at today's conference between Secretaries Bryan and Daniels. With the 400 marines who are to sail from Norfolk, Va., for Guantanamo on Saturday the number of marines now there or on American warships in Haitian and Dominican waters would be increased to more than 900. If necessary, reinforcements would be drawn from the nearly 400 marines now in Vera Cruz and Mexican waters.

Captain Eberle of the cruiser Washington to Puerto Plata, San Domingo, in a despatch to the navy department early today reported that the lighthouse there has been damaged by rifle firing between the revolutionary factions.

MANY REBELS KILLED IN FIERCE BATTLE IN STREETS AT CAPE HAITIEN

WASHINGTON, July 23.—Many Haitian rebels were summarily executed at Cape Haitien yesterday after the government forces had won a fierce two-hour battle in the streets with 500 revolutionists, who had gained entrance into the town early in the morning before the garrison was awake.

Captain Russell of the battleship South Carolina reported the affair to the navy department. His despatch said the government troops, numbering 400, repulsed the attack with a loss of eight men killed. The rebels, after losing 21 killed, fled in disorder. Many sought refuge in houses from which they were dragged later for execution.

Sec. Bryan will confer today with Sec. Daniels about a possible movement of marines into Haiti. Already large discretionary orders have been given Capt. Russell, but final decision as to whether force is to be used by the American government has been deferred.

DEATH BY POISONING

LEONISTER CASE BEING INVESTIGATED—DRUGGIST SAYS LANE GOT WRONG MIXTURE

LEONISTER, July 23.—Medical Examiner Thompson of Fitchburg was in conference with the police this afternoon regarding the death of Ralph W. Lane by poisoning and the serious illness of Miss Isabel Woodward and Miss Emma Cloutier from the same cause. When the medical examiner examined the body of Lane Tuesday night he declared that the young man evidently died from something more fatal than potassium poisoning and has since been working on that theory in conjunction with an investigation by the police.

It was learned that the young people drank a wine concoction in mistake for sherry. It is declared that after they had gathered at the Woodward home, where the luncheon took place last Saturday night, Lane went downtown and at a certain drug store obtained the drink.

The claim of the druggist is that Lane, who is accustomed to visit the store, helped himself to the concoction while the proprietor was in the basement repairing a soda-fountain tank and that the druggist did not discover the mistake Lane had made until he learned from one of the party at the Woodward house that Lane had visited the pharmacy.

TO DESTROY CAPITAL
DURAZZO, Albania, July 23.—A note threatening to destroy the capital of Albania unless Prince William of Wied tendered the abdication of the rulership was handed today by the Mussulman insurgents to the representatives of the European powers here.

The insurgents added that in case the warships fired at them they would spare neither the European nor the other inhabitants of the city.

Fighting Continues Between the Strikers, Police and Cossacks
in Russia

ST. PETERSBURG, July 23.—At least five striking workmen were killed and eight seriously wounded during the fighting in the streets of St. Petersburg between the strikers and police and Cossacks, which continued throughout the night until dawn this morning. Three police officers also are known to have been severely injured.

These figures are official, but it is generally understood that the casualties among the strikers were much heavier.

Official returns show a total of 130,000 strikers in the city itself. Men carrying red flags spent the night marching and singing revolutionary songs. In the Viborg district they cut down the telegraph poles and upset a number of vans with which they constructed barricades across the streets and from the shelter of which they stoned the police and Cossacks. The mob is also accused of having fired some revolver shots. The strikers, however, eventually dispersed and the barricades were destroyed, but only after the police and soldiers had been subjected to hot attacks with volleys from their rifles in return.

Early today the strikers attempted to set fire to the Sampson bridge leading across the river to the Viborg district and they also tried to burn another bridge, but both were unsuccessful.

4 HORSES SUFFOCATED

FIRE WHICH DESTROYS BARN OF
GEO. S. ROWE IN NEWTON, N. H.

NEWTON, N. H., July 23.—Fire yesterday afternoon completely destroyed the large farm barn of State Representative George S. Rowe at Rowe's Corner, and endangered several other buildings. At one time four buildings were afire, but the flames were brought under control by the local fire department, aided by volunteers. One colt valued at $300 and three horses, a bull and other livestock were suffocated.

The fire spread to a hayfield nearby and consumed several tons of hay before it was extinguished by water from a nearby pond.

The loss is placed at $4000, partly covered by insurance.

THIS BRIDE WILL CROSS ATLANTIC IN POWER LIFEBOAT SAILED BY HUSBAND

MOTOR LIFE BOAT WHICH WILL CROSS ATLANTIC—MRS. EINAR SIVARD—

A trip across the Atlantic in a 36-foot power lifeboat is not a journey that many honeymoon couples would enjoy. In fact, Einar Sivard, a New York naval architect, and his young wife, Signe Holm Sivard, will be the first ones to attempt it. They expect to sail from the Battery July 25 and go by way of Boston and Halifax to St. John and cross the ocean from that point to Queenstown. The Sivards were married recently. In order that the young wife may accompany her husband on the trip she will muster in as cook. The crew will include a navigator, a wireless operator, an engineer and one sailor. They expect to make the trip in about a month unless the weather proves too unfavorable. The lifeboat is asserted to be non-capable, non-mashable and practically nonsinkable. The boat is expected to weather any sea. Sivard says the only danger is in being run down by an ocean liner. While the lifeboat was constructed especially for this trip, she differs only in size from power lifeboats of the same type designed for actual use on ocean liners. She has a length of 36 feet and a beam of 12 feet, while the largest similar craft previously built is 30 feet long and 10 feet wide. Her upper structure is fitted with a tiny cabin for the captain and his wife and sleeping quarters for the crew. The craft is built of galvanized steel, with a water tight deck about six inches above the load water line. The space between this deck and the bottom is subdivided into numerous water tight compartments, several of which may become filled with water without in the least endangering the boat. It is equipped with a 22-horsepower four cylinder engine and gasoline tanks that will enable it to remain at sea for many days. It has also a Marconi wireless apparatus with a radius of from 50 to 100 miles.
